IBM Typewriter Division to Be Separate Unit

Electric Machine Is In Demand

Local Plant Will Manufacture Bulk

A rapidly increasing demand for the IBM electric typewriter holds important promise for the local plant where all "domestic typewriter assembly" will take place, it was indicated today.

This growth, expected to exceed 50 per cent of the industry's output within five years, was noted in an announcement by the IBM Corp., revealing that it "is reorganizing its electric typewriter division as a completely autonomous operation with an administrative structure separate from the other divisions of the company."

THOMAS J. WATSON, JR., IBM president, announced the change at a luncheon of IBM directors, officers and executives in the Metropolitan Club, New York.

The new plan becomes effective immediately, and it was noted that the Kingston plant, which now has a pilot assembly line in operation, is due for completion early in 1956. It embodies a number of highly advanced automatic processing and assembly devices.

Watson also announced that H. Wisner Miller, Jr., sales manager of the electric typewriter division since 1947, will be general manager of the newly constituted division.

MILLER WILL HAVE complete supervision of development engineering, manufacturing and sales and service activities.

Henry W. Reis, Jr., assistant sales manager, has been promoted to sales manager, and Robert H. Rettew, administrative assistant to the IBM con-

Edelmuth Hits 'Party Rule'

Counts on Women, Youth in Campaign

"One party rule," said William F. Edelmuth, Democratic candidate for mayor, "is coming to an abrupt end in our city."

Speaking at the regular monthly meeting of the Ulster County Democratic Women's Club in the Governor Clinton Hotel, former mayor Edelmuth pointed out that "with the combination of dedicated youth, the active interest of the women and with the leadership of experienced administrators our party will be successful in returning government to the people of the City of Kingston."

EDELMUTH, WHO served as mayor from 1942-47, said he was proud that the Democratic party had nominated two women for aldermanic posts in the city. He said, "the candidacy of Mrs. Florence Crosby and Mrs. Jean Ball in the Second and First Wards point out the growing interest of women in thier government." He added, "they add not only charm but a freshness that is matched by our other dedicated young candidates."

Mhs. William A. Kelly, program chairman of the Democratic women, introduced William T. Mahoney, Democratic city chairman who in turn introduced the county and city candidates.

Mahoney's introduction of Harry A. Flowers, Jr., Democratic candidate for alderman-at-large demonstrated that Harry was part of the surging movement of independents joining the ranks of the Democratic party. "Harry is bringing into the campaign the prevalant attitude of our younger citizens," said Mr. Mahoney.

Mr. Bohan asked that posts with additional membership cards bring them to the county meeting at 8 p. m. today at Kingston Post 150 on West O'Reilly street.

HE ANNOUNCED that Lloyd Post 193 had won the Conrad J. Heiselman gold cup, presented each year by Mr. Heiselman, former mayor of the city of Kingston, past county commander and past commander of Kingston Post 150. The cup, presented annually to the post enrolling the highest percentage of membership to their quota, will be awarded by Mr. Heiselman tonight.

Mr. Bohan complimented individual posts for the "good job" they have done on membership, "especially those posts who

Austin Tucker Is Saved, Search On For Tug Captain

Austin Tucker, 64, of 35 Shufeldt street, was among the four crewmen rescued last night from a tugboat that sank in the Arthur Kill, a narrow strait between Staten Island and New Jersey, when its barge tow piled over the stern, according to The Associated Press.

Police and Coast Guard were still searching the area where the sinking occurred today, attempting to find the missing captain of the vessel, according to The Associated Press.

THE SINKING occurred about 9:30 p. m., last night. The tug had slowed to make a turn just south of the Goethals bridge when it was struck by the barge loaded with 500 tons of molasses.

The sunken tug, the F. A. Churchman, and the barge, the Ben Ticknor, are owned by the Conners Standard Marine Co., of Manhattan.

Lions Hear Of Phone Evolution

Greater Advances On Way for Users

The amazing development of the telephone since its discovery by Alexander Graham Bell 79 years ago—with even more wonderful things to come—was described at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Lions Club yesterday by Howard Davenport of Albany who for the past 38 years has been employed in the commercial department of the New York Telephone Company.

Mr. Davenport outlined briefly the major steps in evolution of the telephone since 1876, described an amazing new system of long distance dialing now being pioneered experimentally and concluded with a fantastic description of Bell Telephone Company laborities as a "Buck Rogers' dream," with many remarkable inventions now being tested.

IN THE FUTURE we may be able to say to a telephone, "I want to talk to San Francisco!" (listing the telephone number)—and the "bell at that residence will ring!"

Mr. Davenport said Bell was teaching at Boston University in 1871 and working in the evenings in his attic to perfect a device by means of which multiple messages might be sent at the same time over the electric telegraph, each message being sent as a different "tone." From this experimentation arose the first telephone.

A FEW YEARS LATER Bell and his sidekick, Watson, built a telephone they thought was ready for commercial use and set it up at the Philadelphia Exposition where it attracted very little attention although Don Pedro, emperor of Brazil, after a conversation over the crude instrument, remarked, "Ye gods, it talks!"

So, Bell and Watson took to the lecture platform with considerable success and by 1880 a number of experimental lines had been erected around the city of Boston.

APPROXIMATELY 31,000 telephones had been installed a few years later, compared to 52,000,000 in the United States today. Of course, the telephone of that time had none of the clearness or naturalness in reproducing the voice that the modern telephone has, Mr. Davenport pointed out.

In 1895 a "fine telephone" was introduced with a removable receiver—a type which persisted until very recently. In 1927 we could talk to London and in 1935 around the world, he said.

Recovery Report Is Promising

Friends Advise Against Running

Denver, Sept. 28 (AP)—President Eisenhower's doctors reported this morning that the Chief Executive had a second comfortable night's sleep with satisfactory progress toward recovery.

A 7 a. m. (MST) medical bulletin from Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, White House physician, and Col. Bryon E. Pollock, chief of heart services at Fitzsimons Army Hospital, said:

"FOR THE SECOND consecutive night the President slept comfortably throughout the night. He went to sleep last night at 8:30 o'clock and awoke refreshed at 6:30 o'clock this morning.

"His progress continues to be satisfactory without complications."

In Washington, reports such as this were the basis of confidence within the Eisenhower team that the President will be able to take over the helm of government within 30 days. In the interval, Eisenhower's top aides reportedly were ready to carry on business as usual on the basis of policy decisions the Chief Executive had laid down before Saturday's attack.

Even so, the medical experts attending the President at Fitzsimons still cautiously avoided outright predictions that recovery is absolutely certain and that no complications now need be expected.

THE FIRST 10 days or two weeks are the critical time in heart attacks such as the one Eisenhower suffered last Saturday.

Last night's medical communique, reporting that the President had had "another satisfactory day" devoid of complication brought word from heart specialist Paul Dudley White in Boston that while Eisenhower was "coming along nicely" he still was "not out of the woods yet."

The Boston physician, who flew here Sunday and left next day, said Eisenhower's progress was in the expected pattern—neither faster nor slower than normal.

Nevertheless, tension over the Chief Executive's illness continued to ease a bit here. Hopes brightened somewhat for the President's recovery before any

Woman Gives Up Marcus Boy to Priest, Confesses Stealing Baby Nine Days Ago

Stockton, Calif., Sept. 28 (AP)—A grief-stricken woman who kidnaped a baby because she deceived her husband with a story of motherhood surrendered 11-day-old Robert Marcus to a Catholic priest today.

Officers said she confessed stealing the baby from the nursery of a San Francisco hospital nine days ago.

Police Chief Jack O'Keefe said Mrs. Betty Benedicto, 27, of Stockton delivered the baby to the Rev. Allen McCoy at St. Mary's parish after telephoning Dr. Sanford Marcus, the infant's father in San Francisco and instructing him to meet her here.

The baby is in excellent condition and police said there is no question he is Robert Marcus.

Dr. Marcus, 34, grinning for the first time since his son was stolen, said, "we feel in our hearts he is ours. We are 99 per cent certain. But we will await footprint checks and blood tests."

Marcus and his grief-stricken wife, Hanna, 29, who has been in a state of near collapse since the kidnaping, made the 80-mile trip to Stockton in a San Francisco police car in 75 minutes.

Mrs. Benedicto, sobbing and near hysteria when taken to the Stockton police station, was booked on a technical holding charge. Chief O'Keefe said he understood San Francisco authorities would charge her with kidnaping.

Dr. Marcus, in appeals to the kidnaper for safe delivery of Robert, had promised he would not prosecute. Asked about that today, he said:

"I think the woman is a psychologically disturbed person.

"I myself have no further concern with the woman, other than to offer my thanks for the baby's return."

Chief O'Keefe quoted Mrs. Benedicto, wife of a prosperous publisher of a Filipino weekly newspaper, as saying she took the child because she had convinced friends, including her husband, she was pregnant.

The husband, Marcus Benedicto, 52, didn't know of the ruse, the chief said, and didn't become suspicious until last night. Then he went to police . . . almost at the moment his wife was telephoning Dr. Marcus, about 12:35 a. m. today.

O'Keefe said Mrs. Benedicto sobbed out this story:

She began gaining weight several months ago and people began teasing her about being pregnant. To stop the kidding, she said she was—and convinced her husband along with others.

When the approximate time came for a baby to arrive, she went to Los Angeles to visit her mother. Her mother put her on a diet. She lost several pounds and returned to Stockton. Her

Polio Inoculations in County To Be Resumed Early in Oct.

Inoculation of Kingston and Ulster county children against polio will be resumed early next month, it was announced today by Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, Ulster county health commissioner.

Approximately 4,500 children in Grades 1 through 4 are eligible to receive the Salk vaccine, Dr. Hargrave said.

The first clinic scheduled will be at Onteora Central School on October 10.

Dr. Hargrave said there was plenty of vaccine on hand and that schools could make arrangements for inoculations at their own convenience. "The clinics can be spaced at the convenience of the school, school physician and school nurse," he explained.

Dr. Hargrave said it was felt that most of this group of 4,500 children could be handled through school facilities and physician without too much need for voluntary help from other physicians in the community.

This final group of clinics will "wind up" the program for children in Grades 1 through 4, sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Snider Belts Home Run To Give Dodgers Lead

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Yankees and Dodgers were tied at 2-2 after two innings of the opening game of the World Series game today as Elston Howard hit a homer with one on base to tie the score. A sellout crowd of 68,000 saw Brooklyn score twice in the first half of the inning when Carl Furillo led off with a homer. Jackie Robinson scored the second Brooklyn run after a triple.

Furillo opened the second inning with a home run to put the Dodgers ahead. The ball struck the top of the low wall in front of the right field stands and bounced into the seats. Jackie Robinson lashed a triple into left center and scored the second Brooklyn run on Don Zimmer's Texas league single over second.

With one out in the Yankee half of the second, Joe Collins walked. Elston Howard, making his first World Series appearance lined a home run into the left field stands, scoring behind Collins to tie the score. Newcombe got the next two men on a fly and an infield grounder.

Duke Snider put Brooklyn ahead by 3 to 2 with a homer in the top half of the third inning.

Snider smashed a tremendous homer into the top deck of the right field stands to open the third inning and give Brooklyn the lead again. It was Snider's sixth World Series home run.

The Yanks tied it up once more in the same inning when Ford walked and moved around to score on Bauer's single and infield outs by McDougald and Noren.

A bright sun shone down on Yankee Stadium as the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers clashed in the opening game of a World Series before 68,000 spectators.

HEAVY SHOWERS last night and in the early morning left the stadium outfield a bit soft and the ground along the foul lines soggy, but the covered infield was in top condition.

Mickey Mantle, injured Yankee center fielder, was not in the starting lineup due to a pulled muscle in his right leg. He has appeared only as a pinch hitter since he injured his leg Sept. 16.

Irv Noren went to center field in his place with Elston Howard in left. Manager Casey Stengel also named veteran Phil Rizzuto,

Report Denied Saratoga Out As Big Racing Center in '56

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—"We are not going to abandon Saratoga in 1956," the president of the Greater New York Association said today.

"That is the only definite plan we have at the moment," said B. A. Tompkins, head of the GNYA, in comment to a story in the New York Mirror today that racing will be held in New York city next August in competition with the Saratoga track program.

"The move means the end of Saratoga as a big league racing center," the Mirror story said.

The paper said its information came from "an absolutely authorized source, with the understanding that the slightest hint can't be made how it was obtained and that the name be kept off all records."

"Except that I can say definitely that racing will be held at Saratoga next August nothing else has been formulated," said Tompkins.

"Everything is in a state of ferment," said Robert Kelley, director of the service bureau for the New York tracks. "No dates have been set for 1956 and nothing has crystallized. There are meetings every day

Woman Gives Up Marcus Boy to Priest, Confesses Stealing Baby Nine Days Ago

Stockton, Calif., Sept. 28 (AP)—A grief-stricken woman who kidnaped a baby because she deceived her husband with a story of motherhood surrendered 11-day-old Robert Marcus to a Catholic priest today.

Officers said she confessed stealing the baby from the nursery of a San Francisco hospital nine days ago.

Police Chief Jack O'Keefe said Mrs. Betty Benedicto, 27, of Stockton delivered the baby to the Rev. Allen McCoy at St. Mary's parish after telephoning Dr. Sanford Marcus, the infant's father in San Francisco and instructing him to meet her here.

The baby is in excellent condition and police said there is no question he is Robert Marcus.

Dr. Marcus, 34, grinning for the first time since his son was stolen, said, "we feel in our hearts he is ours. We are 99 per cent certain. But we will await footprint checks and blood tests."

Marcus and his grief-stricken wife, Hanna, 29, who has been in a state of near collapse since the kidnaping, made the 80-mile trip to Stockton in a San Francisco police car in 75 minutes.

Mrs. Benedicto, sobbing and near hysteria when taken to the Stockton police station, was booked on a technical holding charge. Chief O'Keefe said he understood San Francisco authorities would charge her with kidnaping.

Dr. Marcus, in appeals to the kidnaper for safe delivery of Robert, had promised he would not prosecute. Asked about that today, he said:

"I think the woman is a psychologically disturbed person.

"I myself have no further concern with the woman, other than to offer my thanks for the baby's return."

Chief O'Keefe quoted Mrs. Benedicto, wife of a prosperous publisher of a Filipino weekly newspaper, as saying she took the child because she had convinced friends, including her husband, she was pregnant.

The husband, Marcus Benedicto, 52, didn't know of the ruse, the chief said, and didn't become suspicious until last night. Then he went to police . . . almost at the moment his wife was telephoning Dr. Marcus, about 12:35 a. m. today.

O'Keefe said Mrs. Benedicto sobbed out this story:

She began gaining weight several months ago and people began teasing her about being pregnant. To stop the kidding, she said she was—and convinced her husband along with others.

When the approximate time came for a baby to arrive, she went to Los Angeles to visit her mother. Her mother put her on a diet. She lost several pounds and returned to Stockton. Her

Polio Inoculations in County To Be Resumed Early in Oct.

Inoculation of Kingston and Ulster county children against polio will be resumed early next month, it was announced today by Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, Ulster county health commissioner.

Approximately 4,500 children in Grades 1 through 4 are eligible to receive the Salk vaccine, Dr. Hargrave said.

The first clinic scheduled will be at Onteora Central School on October 10.

Dr. Hargrave said there was plenty of vaccine on hand and that schools could make arrangements for inoculations at their own convenience. "The clinics can be spaced at the convenience of the school, school physician and school nurse," he explained.

Dr. Hargrave said it was felt that most of this group of 4,500 children could be handled through school facilities and physician without too much need for voluntary help from other physicians in the community.

This final group of clinics will "wind up" the program for children in Grades 1 through 4, sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Snider Belts Home Run To Give Dodgers Lead

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Yankees and Dodgers were tied at 2-2 after two innings of the opening game of the World Series game today as Elston Howard hit a homer with one on base to tie the score. A sellout crowd of 68,000 saw Brooklyn score twice in the first half of the inning when Carl Furillo led off with a homer. Jackie Robinson scored the second Brooklyn run after a triple.

Furillo opened the second inning with a home run to put the Dodgers ahead. The ball struck the top of the low wall in front of the right field stands and bounced into the seats. Jackie Robinson lashed a triple into left center and scored the second Brooklyn run on Don Zimmer's Texas league single over second.

With one out in the Yankee half of the second, Joe Collins walked. Elston Howard, making his first World Series appearance lined a home run into the left field stands, scoring behind Collins to tie the score. Newcombe got the next two men on a fly and an infield grounder.

Duke Snider put Brooklyn ahead by 3 to 2 with a homer in the top half of the third inning.

Snider smashed a tremendous homer into the top deck of the right field stands to open the third inning and give Brooklyn the lead again. It was Snider's sixth World Series home run.

The Yanks tied it up once more in the same inning when Ford walked and moved around to score on Bauer's single and infield outs by McDougald and Noren.

A bright sun shone down on Yankee Stadium as the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers clashed in the opening game of a World Series before 68,000 spectators.

HEAVY SHOWERS last night and in the early morning left the stadium outfield a bit soft and the ground along the foul lines soggy, but the covered infield was in top condition.

Mickey Mantle, injured Yankee center fielder, was not in the starting lineup due to a pulled muscle in his right leg. He has appeared only as a pinch hitter since he injured his leg Sept. 16.

Irv Noren went to center field in his place with Elston Howard in left. Manager Casey Stengel also named veteran Phil Rizzuto,

Report Denied Saratoga Out As Big Racing Center in '56

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—"We are not going to abandon Saratoga in 1956," the president of the Greater New York Association said today.

"That is the only definite plan we have at the moment," said B. A. Tompkins, head of the GNYA, in comment to a story in the New York Mirror today that racing will be held in New York city next August in competition with the Saratoga track program.

"The move means the end of Saratoga as a big league racing center," the Mirror story said.

The paper said its information came from "an absolutely authorized source, with the understanding that the slightest hint can't be made how it was obtained and that the name be kept off all records."

"Except that I can say definitely that racing will be held at Saratoga next August nothing else has been formulated," said Tompkins.

"Everything is in a state of ferment," said Robert Kelley, director of the service bureau for the New York tracks. "No dates have been set for 1956 and nothing has crystallized. There are meetings every day

NIXON DIDN'T MIND THIS ONE—Vice President Richard Nixon had no objections to this caricature of him being exhibited at the recent San Francisco Art Festival. When the Art Commission ordered it removed, he telegraphed them, saying the public "should not be denied a full opportunity" to see it. The lithograph portrays Nixon as "Dick McSmear" carrying a pumpkin in one hand and a red-daubed paint brush in the other. The pumpkin symbolizes the famous "pumpkin papers" of the Alger Hiss case, in which Nixon figured prominently. Artist is Victor Arhautoff, Stanford University art instructor. Nixon said Arhautoff is entitled to his opinion.

'Safety' Move Proves Valuable

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was played by Sidney Silodor, one of the world's great players, he was sure that he was taking a needless precaution. Very often an expert feels apologetic about making a "safety" play, since usually it turns out that the suit breaks normally and that any routine play would have been just as good as the expert play.

In this case Silodor won the first trick with the ten of spades and then made the correct play to develop the clubs. The right play was to lead the king of clubs from the South hand.

West won with the ace of clubs and returned the king of spades to force out the ace. Now South led a low club and covered West's nine with dummy's jack. If West had played low, dummy would have won with the six of clubs, for East's discard on the first round of clubs made the situation clear.

Silodor returned to his hand with the ace of diamonds in order to lead another club toward dummy, finessing the six. It was then easy to bring in a total of two spades, one heart, three diamonds and four clubs.

The king of clubs was the right play at the second trick as a safety measure against finding all of the missing clubs in the West hand—which was exactly where they were. If they had all been in the East hand, no play would work. If the clubs broke 2-2 or 3-1, any play at all would work.

Dodge Plans Record Newspaper Ad Drive

Detroit, Sept. 28—Selection of a record number of newspapers to be used in launching the 1956 Dodge advertising program was announced today by Jack W. Minor, Dodge sales manager in charge of advertising and merchandising.

"Every important daily newspaper across the nation will carry the 1956 Dodge model announcement advertisements beginning Oct. 6," Minor said. "More than 1,000 of these will be in major market areas. In addition, some 3,000 smaller dailies and weeklies also are on the schedule for initial and followup ads in a broad campaign even more comprehensive and spectacular than that of a year ago."

A highly diversified use of all advertising media is planned for the new car announcement phase. Heavy newspaper lineage throughout the first three weeks of the announcement period will be accompanied by full-color magazine display emphasizing the 1956 Dodge theme: "Born of Success to Challenge the Future."

Mrs. Power Takes $32,000; Midwest Fan Is at $8,000

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Grandma Myrtle ("Myrt" Power, the baseball sage from the southland, has taken her $32,000 and retired from big league play on TV after a perfect five-week season.

Urged by her children and a host of well-wishers not to take the risk, she passed up a chance at the grand prize on "The $64,000 Question" CBS giveaway show.

The 70-year-old widow says her winnings—estimated at $21,000 after income taxes, will be "put in a sock" and saved.

Announcing her decision to quit on the program last night, she said it seemed "the sensible thing to do."

Mrs. Power, a baseball fan for 60 years and a Brooklyn Dodger rooter, said: "My Dodgers have won lots of pennants and I feel like I won a pennant, and they never won a World Series and I don't want to beat them to the draw."

AMONG THOSE who urged her not to try for the $64,000 by facing another question in her chosen baseball category was Jack Dempsey. Mrs. Power said the former heavyweight boxing champion talked with her at his restaurant this week and "almost got down on his knees to ask me to stop on account of the taxes."

If she had tried for the $64,000, she would have gotten only $12,000 or $13,000 more after taxes.

Before Mrs. Power stepped out, another baseball whiz advanced through the $8,000 question in his chosen category—also baseball.

He's Patrick ("Paddy") Keough, 62, of St. Louis, a baseball fan for more than 50 years. He can try next Tuesday night for $16,000.

KEOUGH WON $4,000 by naming three National League players who have hit four home runs in a single game since 1900—Chuck Klein of Philadelphia, Gil Hodges of Brooklyn and Joe Adcock of Milwaukee.

For $8,000 he was asked three questions about the 1920 World Series, and he answered correctly:

1. Cleveland was Brooklyn's opponent.

2. Elmer Smith (Cleveland catcher) was the first to hit a bases-loaded home run in World Series play.

3. The Cleveland second baseman, Bill Wambsganns, made the first unassisted triple play in a World Series game.

Before Mrs. Power left the stage, master of ceremonies Hal March presented her with a sculptured bust of herself, done by Abe Davidson, director of the art department at Brenau College, Gainesville, Ga.

Several ceramic copies of the bust will be made of Georgia clay and one will be placed in the town hall of Buford, Ga., Mrs. Power's home.

Urged by her children and a host of well-wishers not to take the risk, she passed up a chance at the grand prize on "The $64,000 Question" CBS giveaway show.

The 70-year-old widow says her winnings—estimated at $21,000 after income taxes, will be "put in a sock" and saved.

Announcing her decision to quit on the program last night, she said it seemed "the sensible thing to do."

Mrs. Power, a baseball fan for 60 years and a Brooklyn Dodger rooter, said: "My Dodgers have won lots of pennants and I feel like I won a pennant, and they never won a World Series and I don't want to beat them to the draw."

AMONG THOSE who urged her not to try for the $64,000 by facing another question in her chosen baseball category was Jack Dempsey. Mrs. Power said the former heavyweight boxing champion talked with her at his restaurant this week and "almost got down on his knees to ask me to stop on account of the taxes."

If she had tried for the $64,000, she would have gotten only $12,000 or $13,000 more after taxes.

Before Mrs. Power stepped out, another baseball whiz advanced through the $8,000 question in his chosen category—also baseball.

He's Patrick ("Paddy") Keough, 62, of St. Louis, a baseball fan for more than 50 years. He can try next Tuesday night for $16,000.

KEOUGH WON $4,000 by naming three National League players who have hit four home runs in a single game since 1900—Chuck Klein of Philadelphia, Gil Hodges of Brooklyn and Joe Adcock of Milwaukee.

For $8,000 he was asked three questions about the 1920 World Series, and he answered correctly:

1. Cleveland was Brooklyn's opponent.

2. Elmer Smith (Cleveland catcher) was the first to hit a bases-loaded home run in World Series play.

3. The Cleveland second baseman, Bill Wambsganns, made the first unassisted triple play in a World Series game.

Several ceramic copies of the bust will be made of Georgia clay and one will be placed in the town hall of Buford, Ga., Mrs. Power's home.

'Safety' Move Proves Valuable

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was played by Sidney Silodor, one of the world's great players, he was sure that he was taking a needless precaution. Very often an expert feels apologetic about making a "safety" play, since usually it turns out that the suit breaks normally and that any routine play would have been just as good as the expert play.

In this case Silodor won the first trick with the ten of spades and then made the correct play to develop the clubs. The right play was to lead the king of clubs from the South hand.

West won with the ace of clubs and returned the king of spades to force out the ace. Now South led a low club and covered West's nine with dummy's jack. If West had played low, dummy would have won with the six of clubs, for East's discard on the first round of clubs made the situation clear.

Silodor returned to his hand with the ace of diamonds in order to lead another club toward dummy, finessing the six. It was then easy to bring in a total of two spades, one heart, three diamonds and four clubs.

The king of clubs was the right play at the second trick as a safety measure against finding all of the missing clubs in the West hand—which was exactly where they were. If they had all been in the East hand, no play would work. If the clubs broke 2-2 or 3-1, any play at all would work.

Dodge Plans Record Newspaper Ad Drive

Detroit, Sept. 28—Selection of a record number of newspapers to be used in launching the 1956 Dodge advertising program was announced today by Jack W. Minor, Dodge sales manager in charge of advertising and merchandising.

"Every important daily newspaper across the nation will carry the 1956 Dodge model announcement advertisements beginning Oct. 6," Minor said. "More than 1,000 of these will be in major market areas. In addition, some 3,000 smaller dailies and weeklies also are on the schedule for initial and followup ads in a broad campaign even more comprehensive and spectacular than that of a year ago."

A highly diversified use of all advertising media is planned for the new car announcement phase. Heavy newspaper lineage throughout the first three weeks of the announcement period will be accompanied by full-color magazine display emphasizing the 1956 Dodge theme: "Born of Success to Challenge the Future."

THE COOL WAR

There is nothing colder than cold, but somehow to call present Russian tactics the Cool War, as some are doing, effectively suggests the softer devices the Kremlin is resorting to.

In the long years of the Cold War, Soviet leaders launched many "peace offensives," all transparently phony. Except for their impact on transparently naive neutralists, they failed uniformly.

As of the moment when West Germany entered NATO and its rearmament was approved by the West, the free nations could in fairness claim they were winning the Cold War. They had more than balanced the Soviet threat of force in pursuit of the Kremlin's goal of conquest.

But what followed thereafter makes a totally different story. For the first time the Russians engineered a "peace offensive" that was not obviously a fraud. Even some of the most skeptical students of Moscow's activities decided that for once they might be sincere.

Certain tangibles were thrown in to help convince the wary. An Austrian peace treaty, a disarmament plan with at least a look of real substance, freer exchange of people and ideas across the Iron Curtain boundaries, the Geneva meeting with its new atmosphere of friendliness.

One can no longer say that only the neutralists are buying. Untold millions of war-weary, peace-hungry folk, always inclined to keep up their guard, are impressed. Tough Western diplomats accustomed to X-raying Soviet maneuvers to the bone think the change may be real.

Possibly it is—up to a point. But there are still skeptics left who believe that the Russians have not only maintained their goal of global domination but have reserved a large area in which to practice combat against the free world.

Yet, why leave this matter in the hands of outsiders, skeptical or otherwise? We have the highly instructive words of Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist party chief, to underscore emphatically the theory that the Cool War, not peace in the truest sense, is replacing the Cold War.

In a recent illuminating speech, Khrushchev said plainly that Communist smiles do not mean a reversal of policy away from the Marx-Lenin line (world conquest). Just as unmistakably, he declared that communism will not only remain the doctrine of Russia but will win out over capitalism in the world.

He insisted the smiles were genuine and that Russia would not resort to force to win converts to communism. As so often in recent times, he voiced acceptance of the coexistence of communism and capitalism—for this moment of history.

But he forecast that "peaceful competition" would go on between the two systems, until at last communism has won.

Here, in this realm of "peaceful competition" is the area where the Cool War is being fought. The Kremlin's present rulers, for all their evident crudities, are waging this new combat with more subtlety, imagination and persuasiveness than was employed in the Cold War.

We ought to have seen enough of Soviet tactics thus far to know that peaceful competition, in the Kremlin's mind, may embrace not only these new, slick devices but every strategem of espionage and subversion right up to the very overthrow of governments from the inside.

Free men, sorely tested in the Cold War, face a new challenge. Have they the resources of will and imagination to counter this tantalizing new warfare that has even more of the look and perhaps even some of the reality of peace, and yet may end just as surely in their destruction?

The football season is well under way and it gets tougher and tougher to live with the fellow in the office whose old school is still undefeated. The bore actually interrupts you when you're trying to tell him how well your own alma mater is doing.

CULTURAL COMMANDOS

In this era of rejuvenated nationalism, each nation becomes increasingly conscious of its own culture and wonders how it compares with the cultures of other countries. Most peoples believe that their particular culture is superior to every other. To Europeans, the United States has always seemed to be a materialistic country with strong, aggressive men who know how to make machines and earn money. We have spent billions on propaganda but have made no impression on other countries except that we make better automobiles and ice-boxes.

Certainly from the standpoint of music, we are among the most cultured of peoples, supporting an extraordinarily large number of remarkable symphony and chamber orchestras. While some older composers in this country are Europeans who have been naturalized, such Americans as Samuel Barber, Aaron Copland, Leonard Bernstein and others are writing good music in the idiom of the day. I speak of music because I am more familiar with this cultural medium than I am with some others.

It is, from this standpoint, satisfactory to read that the United States Information Agency is devoting so large a part of its effort to the exhibition of American cultural activities, which deal with fundamentals and not with the ephemera of politics or the gloom of economics. Its report for 1955 cites the following:

"One of these events—concerts in the Far East by the Symphony of the Air (formerly the NBC Symphony)—was so popular that 2,000 Tokyo students stood in line for 27 hours for tickets. . . .

"The program to demonstrate U. S. cultural achievements also included:

"USIA's 'Music in America' exhibit, which drew large crowds in India, England, Scotland, Wales and Sweden.

"A display of American watercolors in the Philippines . . . 'Highlights of American Painting,' which went to 22 cities and towns in Turkey, Norway, Ethiopia and Spain. . . .

" 'Salute to France,' Paris performances by top American musical and stage personalities, and subsequent appearances in other cities by many of these artists. 'Salute' attractions included the Philadelphia Orchestra, the New York City Ballet and performances of 'Medea,' 'Oklahoma' and 'The Skin of Our Teeth.'

"Concerts by the noted American violinist Isaac Stern in Iceland and Yugoslavia. Near and Far Eastern concerts of Negro spirituals by the Jubilee Singers. Spectacularly successful performances of the opera 'Porgy and Bess' in Europe and the Near East."

If the new look in diplomacy continues, it might even occur that the Boston Symphony might be sent to Soviet Russia which needs a dose of American culture to overcome its assumption that the Russians have a monopoly of the great composers of this era. True the Russians have produced in this era three of the most remarkable composers of the world, Shostakovich, Khachaturian and Prokofiev. I wonder what an impression it would make upon the Russian mind to listen to Charles Munch's immaculate performance of the Bach B Minor Mass or the Beethoven Ninth with the choruses and artists who did them at Tanglewood.

This is better propaganda for the United States because it commands respect for our people. The Russians are particularly interested in the ballet, as are other Slavic peoples. The United States need not hang its head in shame in this field. The USIA could well afford to be advised by so characteristically American a ballet master as Ted Shawn, whom I first saw with Ruth St. Denis in China about 30 years ago and who then made so profound an impression on Asia that their visit was remembered for many years. The Orient has, in each country, dancers who often provide the most serious form of entertainment. For instance, the Chinese classical theatre is a form which we would regard as a ballet with song and poetry, all done together. Mei Lan-fang who was the greatest exponent of this art in my day was tremendously impressed by the American ballet.

We could do well to send our dancers to India and Indonesia and such countries where the dance is highly developed and appreciated. This is sound propaganda and ought to be encouraged because it is what other people regard as indicative of a living culture. To many Americans, it may be surprising that other peoples are astounded that we have only one permanent opera theatre and that our live theatre is so limited. But we have much to show even in these fields.

That Body of Yours

PRESBYCUSIS: HEARING LOSS OF OLD AGE

When we see the prefix "presby" it usually means "old" or getting old so Dr. K. M. Simonton, consultant at the Mayo Clinic, tells us that "presbycusis" is a term derived from Greek words meaning "old hearing" and is defined as that loss of hearing which characterizes old age. Presbycusis is a distinct type of hearing loss which can be accurately classified by present day tests of hearing. As the ears and hearing are fully developed at birth, so the best hearing is assumed to be present at that time and it is assumed that the hearing mechanisms begin deteriorating at an early age and continue to do so throughout life. It is considered a "wearing out" of the hearing apparatus.

The range of frequencies heard by the adolescents and young adults extends from 64 to 16,000 cycles per second. This range encompasses approximately eight octaves in the musical scale. Some animals hear tones of higher frequency—for example, the "silent" dog whistles. The upper limits of frequencies heard by the human ear becomes progressively lower throughout life. Presbycusis is present when the upper tone limit falls within the frequency range of the conversational voice. Loss of hearing for bells, whistles, and the tick of a watch becomes apparent earlier in life than does loss of hearing for conversation.

As the spoken language is our most important means of communication it is interesting to note that the frequency range of the conversational voice is 500 to 2,000 cycles per second. Vowels range from 500 to 1,000 and consonants, which are spoken with less intensity than vowels, range from 1,000 to 2,000 cycles per second. The patient having presbycusis hears vowels more distinctly than he hears consonants.

Loss of hearing for conversation in presbycusis consists of awareness of a voice but failure to understand what is said. If conversations can be held under favorable circumstances with lack of conflicting noises, the patient can often hear. Recommendations are (1) Complete enunciation on the part of the speaker to one with presbycusis. This means speaking words clearly so as to provide a complete sound picture at the source. (2) Slow rate of speech, allowing time to fill gaps in the sound picture so that the listener may understand the sentence although he misses some words or syllables. (3) Facing the listener when speaking, which brings the maximal sound to the listener's ear. (4) Avoidance of interfering noise, especially other voices, when speaking. (5) Speaking at normal loudness. This last is particularly important since if we shout we do not form our words as clearly as we do at ordinary voice level.

There is no effective treatment for the failing hearing of old age, presbycusis, but tomorrow we will consider a couple of methods which do help such patients understand others.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington, NEA—The latest gimmick in stock promotion schemes has just been spot lighted by Securities and Exchange Commission in the Uranium Properties, Ltd., case. Hearing on the case is in San Francisco.

Involved is a joint venture organized under California law by Hubert W. Sharpe and Reyburn F. Crocker. They propose a public stock sale of $600,000 in multiples of $25 for prospectors' grubstake loans.

The pitch is that 75 per cent of every investor's stock purchase will be put in U. S. savings bonds. The other 25 per cent will be used to financial aerial prospecting.

If the promoters find nothing, at the end of ten years the stock purchasers would at least get their original investment back in the form of a matured bond.

SEC is investigating to see whether it should issue a stop order and bar public sale of this stock. The reasons are that the prospectus does not fully disclose the hazards of prospecting, and that risk is not diminished by bonds.

THIS IS ONLY one of the many questionable practices that the promoters of uranium stocks have been trying to put over in the current boom.

A typical set-up for such an enterprise is found in one company that proposed to sell the public three million shares of one cent par value stock for $1.25 a share.

For this $3,750,000 the shareholders would get 34 per cent of the stock. The promoters would get the other 66 per cent, or $7,500,000 worth on an original investment of $198,000.

All SEC can do in cases of this kind is to force the promoters to make full disclosure on all the gimmicks of their scheme in the first few paragraphs of their prospectuses. What promoters like to do is to scatter and bury this information all through their prospectus, or not mention it at all.

But even when SEC does enforce 100 per cent accuracy in prospectus statements, if the investors don't read the prospectus, they may lose their shirts.

NOT ALL THE slick promotions are confined to uranium stock offerings. One such prospectus which gave SEC some trouble this year came from a plastic burial vault promoter.

No complete sample vault had ever been built. The plastic had not been tested to see what action earth acids and alkalis would have on it after long burial.

Starting with ten stockholders owning a total of only 93 shares, the promoters proposed to sell to licensed undertakers only, 200,000 shares at $100 each. Here was a 20-million-dollar promotion scheme in which the promoters proposed to give themselves two per cent on gross sales, before there were any profits.

SEC forced full disclosure of these facts in an amended prospectus. So far, no reports have been received of how much stock has been sold, and any increase of five per cent or more in a company's capitalization must be reported.

Registration of proposed stock issues with SEC therefore does some good, even though there is little enforcement, or policing of stock company operations.

THERE HAVE BEEN few prosecutions for fraud in stock sales, even in the uranium field. People taken for a ride are reluctant to report that they have been suckers.

Up to the end of 1954, no SEC stop orders were issued. So far this year there have been seven. Four were against uranium companies, two against Nevada resort hotels and one against a Nevada aviation company.

Both SEC Chairman Sinclair Armstrong and his predecessor, Ralph Demmler, have declared that unless business promoters tighten up on their own stock sale operations, the government will have to do it to protect the investing public.

Federal taxes grew from about 3 per cent of the national income to above 20 per cent between 1932 and 1953.

U. S. Fear of Democrat Rule Seen in Stock Market Drop

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 27—The American people are afraid of the Democratic party—afraid of its present biased position in favor of state socialism, wasteful spending of the taxpayers' money and the gradual sabotage of the private-enterprise system.

That's the plain meaning of the stock market's violent reaction of the first news of President Eisenhower's illness. For the impression had been built up in recent months that unless the President ran for a second term the Democrats would sweep into all branches of the government including the judiciary. Fear of a Democratic victory has made business men panicky.

THE ILLUSION that only Dwight Eisenhower could win in 1956 has been fostered to some extent even by some Republicans who now perhaps see the unwisdom of their theories and are beginning to talk of the Eisenhower team as one that could be successfully continued under another Republican President.

But while the stock market may rally again and again as better news comes from Denver, the biggest impact of the break may yet be felt by the Democratic party itself which is sorely in need of a reconstituted leadership.

The country moved toward the brink of disaster in fiscal affairs under the Truman administration but was saved by the conservatives in the Democratic party in Congress who hail from the south. Now the number of these southern conservatives is dwindling as men like Sen. George of Georgia and Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas tend to go along with the once conservative but now politically radical Samuel Rayburn of Texas, Speaker of the House, who is an ardent believer in Trumanism. The gradual infiltration of radicalism in some of the southern political organizations has made it possible for state socialistic doctrines in the field of natural resources to be openly championed by Senator Kefauver of Tennessee, himself a contender for the Democratic nomination for the presidency.

SEN. BYRD, of Virginia, on the other hand, and his able colleague, Sen. Willis Robertson, stand at the head of a small band of conservatives who are preventing radicalism from capturing the entire Democratic party. For the prospect is that now with the enormous labor-union funds available directly or indirectly for political purposes the Democratic party may be taken over lock, stock and barrel by the big labor-union monopoly, known as the AFL-CIO merger. This could mean a return of the one-sided Wagner Act and an era of labor-management strife if the Democrats win the White House.

What frightens business men is the type of comment made by former President Truman just the other day when he denounced the six justices of the Supreme Court who ruled against him in his seizure of the entire steel industry. He now says that the minority opinions of the three justices in dissent will some day become the court's opinion. Is this a hint that the court will be "packed" again some day by a Democratic regime as it was under the late President Roosevelt?

NEITHER THE Hennings committee of the Senate which supposedly is investigating constitutional rights nor "the Fund for the Republic" — a tax-free foundation which is distributing political propaganda allegedly about "due process of law"—is likely to study these abuses of constitutional rights and especially a dictatorial act by Mr. Truman. For he ignored the joint resolution of both Houses of Congress requesting him to use his powers under the Taft-Hartley Act to halt the steel strike in 1952 and instead, without warrant of any law, ordered all steel plants to be taken over by the federal government. The Supreme Court promptly nullified the order but the American business community has not forgotten that this is what happens under a Democratic administration whose concepts of government ownership or control of the steel industry have not been confined to the single order of seizure but to arguments hinting at nationalization. It was the short-lived attempt at nationalization which almost wrecked the steel industry in Great Britain.

MAYBE THE stock-market break will have a sobering influence on the Democratic party in the selection of a Presidential candidate. Adlai Stevenson originally had a conservative background but in 1952 for expediency's sake he made common cause with the radicals and especially the labor-union politicians. Governor Averell Harriman of New York inherited a fortune made by his father, the railroad pioneer, and himself spent a large part of his life in the financial and business district in New York city. He ought to know the limits to which radicalism can be accepted under the guise of "liberalism" and still retain in some measure the confidence of business. In many respects he would make a better candidate for the Democrats in these times than Stevenson. At least Harriman has kept aloof from the "Americans for Democratic Action."

But the handwriting on the wall is plain. Unless the next Congress can prove themselves to be true friends of the private-enterprise system and remove the widespread belief that the Democratic leadership of today is the potential enemy of business, the Republicans will have an easy victory in November 1956 in winning not only the White House but both Houses of Congress no matter whom they nominate. A nation with 30,000,000 families earning incomes over $3,000 a year isn't going to risk a panic or a depression or a period of socialistic experimentation that can halt business expansion and produce unemployment.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Rome—That mysterious State Department of ours is still a house divided and, as Frances Knight recently proved in a series of news-pics, heavily infested with rats and termites. Frances is the beautiful woman with the studied expression of inanity who slipped into the Passport Bureau when Mrs. Ruth Shipley retired. This mask of hers, concealed for 20 years the patriotic purpose and special intelligence of a girl who might well have been called an undercover American in the Roosevelt-Truman bureaucracy.

The Rome Embassy and the United States Information Service, which is just another of a long series of parasitic tumors on our foreign relations, are an embarrassing spectacle. Clare Booth Luce is the ambassador, but protocol is strange so Henry Luce's friend, Eisenhower, gave him the title of minister so that he could qualify as an official, however, synthetic and pathetic, for invitations to dinners and ribbon-cuttings which he delights in. Otherwise, he could go only as the ambassaodr's husband and sit back by the kitchen door.

The Italians have been under Clare's thumb in economic phases and they have had to contain there sense of affront at Ike for sending a female to their capital. But they have a droll, Latin humor about sex and the status of the husband in the domestic situation and in many little ways, a certain inflection of a word or a gesture of a few fingers, they express themselves. We have no repartee to cope with them. We are dead in the sea. If only Henry, Clare and Ike were the butt of this that would serve them right. But the American Sisterhood of Sovereign Republics and our people are also on the receiving end. However, many Americans resident in Rome and, secretly, some of the bureaucrats in Clare's own political plant, enjoy the spectacle as much as the Italians, realizing that Clare could have spared little China-boy this unique distinction and that Henry is still so sophomoric that he seems to think he is a great fellow by marriage. He could have had top billing, himself, and she could have been the wife.

Ben Hecht told me an anecdote recently, bearing on Henry's personality.

We were in Hollywood plotting our Al Capone movie which probably will be frustrated because so many of the magnates would be principals in the Browne-Bioff phase of the scenario, when we fell to talking of fabulous characters of journalism. I nominated a cub in Chicago who hopped a freight for the Cairo race riot, hoping to sell a few yards of space to papers around the country, on queries. He was pinched as a bum in Herrin and found himself rooming with a Negro vag charged with raiding a henroost. The colored fellow had $10 in the sole of one shoe and my boy talked him out of it by representing that he was a lawyer. The judge fined my boy the Negro's $10 and he went along toward Cairo.

"Well, but what did you do about this colored guy?" we asked when he had drifted back to Chicago.

"Oh," he said. "I got him bound over to the grand jury. They probably will vote no bill, and he will be a free man. It was my first case."

Hecht said "the dumbest guy that ever lived in this business was on the old Chicago Daily News. I was writing a daily column and it was hard going. The leg-work was using up my time and energy. So I asked Henry Justin Smith to give me a legman without too much savvy. I said I wanted a guy dumb enough to put down notes on everything he heard and bring them to me. Henry said he had just the man and this kid reported and I gave him a rough idea. But after a week or so I had to turn him back to the desk. I said to Henry Justin Smith: 'This guy won't do. He believes everything!'

"But you know the way of the Greek myths. Never kick a toad. It may turn out to be a god or a king. This guy was Henry Luce."

And so, a few days ago in Rome, at a solemn, forlorn little huddle in an ugly stone room in a 16th century castle, the Palazzo Antici-Mattei, Henry Luce, made a little speech on the cultural value of religion in America. I wish I had heard it and it is not my fault because he was not billed on the invitation which I received through the, as it were, pro-American maquis of the American colony in Rome. On my invitation, Clare, his wife, was down for an address of welcome, but I heard later, per grapevine, that she took one look at the house, got took real bad and beat it for home.

Henry was an added starter. It was only by hearsay that I got his subject. I was talking to J. E. B. Rose, director of the International Press Institute, Zurich, whatever that may be, and formerly an editor of the London Observer. He seemed professional and I thought he gulped when I asked him: "Why was Luce invited to speak here?"

"Why," Mr. Rose said, taken off guard, "because his wife is the ambassador." Then he apparently thought that didn't sound quite appropriate so he added, "—and also, I suppose, because he is the whole business of this little convention."

That was it. They got up a convention to evince "culture" and brought in Erwin Canham of the Christian Science Monitor and Paul Hoffman of the Ford Fund for the Republic, who play China-boy's stripe of politics, and this was one of Henry's few opportunities. Clare gave it the snoot as well la belle might snoot a scattering of eighty people up three flights of old stone stairs with four gruesome old stone. Caesars bending empty orbs on the scene. But Henry does the best he can.

THE COOL WAR

There is nothing colder than cold, but somehow to call present Russian tactics the Cool War, as some are doing, effectively suggests the softer devices the Kremlin is resorting to.

In the long years of the Cold War, Soviet leaders launched many "peace offensives," all transparently phony. Except for their impact on transparently naive neutralists, they failed uniformly.

As of the moment when West Germany entered NATO and its rearmament was approved by the West, the free nations could in fairness claim they were winning the Cold War. They had more than balanced the Soviet threat of force in pursuit of the Kremlin's goal of conquest.

But what followed thereafter makes a totally different story. For the first time the Russians engineered a "peace offensive" that was not obviously a fraud. Even some of the most skeptical students of Moscow's activities decided that for once they might be sincere.

Certain tangibles were thrown in to help convince the wary. An Austrian peace treaty, a disarmament plan with at least a look of real substance, freer exchange of people and ideas across the Iron Curtain boundaries, the Geneva meeting with its new atmosphere of friendliness.

One can no longer say that only the neutralists are buying. Untold millions of war-weary, peace-hungry folk, always inclined to keep up their guard, are impressed. Tough Western diplomats accustomed to X-raying Soviet maneuvers to the bone think the change may be real.

Possibly it is—up to a point. But there are still skeptics left who believe that the Russians have not only maintained their goal of global domination but have reserved a large area in which to practice combat against the free world.

Yet, why leave this matter in the hands of outsiders, skeptical or otherwise? We have the highly instructive words of Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist party chief, to underscore emphatically the theory that the Cool War, not peace in the truest sense, is replacing the Cold War.

In a recent illuminating speech, Khrushchev said plainly that Communist smiles do not mean a reversal of policy away from the Marx-Lenin line (world conquest). Just as unmistakably, he declared that communism will not only remain the doctrine of Russia but will win out over capitalism in the world.

He insisted the smiles were genuine and that Russia would not resort to force to win converts to communism. As so often in recent times, he voiced acceptance of the coexistence of communism and capitalism—for this moment of history.

But he forecast that "peaceful competition" would go on between the two systems, until at last communism has won.

Here, in this realm of "peaceful competition" is the area where the Cool War is being fought. The Kremlin's present rulers, for all their evident crudities, are waging this new combat with more subtlety, imagination and persuasiveness than was employed in the Cold War.

We ought to have seen enough of Soviet tactics thus far to know that peaceful competition, in the Kremlin's mind, may embrace not only these new, slick devices but every strategem of espionage and subversion right up to the very overthrow of governments from the inside.

Free men, sorely tested in the Cold War, face a new challenge. Have they the resources of will and imagination to counter this tantalizing new warfare that has even more of the look and perhaps even some of the reality of peace, and yet may end just as surely in their destruction?

The football season is well under way and it gets tougher and tougher to live with the fellow in the office whose old school is still undefeated. The bore actually interrupts you when you're trying to tell him how well your own alma mater is doing.

CULTURAL COMMANDOS

In this era of rejuvenated nationalism, each nation becomes increasingly conscious of its own culture and wonders how it compares with the cultures of other countries. Most peoples believe that their particular culture is superior to every other. To Europeans, the United States has always seemed to be a materialistic country with strong, aggressive men who know how to make machines and earn money. We have spent billions on propaganda but have made no impression on other countries except that we make better automobiles and ice-boxes.

Certainly from the standpoint of music, we are among the most cultured of peoples, supporting an extraordinarily large number of remarkable symphony and chamber orchestras. While some older composers in this country are Europeans who have been naturalized, such Americans as Samuel Barber, Aaron Copland, Leonard Bernstein and others are writing good music in the idiom of the day. I speak of music because I am more familiar with this cultural medium than I am with some others.

It is, from this standpoint, satisfactory to read that the United States Information Agency is devoting so large a part of its effort to the exhibition of American cultural activities, which deal with fundamentals and not with the ephemera of politics or the gloom of economics. Its report for 1955 cites the following:

"One of these events—concerts in the Far East by the Symphony of the Air (formerly the NBC Symphony)—was so popular that 2,000 Tokyo students stood in line for 27 hours for tickets. . . .

"The program to demonstrate U. S. cultural achievements also included:

"USIA's 'Music in America' exhibit, which drew large crowds in India, England, Scotland, Wales and Sweden.

"A display of American watercolors in the Philippines . . . 'Highlights of American Painting,' which went to 22 cities and towns in Turkey, Norway, Ethiopia and Spain. . . .

"'Salute to France,' Paris performances by top American musical and stage personalities, and subsequent appearances in other cities by many of these artists. 'Salute' attractions included the Philadelphia Orchestra, the New York City Ballet and performances of 'Medea,' 'Oklahoma' and 'The Skin of Our Teeth.'

"Concerts by the noted American violinist Isaac Stern in Iceland and Yugoslavia. Near and Far Eastern concerts of Negro spirituals by the Jubilee Singers. Spectacularly successful performances of the opera 'Porgy and Bess' in Europe and the Near East."

If the new look in diplomacy continues, it might even occur that the Boston Symphony might be sent to Soviet Russia which needs a dose of American culture to overcome its assumption that the Russians have a monopoly of the great composers of this era. True the Russians have produced in this era three of the most remarkable composers of the world, Shostakovich, Khachaturian and Prokofiev. I wonder what an impression it would make upon the Russian mind to listen to Charles Munch's immaculate performance of the Bach B Minor Mass or the Beethoven Ninth with the choruses and artists who did them at Tanglewood.

This is better propaganda for the United States because it commands respect for our people. The Russians are particularly interested in the ballet, as are other Slavic peoples. The United States need not hang its head in shame in this field. The USIA could well afford to be advised by so characteristically American a ballet master as Ted Shawn, whom I first saw with Ruth St. Denis in China about 30 years ago and who then made so profound an impression on Asia that their visit was remembered for many years. The Orient has, in each country, dancers who often provide the most serious form of entertainment. For instance, the Chinese classical theatre is a form which we would regard as a ballet with song and poetry, all done together. Mei Lan-fang who was the greatest exponent of this art in my day was tremendously impressed by the American ballet.

We could do well to send our dancers to India and Indonesia and such countries where the dance is highly developed and appreciated. This is sound propaganda and ought to be encouraged because it is what other people regard as indicative of a living culture. To many Americans, it may be surprising that other peoples are astounded that we have only one permanent opera theatre and that our live theatre is so limited. But we have much to show even in these fields.

That Body of Yours

PRESBYCUSIS: HEARING LOSS OF OLD AGE

When we see the prefix "presby" it usually means "old" or getting old so Dr. K. M. Simonton, consultant at the Mayo Clinic, tells us that "presbycusis" is a term derived from Greek words meaning "old hearing" and is defined as that loss of hearing which characterizes old age. Presbycusis is a distinct type of hearing loss which can be accurately classified by present day tests of hearing. As the ears and hearing are fully developed at birth, so the best hearing is assumed to be present at that time and it is assumed that the hearing mechanisms begin deteriorating at an early age and continue to do so throughout life. It is considered a "wearing out" of the hearing apparatus.

The range of frequencies heard by the adolescents and young adults extends from 64 to 16,000 cycles per second. This range encompasses approximately eight octaves in the musical scale. Some animals hear tones of higher frequency—for example, the "silent" dog whistles. The upper limits of frequencies heard by the human ear becomes progressively lower throughout life. Presbycusis is present when the upper tone limit falls within the frequency range of the conversational voice. Loss of hearing for bells, whistles, and the tick of a watch becomes apparent earlier in life than does loss of hearing for conversation.

As the spoken language is our most important means of communication it is interesting to note that the frequency range of the conversational voice is 500 to 2,000 cycles per second. Vowels range from 500 to 1,000 and consonants, which are spoken with less intensity than vowels, range from 1,000 to 2,000 cycles per second. The patient having presbycusis hears vowels more distinctly than he hears consonants.

Loss of hearing for conversation in presbycusis consists of awareness of a voice but failure to understand what is said. If conversations can be held under favorable circumstances with lack of conflicting noises, the patient can often hear. Recommendations are (1) Complete enunciation on the part of the speaker to one with presbycusis. This means speaking words clearly so as to provide a complete sound picture at the source. (2) Slow rate of speech, allowing time to fill gaps in the sound picture so that the listener may understand the sentence although he misses some words or syllables. (3) Facing the listener when speaking, which brings the maximal sound to the listener's ear. (4) Avoidance of interfering noise, especially other voices, when speaking. (5) Speaking at normal loudness. This last is particularly important since if we shout we do not form our words as clearly as we do at ordinary voice level.

There is no effective treatment for the failing hearing of old age, presbycusis, but tomorrow we will consider a couple of methods which do help such patients understand others.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington, NEA—The latest gimmick in stock promotion schemes has just been spot lighted by Securities and Exchange Commission in the Uranium Properties, Ltd., case. Hearing on the case is in San Francisco.

Involved is a joint venture organized under California law by Hubert W. Sharpe and Reyburn F. Crocker. They propose a public stock sale of $600,000 in multiples of $25 for prospectors' grubstake loans.

The pitch is that 75 per cent of every investor's stock purchase will be put in U. S. savings bonds. The other 25 per cent will be used to financial aerial prospecting.

If the promoters find nothing, at the end of ten years the stock purchasers would at least get their original investment back in the form of a matured bond.

SEC is investigating to see whether it should issue a stop order and bar public sale of this stock. The reasons are that the prospectus does not fully disclose the hazards of prospecting, and that risk is not diminished by bonds.

THIS IS ONLY one of the many questionable practices that the promoters of uranium stocks have been trying to put over in the current boom.

A typical set-up for such an enterprise is found in one company that proposed to sell the public three million shares of one cent par value stock for $1.25 a share.

For this $3,750,000 the shareholders would get 34 per cent of the stock. The promoters would get the other 66 per cent, or $7,500,000 worth on an original investment of $198,000.

All SEC can do in cases of this kind is to force the promoters to make full disclosure on all the gimmicks of their scheme in the first few paragraphs of their prospectuses. What promoters like to do is to scatter and bury this information all through their prospectus, or not mention it at all.

But even when SEC does enforce 100 per cent accuracy in prospectus statements, if the investors don't read the prospectus, they may lose their shirts.

NOT ALL THE slick promotions are confined to uranium stock offerings. One such prospectus which gave SEC some trouble this year came from a plastic burial vault promoter.

No complete sample vault had ever been built. The plastic had not been tested to see what action earth acids and alkalis would have on it after long burial.

Starting with ten stockholders owning a total of only 93 shares, the promoters proposed to sell to licensed undertakers only, 200,000 shares at $100 each. Here was a 20-million-dollar promotion scheme in which the promoters proposed to give themselves two per cent on gross sales, before there were any profits.

SEC forced full disclosure of these facts in an amended prospectus. So far, no reports have been received of how much stock has been sold, and any increase of five per cent or more in a company's capitalization must be reported.

Registration of proposed stock issues with SEC therefore does some good, even though there is little enforcement, or policing of stock company operations.

THERE HAVE BEEN few prosecutions for fraud in stock sales, even in the uranium field. People taken for a ride are reluctant to report that they have been suckers.

Up to the end of 1954, no SEC stop orders were issued. So far this year there have been seven. Four were against uranium companies, two against Nevada resort hotels and one against a Nevada aviation company.

Both SEC Chairman Sinclair Armstrong and his predecessor, Ralph Demmler, have declared that unless business promoters tighten up on their own stock sale operations, the government will have to do it to protect the investing public.

Federal taxes grew from about 3 per cent of the national income to above 20 per cent between 1932 and 1953.

U. S. Fear of Democrat Rule Seen in Stock Market Drop

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 27—The American people are afraid of the Democratic party—afraid of its present biased position in favor of state socialism, wasteful spending of the taxpayers' money and the gradual sabotage of the private-enterprise system.

That's the plain meaning of the stock market's violent reaction of the first news of President Eisenhower's illness. For the impression had been built up in recent months that unless the President ran for a second term the Democrats would sweep into all branches of the government including the judiciary. Fear of a Democratic victory has made business men panicky.

THE ILLUSION that only Dwight Eisenhower could win in 1956 has been fostered to some extent even by some Republicans who now perhaps see the unwisdom of their theories and are beginning to talk of the Eisenhower team as one that could be successfully continued under another Republican President.

But while the stock market may rally again and again as better news comes from Denver, the biggest impact of the break may yet be felt by the Democratic party itself which is sorely in need of a reconstituted leadership.

The country moved toward the brink of disaster in fiscal affairs under the Truman administration but was saved by the conservatives in the Democratic party in Congress who hail from the south. Now the number of these southern conservatives is dwindling as men like Sen. George of Georgia and Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas tend to go along with the once conservative but now politically radical Samuel Rayburn of Texas, Speaker of the House, who is an ardent believer in Trumanism. The gradual infiltration of radicalism in some of the southern political organizations has made it possible for state socialistic doctrines in the field of natural resources to be openly championed by Senator Kefauver of Tennessee, himself a contender for the Democratic nomination for the presidency.

SEN. BYRD, of Virginia, on the other hand, and his able colleague, Sen. Willis Robertson, stand at the head of a small band of conservatives who are preventing radicalism from capturing the entire Democratic party. For the prospect is that now with the enormous labor-union funds available directly or indirectly for political purposes the Democratic party may be taken over lock, stock and barrel by the big labor-union monopoly, known as the AFL-CIO merger. This could mean a return of the one-sided Wagner Act and an era of labor-management strife if the Democrats win the White House.

What frightens business men is the type of comment made by former President Truman just the other day when he denounced the six justices of the Supreme Court who ruled against him in his seizure of the entire steel industry. He now says that the minority opinions of the three justices in dissent will some day become the court's opinion. Is this a hint that the court will be "packed" again some day by a Democratic regime as it was under the late President Roosevelt?

NEITHER THE Hennings committee of the Senate which supposedly is investigating constitutional rights nor "the Fund for the Republic" — a tax-free foundation which is distributing political propaganda allegedly about "due process of law"—is likely to study these abuses of constitutional rights and especially a dictatorial act by Mr. Truman. For he ignored the joint resolution of both Houses of Congress requesting him to use his powers under the Taft-Hartley Act to halt the steel strike in 1952 and instead, without warrant of any law, ordered all steel plants to be taken over by the federal government. The Supreme Court promptly nullified the order but the American business community has not forgotten that this is what happens under a Democratic administration whose concepts of government ownership or control of the steel industry have not been confined to the single order of seizure but to arguments hinting at nationalization. It was the short-lived attempt at nationalization which almost wrecked the steel industry in Great Britain.

MAYBE THE stock-market break will have a sobering influence on the Democratic party in the selection of a Presidential candidate. Adlai Stevenson originally had a conservative background but in 1952 for expediency's sake he made common cause with the radicals and especially the labor-union politicians. Governor Averell Harriman of New York inherited a fortune made by his father, the railroad pioneer, and himself spent a large part of his life in the financial and business district in New York city. He ought to know the limits to which radicalism can be accepted under the guise of "liberalism" and still retain in some measure the confidence of business. In many respects he would make a better candidate for the Democrats in these times than Stevenson. At least Harriman has kept aloof from the "Americans for Democratic Action."

But the handwriting on the wall is plain. Unless the next Congress can prove themselves to be true friends of the private-enterprise system and remove the widespread belief that the Democratic leadership of today is the potential enemy of business, the Republicans will have an easy victory in November 1956 in winning not only the White House but both Houses of Congress no matter whom they nominate. A nation with 30,000,000 families earning incomes over $3,000 a year isn't going to risk a panic or a depression or a period of socialistic experimentation that can halt business expansion and produce unemployment.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Rome—That mysterious State Department of ours is still a house divided and, as Frances Knight recently proved in a series of news-pics, heavily infested with rats and termites. Frances is the beautiful woman with the studied expression of inanity who slipped into the Passport Bureau when Mrs. Ruth Shipley retired. This mask of hers, concealed for 20 years the patriotic purpose and special intelligence of a girl who might well have been called an undercover American in the Roosevelt-Truman bureaucracy.

The Rome Embassy and the United States Information Service, which is just another of a long series of parasitic tumors on our foreign relations, are an embarrassing spectacle. Clare Booth Luce is the ambassador, but protocol is strange so Henry Luce's friend, Eisenhower, gave him the title of minister so that he could qualify as an official, however, synthetic and pathetic, for invitations to dinners and ribbon-cuttings which he delights in. Otherwise, he could go only as the ambassaodr's husband and sit back by the kitchen door.

The Italians have been under Clare's thumb in economic phases and they have had to contain there sense of affront at Ike for sending a female to their capital. But they have a droll, Latin humor about sex and the status of the husband in the domestic situation and in many little ways, a certain inflection of a word or a gesture of a few fingers, they express themselves. We have no repartee to cope with them. We are dead in the sea. If only Henry, Clare and Ike were the butt of this that would serve them right. But the American Sisterhood of Sovereign Republics and our people are also on the receiving end. However, many Americans resident in Rome and, secretly, some of the bureaucrats in Clare's own political plant, enjoy the spectacle as much as the Italians, realizing that Clare could have spared little China-boy this unique distinctio. and that Henry is still so sophomoric that he seems to think he is a great fellow by marriage. "But you know the way of the Greek myths. Never kick a toad. It may turn out to be a god or a king. This guy was Henry Luce."

And so, a few days ago in Rome, at a solemn, forlorn little huddle in an ugly stone room in a 16th century castle, the Palazzo Antici-Mattei, Henry Luce, made a little speech on the cultural value of religion in America. But Henry does the best he can.

She picked up the phone and found a friend

Her little son fell. His hand crashed through the window. Blood streamed from the long, deep gash.

Almost instinctively, she reached for the telephone. Then she remembered they were on vacation. She didn't know a doctor. She knew no one who was near enough to help.

But someone was near. The telephone operator who listened to her story. Who rang one doctor, then another—and on the fourth try found one who was in. The operator who calmed her, reassured her, and promised, "I'll stay on the line in case you need me."

The doctor came. In time the cut healed. And the rest of their vacation was perfect — thanks to the friend she found when she picked up the phone.

There's little we can add to this story. It is, we believe, a good example of the "spirit of service" that typifies telephone folks everywhere—the spirit that helps to make your telephone service so friendly—so fast, clear and dependable always. New York Telephone Company.

Flying for Fun

Tampa, Fla. (AP)—It's rather like the postman taking a long walk on his day off, but pilots of the speedy Stratojet bombers at MacDill Air Force Base here have a hobby of flying light planes. The SAC (Strategic Air Command) Aero Club at MacDill owns four light planes, one of them a four-seater. Aero Club members rent the craft on an hourly basis or by the week if a flier can take off that long. Money from the plane rentals keeps up the planes and sweetens the kitty for purchase of more light craft.

Price of Indiana Farmland

The price of Indiana farm land has reached an all time high —an average of about $190 an acre compared to about $179 a year ago, says a Purdue University economist, J. H. Atkinson.

Automation in School

Dayton, Ohio (AP) — Automation has hit the grade school student, at least in Dayton. Time was when they could break loose to go clean the erasers. Now machines do the job. School officials here say most buildings now have standard electric eraser cleaners or easily operated vacuum machines made by shop teachers or maintenance crews. Now the chalk dust goes into the vacuum bag, instead of Junior's lungs. And gone are the days when, if you were lucky enough to get the assignment, you could adjourn to the fire escape to beat the chalk out of the erasers.

Lane Resignation Regretfully Accepted

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—The resignation of Samuel M. Lane as executive director and general counsel of the Waterfront Commission of New York Harbor was accepted wtih regret yesterday by the two-man commission.

Lane, 46, resigned to return to private law practice.

The commissioners, Lt. Gen. George P. Hays (ret.) of New York and Joseph Weintraub of New Jersey, named Irving Slonim, assistant general counsel to the commission, to take over Lane's duties until a successor to Lane is selected.

The commissioners told Lane in a letter that "your departure is a distinct loss . . . you have served with great ability and energy. . . . The people of New York and New Jersey are indebted to you."

Cases Heard Here In County Court

Louis M. Everett, 31, of Haskell, N. J., was given a year in jail Tuesday afternoon by County Judge William A. Kelly on a plea of guilty to resisting an officer. Everett has a felony record in New Jersey and was permitted to plead to the misdemeanor portion of the indictment. He was also charged with assault, second degree.

In accepting the plea Assistant District Attorney John Schick asked the court to impose a jail sentence. He said the defendant had been given consideration in accepting the plea of guilty to violation of Section 1851 of the Penal Law instead of the more serious charge. Seymour Werbalowsky appeared for the defendant and moved for dismissal of the assault charge. It was dismissed. Everett was charged with having assaulted a police officer at Rosendale and resisting arrest. He was given credit for the time already served in jail.

Emanuel J. Diliberto of Highland, charged with giving a bad check, was given a six months suspended jail sentence. Stewart T. Schantz appeared for the defendant and asked the court to show leniency. Diliberto was charged with having given a bad check to Canfield Supply Company of Kingston. He entered a plea of guilty to petit larceny and the original grand larceny charge was dismissed. Restitution has been made and the complainant asked that no further prosecution be had. Bail was exonerated.

Richard Woolsey of Rifton who damaged property while driving a car which he had allegedly taken without permission, was given six months suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for that period. Harry Gold appeared for Woolsey and asked that the first and second count of the indictment be dismissed. Woolsey was charged with larceny for the taking of the car, but entered a plea of guilty to leaving the scene of an accident. He promised as one of the conditions of probation to pay $125 damages.

Court recessed until Thursday at 2 p. m. without a jury, all jurors having been discharged for the term.

Market Continues Up

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—The stock market today continued its comeback from Monday's big break with renewed vigor. Prices ran higher in key stocks from $1 to $4 a share as buying and selling orders churned the market. There were some losers here and there. The ticker tape, which normally reports transactions within seconds, could not keep up with the rapid pace and ran as much as 3 minutes late but caught up after the first hour.

To Support Knight

Sacramento, Calif., Sept. 28 (AP)—California Republican leaders indicated informally today they'll support Gov. Goodwin J. Knight in his declared intention to lead the state's vote-heavy delegation to the party's 1956 national convention. Their position, as shown by a telephone survey, could offer a serious obstacle to White House hopes of California's Richard M. Nixon in the event President Eisenhower decides not to run again.

Reds Walk Out

United Nations, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and other top Communist delegates stalked from the UN Assembly chamber today when Nationalist China's foreign minister, George Yeh, took the floor for a policy speech. Indian Delegate V. K. Krishna Menon also left the room as Yeh began his declaration in which he told the assembly that any improvement in East-West relations is not due to Soviet goodwill. It is due, he said, "to the policy of strength adopted by the free world."

Bright Light

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP)—City police were summoned to the grand opening of a new North Broadway service station after an air force pilot complained that he almost landed on the station's apron. Mistook the searchlight's beam for a ceiling light at McGhee Tyson Air Force Base, he said. "That's okay," said the station owner when police ordered him to douse the light. "I had more business than I could take care of anyway."

Applications are now available for the navy's 10th competitive examination for its nation-wide NROTC college training program, according to a recent announcement by the Navy Department. The mental examination is scheduled for December 10, 1955, and is open to all high school seniors and graduates who can qualify. The deadline for receipt of all applications is Nov. 19, 1955, the navy stated. Successful candidates will start their naval careers in college and universities across the country in 1956, with substantial assistance from the government. After a normal college education, graduates will be commissioned in the regular navy or marine corps, for active duty with the fleet throughout the world. For those who apply and qualify, immediate assignment to flight training will open new careers in naval aviation.

Male citizens of the United States between the ages of 17 and 21 are eligible to apply for the aptitude test. Persons attaining a qualifying score will be given the navy's rigid midshipman physical examination in competition, approximately 1,800 young men will be selected for appointment to the program and college of their choice.

College men enrolled in the Regular NROTC program will spend their summers on training cruises with the fleet, and will receive $600 annual retainer pay until commissioned. In addition to the normal college curriculum, the midshipmen will study a planned course in naval science. All tuitions, fees, and books will be furnished by the navy.

Applications for this career program are available from Mrs. Virginia Igou, guidance counselor at the Wallkill Central School or from the nearest U. S. Navy Recruiting Station.

Mrs. Igou has been provided with specific information concerning the NROTC program and will furnish information bulletins to any interested student.

Shell Game

Holland, Mich. (AP)—Pranks by inmates of the Holland city jail have backfired. Prisoners used to have the privilege of reloading practice bullets for the police pistol team. But twice within a week .38 caliber revolvers blew up in the hands of officers firing at targets. Police traced the trouble to an overload of powder in the shells. After hearing giggling in a cellblock, the officers decided to reload their own shells hereafter.

$14,334 Donated To Cancer Drive

The Ulster county unit of the American Cancer Society has been pleased to cooperate with the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association in the present mass X-ray program throughout Ulster county, it was announced today. The unit was instrumental in cooperating by furnishing volunteers in some of the various towns where the X-rays were taken. This is the second year in which this close cooperation between these two great organizations has operated successfully.

The president of the Ulster County Unit of the American Cancer Society has received the first quarterly check from the New York State Division of the American Cancer Society as a GRANT-IN-AID for the Ulster County Tumor Clinic. The total amount is $5,000 and represents a fraction of the amount of money collected during the Cancer Crusade Campaign of 1955. This is the fifth check for this amount that has been received. Prior to these checks, two donations, one of $10,000 and one of $9,000 were received from the New York State Division. This is a total of $44,000 received by the Tumor Clinic since it was inaugurated Oct. 20, 1949.

A REPORT dated Sept. 14, 1955, contains the totals in money received during the 1955 Cancer Crusade. The quota for Ulster county was $20,000 and the collections received and reported under date of September 14, 1955, was $14,334.32, which was 71.1 per cent of the quota set by the New York State Division for Ulster county. The total collections in the state were $1,071,764.84 or 93 per cent of the total. Only 30 per cent of the counties in the state exceeded their quota. Three counties, members of the New York State Division in the Hudson Valley, met the quota. It is hoped that in the 1956 campaign enough money will be received by the Ulster County Unit from the people of Ulster county to wipe out the present deficit and be well above the hundred per cent of the quota for next year.

Richmond, Ind. (AP) — Most fires he goes to are too big but fireman Harvey Noble can eat the little ones. Noble, with the Richmond Fire Department 10 years, can put a flaming torch in his mouth without being burned, at least only rarely. He says an old carnival man taught him the fire-eating trick 18 years ago. When things get dull down at central fire house, the gang can always gather round and watch Noble gobble the little fires.

Delayed Bargain

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP)—Claude Wilhite, 65, and his wife spent the night in an auto at Bill Smith's used car lot in order to buy it for $1.99. Smith advertised four cars for sale from 99 cents to $1.99. Told that the sale didn't begin until 8 a. m. the next day, the Wilhites said "We'll wait," climbed in a 1947 model spent the night, and drove it off in the morning.

GOING, GOING, GONE—A house divided cannot stand, and that's why this four-story tenement torn by floodwaters in Winsted, Conn., had to fall. Listing dangerously as citizens of Winsted look on, the wracked tenement was condemned and a wrecking crew called in. A blow from a crane (left) sends the half-house toppling to the ground (center) and moments later it is reduced to rubble (right). Ironically, the building toppled into the banks of the same river that flooded and caused the tenement's destruction—the Mad River, now little more than a tame stream.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—The stock market jumped ahead today in its second recovery session following Monday's break.

By early afternoon today, the market had retracted an estimated 40 per cent of the Monday decline started by news of the President's illness.

Prices were up 1 to around 4 points at the best today. When the peak prices had been reached, however, there was a tendency to take quick profits. Prices backed down moderately from their tops, but no large minus signs appeared.

Top Democrats Meet

Austin, Tex., Sept. 28 (AP)—Three of the Democratic party's biggest wheels meet here today for private talks which could pack strong political significance. House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson will both welcome Adlai Stevenson on a visit to Texas for a lecture billed in advance as non-partisan. Stevenson as the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate was swept under in the Dwight D. Eisenhower landslide that carried Texas for the GOP for the second time in a century.

Motion Is Filed By Ulster in Howell Rain Case

New York, Sept. 27 (AP)—Ulster county filed a motion in Supreme Court today to examine New York city officials in connection with a $387,500 damage suit brought by the upstate county as a result of the "rain making" experiment headed by Dr. Wallace E. Howell some five years ago.

In an affidavit, Arthur A. Davis, Jr., county attorney, said that because the experiments took place in various parts of his county and in the southeasterly part of the state, "the plaintiff is unable to find eyewitnesses who are capable of telling exactly what employes of the city of New York did."

The upstate official said "the employes of the city of New York alone are familiar with exactly what transpired."

The suit alleges that because of the "wrongful, unlawful, negligent and reckless acts" of the city, numerous roads and bridges in the upstate county were damaged by the rain-making experiments which took place in November, 1950.

The city has entered a general denial.

Hearing on the motion was set for Friday at 10 a. m.

Snider Belts

playing his ninth series, as his starting shortstop.

DODGER MANAGER Walter Alston stuck with the lineup he announced last Sunday. Carl Furillo, who missed a couple of days of pre-series practice with a cold and sinus trouble, took his regular place in right field.

Asked about Mantle's condition, Stengel said, "he said he couldn't tell me until game time if it would be possible to play, so—that's the lineup."

Commissioner Ford Frick, who arrived early to inspect the field, was satisfied with its condition.

FRICK REVEALED that he had warned both managers yesterday against any prolonged arguments on the field. He said the managers were told he would not permit any protests on ball and strike decisions. It also was learned that players who argue over-long with the umpires will be subjected to a $250 fine.

The starting lineups:

Brooklyn	New York
Gilliam, lf	Bauer, rf
Reese, ss	McDougald, 3b
Snider, cf	Noren, cf
Campanella, c	Berra, c
Furillo, rf	Collins, 1b
Hodges, 1b	Howard, lf
Robinson, 3b	Martin, 2b
Zimmer, 2b	Rizzuto, ss
Newcombe, p	Ford, p

Umpires — Summers (AL), plate; Ballanfant (NL), 1b; Honochick (AL), 2b; Descoli (NL), 3b; Flaherty (AL), lf; Donatelli (NL), rf.

BOTH MANAGERS announced tomorrow's pitchers for the second game at the Stadium before the start of the opener. Tommy Byrne (16-5), another lefthander, will go for the Yanks and Billy Loes (10-4), a second straight righthander, will work for the Dodgers.

The sun had dried up the wet spots on the field by the time the Dodgers started their batting practice. The 14,000 bleacher seats were well filled and hundreds paid $4.20 each to stand behind the reserved grandstand seats.

Neither team scored in the first inning although each got a man on base. Peewee Reese singled for Brooklyn but was left on first as Duke Snider fanned and Roy Campanella popped out. Hank Bauer opened the Yankee half by beating out a bunt, but Gil McDougald struck out and Irv Noren grounded into a double play.

Cases Heard Here In County Court

Louis M. Everett, 31, of Haskell, N. J., was given a year in jail Tuesday afternoon by County Judge William A. Kelly on a plea of guilty to resisting an officer. Everett has a felony record in New Jersey and was permitted to plead to the misdemeanor portion of the indictment. He was also charged with assault, second degree.

In accepting the plea Assistant District Attorney John Schick asked the court to impose a jail sentence. He said the defendant had been given consideration in accepting the plea of guilty to violation of Section 1851 of the Penal Law instead of the more serious charge. Seymour Werbalowsky appeared for the defendant and moved for dismissal of the assault charge. It was dismissed. Everett was charged with having assaulted a police officer at Rosendale and resisting arrest. He was given credit for the time already served in jail.

Emanuel J. Diliberto of Highland, charged with giving a bad check, was given a six months suspended jail sentence. Stewart T. Schantz appeared for the defendant and asked the court to show leniency. Diliberto was charged with having given a bad check to Canfield Supply Company of Kingston. He entered a plea of guilty to petit larceny and the original grand larceny charge was dismissed. Restitution has been made and the complainant asked that no further prosecution be had. Bail was exonerated.

Richard Woolsey of Rifton who damaged property while driving a car which he had allegedly taken without permission, was given six months suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for that period. Harry Gold appeared for Woolsey and asked that the first and second count of the indictment be dismissed. Woolsey was charged with larceny for the taking of the car, but entered a plea of guilty to leaving the scene of an accident. He promised as one of the conditions of probation to pay $125 damages.

Court recessed until Thursday at 2 p. m. without a jury, all jurors having been discharged for the term.

Market Continues Up

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—The stock market today continued its comeback from Monday's big break with renewed vigor. Prices ran higher in key stocks from $1 to $4 a share as buying and selling orders churned the market. There were some losers here and there. The ticker tape, which normally reports transactions within seconds, could not keep up with the rapid pace and ran as much as 3 minutes late but caught up after the first hour.

To Support Knight

Sacramento, Calif., Sept. 28 (AP)—California Republican leaders indicated informally today they'll support Gov. Goodwin J. Knight in his declared intention to lead the state's vote-heavy delegation to the party's 1956 national convention. Their position, as shown by a telephone survey, could offer a serious obstacle to White House hopes of California's Richard M. Nixon in the event President Eisenhower decides not to run again.

Reds Walk Out

United Nations, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and other top Communist delegates stalked from the UN Assembly chamber today when Nationalist China's foreign minister, George Yeh, took the floor for a policy speech. Indian Delegate V. K. Krishna Menon also left the room as Yeh began his declaration in which he told the assembly that any improvement in East-West relations is not due to Soviet goodwill. It is due, he said, "to the policy of strength adopted by the free world."

Bright Light

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP)—City police were summoned to the grand opening of a new North Broadway service station after an air force pilot complained that he almost landed on the station's apron. Mistook the searchlight's beam for a ceiling light at McGhee Tyson Air Force Base, he said. "That's okay," said the station owner when police ordered him to douse the light. "I had more business than I could take care of anyway."

Applications are now available for the navy's 10th competitive examination for its nation-wide NROTC college training program, according to a recent announcement by the Navy Department. The mental examination is scheduled for December 10, 1955, and is open to all high school seniors and graduates who can qualify. The deadline for receipt of all applications is Nov. 19, 1955, the navy stated. Successful candidates will start their naval careers in college and universities across the country in 1956, with substantial assistance from the government. After a normal college education, graduates will be commissioned in the regular navy or marine corps, for active duty with the fleet throughout the world. For those who apply and qualify, immediate assignment to flight training will open new careers in naval aviation.

Male citizens of the United States between the ages of 17 and 21 are eligible to apply for the aptitude test. Persons attaining a qualifying score will be given the navy's rigid midshipman physical examination in competition, approximately 1,800 young men will be selected for appointment to the program and college of their choice.

College men enrolled in the Regular NROTC program will spend their summers on training cruises with the fleet, and will receive $600 annual retainer pay until commissioned. In addition to the normal college curriculum, the midshipmen will study a planned course in naval science. All tuitions, fees, and books will be furnished by the navy.

Applications for this career program are available from Mrs. Virginia Igou, guidance counselor at the Wallkill Central School or from the nearest U. S. Navy Recruiting Station.

Mrs. Igou has been provided with specific information concerning the NROTC program and will furnish information bulletins to any interested student.

Shell Game

Holland, Mich. (AP)—Pranks by inmates of the Holland city jail have backfired. Prisoners used to have the privilege of reloading practice bullets for the police pistol team. But twice within a week .38 caliber revolvers blew up in the hands of officers firing at targets. Police traced the trouble to an overload of powder in the shells. After hearing giggling in a cellblock, the officers decided to reload their own shells hereafter.

$14,334 Donated To Cancer Drive

The Ulster county unit of the American Cancer Society has been pleased to cooperate with the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association in the present mass X-ray program throughout Ulster county, it was announced today. The unit was instrumental in cooperating by furnishing volunteers in some of the various towns where the X-rays were taken. This is the second year in which this close cooperation between these two great organizations has operated successfully.

The president of the Ulster County Unit of the American Cancer Society has received the first quarterly check from the New York State Division of the American Cancer Society as a GRANT-IN-AID for the Ulster County Tumor Clinic. The total amount is $5,000 and represents a fraction of the amount of money collected during the Cancer Crusade Campaign of 1955. This is the fifth check for this amount that has been received. Prior to these checks, two donations, one of $10,000 and one of $9,000 were received from the New York State Division. This is a total of $44,000 received by the Tumor Clinic since it was inaugurated Oct. 20, 1949.

A REPORT dated Sept. 14, 1955, contains the totals in money received during the 1955 Cancer Crusade. The quota for Ulster county was $20,000 and the collections received and reported under date of September 14, 1955, was $14,334.32, which was 71.1 per cent of the quota set by the New York State Division for Ulster county. The total collections in the state were $1,071,764.84 or 93 per cent of the total. Only 30 per cent of the counties in the state exceeded their quota. Three counties, members of the New York State Division in the Hudson Valley, met the quota. It is hoped that in the 1956 campaign enough money will be received by the Ulster County Unit from the people of Ulster county to wipe out the present deficit and be well above the hundred per cent of the quota for next year.

Richmond, Ind. (AP) — Most fires he goes to are too big but fireman Harvey Noble can eat the little ones. Noble, with the Richmond Fire Department 10 years, can put a flaming torch in his mouth without being burned, at least only rarely. He says an old carnival man taught him the fire-eating trick 18 years ago. When things get dull down at central fire house, the gang can always gather round and watch Noble gobble the little fires.

Delayed Bargain

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP)—Claude Wilhite, 65, and his wife spent the night in an auto at Bill Smith's used car lot in order to buy it for $1.99. Smith advertised four cars for sale from 99 cents to $1.99. Told that the sale didn't begin until 8 a. m. the next day, the Wilhites said "We'll wait," climbed in a 1947 model spent the night, and drove it off in the morning.

GOING, GOING, GONE—A house divided cannot stand, and that's why this four-story tenement torn by floodwaters in Winsted, Conn., had to fall. Listing dangerously as citizens of Winsted look on, the wracked tenement was condemned and a wrecking crew called in. A blow from a crane (left) sends the half-house toppling to the ground (center) and moments later it is reduced to rubble (right). Ironically, the building toppled into the banks of the same river that flooded and caused the tenement's destruction—the Mad River, now little more than a tame stream.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—The stock market jumped ahead today in its second recovery session following Monday's break.

By early afternoon today, the market had retracted an estimated 40 per cent of the Monday decline started by news of the President's illness.

Prices were up 1 to around 4 points at the best today. When the peak prices had been reached, however, there was a tendency to take quick profits. Prices backed down moderately from their tops, but no large minus signs appeared.

Top Democrats Meet

Austin, Tex., Sept. 28 (AP)—Three of the Democratic party's biggest wheels meet here today for private talks which could pack strong political significance. House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson will both welcome Adlai Stevenson on a visit to Texas for a lecture billed in advance as non-partisan. Stevenson as the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate was swept under in the Dwight D. Eisenhower landslide that carried Texas for the GOP for the second time in a century.

Motion Is Filed By Ulster in Howell Rain Case

New York, Sept. 27 (AP)—Ulster county filed a motion in Supreme Court today to examine New York city officials in connection with a $387,500 damage suit brought by the upstate county as a result of the "rain making" experiment headed by Dr. Wallace E. Howell some five years ago.

In an affidavit, Arthur A. Davis, Jr., county attorney, said that because the experiments took place in various parts of his county and in the southeasterly part of the state, "the plaintiff is unable to find eyewitnesses who are capable of telling exactly what employes of the city of New York did."

The upstate official said "the employes of the city of New York alone are familiar with exactly what transpired."

The suit alleges that because of the "wrongful, unlawful, negligent and reckless acts" of the city, numerous roads and bridges in the upstate county were damaged by the rain-making experiments which took place in November, 1950.

The city has entered a general denial.

Hearing on the motion was set for Friday at 10 a. m.

Snider Belts

playing his ninth series, as his starting shortstop.

DODGER MANAGER Walter Alston stuck with the lineup he announced last Sunday. Carl Furillo, who missed a couple of days of pre-series practice with a cold and sinus trouble, took his regular place in right field.

Asked about Mantle's condition, Stengel said, "he said he couldn't tell me until game time if it would be possible to play, so—that's the lineup."

Commissioner Ford Frick, who arrived early to inspect the field, was satisfied with its condition.

FRICK REVEALED that he had warned both managers yesterday against any prolonged arguments on the field. He said the managers were told he would not permit any protests on ball and strike decisions. It also was learned that players who argue over-long with the umpires will be subjected to a $250 fine.

The starting lineups:

Brooklyn	New York
Gilliam, lf	Bauer, rf
Reese, ss	McDougald, 3b
Snider, cf	Noren, cf
Campanella, c	Berra, c
Furillo, rf	Collins, 1b
Hodges, 1b	Howard, lf
Robinson, 3b	Martin, 2b
Zimmer, 2b	Rizzuto, ss
Newcombe, p	Ford, p

Umpires — Summers (AL), plate; Ballanfant (NL), 1b; Honochick (AL), 2b; Descoli (NL), 3b; Flaherty (AL), lf; Donatelli (NL), rf.

BOTH MANAGERS announced tomorrow's pitchers for the second game at the Stadium before the start of the opener. Tommy Byrne (16-5), another lefthander, will go for the Yanks and Billy Loes (10-4), a second straight righthander, will work for the Dodgers.

The sun had dried up the wet spots on the field by the time the Dodgers started their batting practice. The 14,000 bleacher seats were well filled and hundreds paid $4.20 each to stand behind the reserved grandstand seats.

Neither team scored in the first inning although each got a man on base. Peewee Reese singled for Brooklyn but was left on first as Duke Snider fanned and Roy Campanella popped out. Hank Bauer opened the Yankee half by beating out a bunt, but Gil McDougald struck out and Irv Noren grounded into a double play.

Police Hunt Killer Of De Stefano, Body in Car Trunk

Chicago, Sept. 28 (AP)—Police hunted today for the slayer of Michael De Stefano, 47-year-old ex-convict who police say may have been implicated in passing Greenlease ransom money.

De Stefano was found shot to death yesterday in the trunk of his expensive automobile a few blocks from his west side home. He had been shot five times.

POLICE ESTIMATED he had been dead 12 to 15 hours when his body was found after an anonymous caller told police to go to the scene. The absence of blood in the car trunk, police said, indicated De Stefano had been shot elsewhere, then stuffed in the car trunk.

De Stefano was an associate of Dominick Christiano, 37, also a former convict, who was slain in gang style on U. S. 66 on Sept. 18. Christiano, 37, was shot six times by assassins who etched a dollar sign with bullets in the victim's back.

CHICAGO POLICE said both men had been under investigation by the FBI in connection with the Greenlease ransom money. The FBI declined comment.

About 50 of the bills from the ransom sum have turned up in the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

Police said De Stefano was a member of the notorious old West Side 42 gang some 25 years ago. In 1934 he and his brother, Frank, were sentenced to prison terms of 14 to 40 years for robbing a bank at Mauston, Wis. He served more than 10 years and in 1944 was turned over to the Illinois authorities to serve a sentence at Joliet Penitentiary for setting fire to a police squad car. He was released in 1947.

De Stefano, the father of three small children, had been employed as a laborer in the City Bureau of Electricity since 1949.

How Do You Present Child's Problems to Your Husband?

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

This summer, Mr. Price's office manager needed his help with a discipline problem. So she pared it down to its facts—and took it to him.

She said, "I think we need a new ruling on lunch time. Several of the younger typists have been prolonging it to linger in air-conditioned restaurants. It's understandable. On the other hand, it seems unfair to the other girls. What do you think?"

Mr. Price showed most helpful interest in this discipline problem. After asking several questions, he took action on it.

He does not love his office manager. He loves Mrs. Price.

However, to Mrs. Price's discipline problems, he gives no helpful interest at all. When she presents them to him, he either gets bored or angry.

But then, unlike his office manager, she never pares them down to their essential facts. She just throws them at him in a big, untidy muddle that mixes the facts up with her own unassorted feelings.

She presents a discipline problem like this: "Ed, look at this bill from Ransom's! Didn't I warn you that Lois was too young for her own charge account? She says you'll pay for it. I hope you do. I certainly won't. Never in my life did I hear of giving a 16-year-old girl her own charge account. But then you didn't listen to me. You never do. If you'd listened to me when I told you that Tom needed tutoring last summer, he wouldn't have failed this term. But you never . . . "

It is at this point that Mr. Price shouts, "Oh, for God's sake . . . " and refuses all help or interest in her discipline problem.

I can't say that I blame him. She's presented it so mixed up with her own problem of resentment at her husband, that he can't advise on one without advising on the other. Though, at the end of a hard day. Mr. Price may want to discuss Lois' abuse of her charge account, he's too tired to enter the subject of his wife's displeasure with him.

If Mary is neglecting her chores, that is a discipline problem. Our conviction that we're overburdened by chores of our own is another problem. If we present them mixed up to her father, he'll simply leave us alone with both of them.

In the business world, men learn to think clearly. They develop quick, accurate judgment of wasteful character traits. They become used to people who can separate facts from their feelings — and, though they are coy admitting it, expect the same competence from us.

So if your man seems bored by your children's problems, check your presentations. In them, you may find the same kind of double talk that has lost Mrs. Price the cooperation of her husband.

Two Teen-agers Admit Derailing Long Island Train

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Two teen-age boys have admitted in Federal Court that they attempted to derail a Long Island Railroad train. They will be sentenced Oct. 13.

The pair are William F. Hannigan, 18, and David A. Allex, 15, both of Queens.

Allex said "I am truly sorry," as the pair appeared before Federal Judge Mortimer W. Byers yesterday in Brooklyn.

Hannigan, who pleaded guilty to a train wreck charge, could be sentenced up to 10 years in prison and a $20,000 fine.

Allex, who was adjudged a juvenile delinquent, could be kept in custody in a juvenile home for as long as 6 years, or until he reached 21.

A train was damaged but not derailed when it struck a steel beam on a track in Queens on the night of Aug. 23.

In court, Allex testified that Hannigan asked him: "Do you want to stop a train?" Allex said he replied: "Yes, but how?"

The boy said Hannigan then led him to a nearby construction project, where they obtained the beam, and they put it on the track.

Richmond, Va. (AP) — A workman stepped up just as dignitaries at a hospital cornerstone laying were about to seal a metal box to stow away for posterity. "My I put in my two cents worth," he said. And he did. He dropped in two pennies, soldered back to back so they always came up heads. "For luck," he observed and went about his business.

Police Hunt Killer Of De Stefano, Body in Car Trunk

Chicago, Sept. 28 (AP)—Police hunted today for the slayer of Michael De Stefano, 47-year-old ex-convict who police say may have been implicated in passing Greenlease ransom money.

De Stefano was found shot to death yesterday in the trunk of his expensive automobile a few blocks from his west side home. He had been shot five times.

POLICE ESTIMATED he had been dead 12 to 15 hours when his body was found after an anonymous caller told police to go to the scene. The absence of blood in the car trunk, police said, indicated De Stefano had been shot elsewhere, then stuffed in the car trunk.

De Stefano was an associate of Dominick Christiano, 37, also a former convict, who was slain in gang style on U. S. 66 on Sept. 18. Christiano, 37, was shot six times by assassins who etched a dollar sign with bullets in the victim's back.

CHICAGO POLICE said both men had been under investigation by the FBI in connection with the Greenlease ransom money. The FBI declined comment.

About 50 of the bills from the ransom sum have turned up in the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

Police said De Stefano was a member of the notorious old West Side 42 gang some 25 years ago. In 1934 he and his brother, Frank, were sentenced to prison terms of 14 to 40 years for robbing a bank at Mauston, Wis. He served more than 10 years and in 1944 was turned over to the Illinois authorities to serve a sentence at Joliet Penitentiary for setting fire to a police squad car. He was released in 1947.

De Stefano, the father of three small children, had been employed as a laborer in the City Bureau of Electricity since 1949.

Indian Popcorn

Popcorn was introduced to the American colonists at their first Thanksgiving feast, when an Indian brought a deerskin bag containing several bushels of popped corn.

DANIEL BOONE — By Russ Winterbotham and Ralph Lane

The Mature Parent

How Do You Present Child's Problems to Your Husband?

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

This summer, Mr. Price's office manager needed his help with a discipline problem. So she pared it down to its facts—and took it to him.

She said, "I think we need a new ruling on lunch time. Several of the younger typists have been prolonging it to linger in air-conditioned restaurants. It's understandable. On the other hand, it seems unfair to the other girls. What do you think?"

Mr. Price showed most helpful interest in this discipline problem. After asking several questions, he took action on it.

He does not love his office manager. He loves Mrs. Price.

However, to Mrs. Price's discipline problems, he gives no helpful interest at all. When she presents them to him, he either gets bored or angry.

But then, unlike his office manager, she never pares them down to their essential facts. She just throws them at him in a big, untidy muddle that mixes the facts up with her own unassorted feelings.

She presents a discipline problem like this: "Ed, look at this bill from Ransom's! Didn't I warn you that Lois was too young for her own charge account? She says you'll pay for it. I hope you do. I certainly won't. Never in my life did I hear of giving a 16-year-old girl her own charge account. But then you didn't listen to me. You never do. If you'd listened to me when I told you that Tom needed tutoring last summer, he wouldn't have failed this term. But you never . . . "

It is at this point that Mr. Price shouts, "Oh, for God's sake . . . " and refuses all help or interest in her discipline problem.

I can't say that I blame him. She's presented it so mixed up with her own problem of resentment at her husband, that he can't advise on one without advising on the other. Though, at the end of a hard day. Mr. Price may want to discuss Lois' abuse of her charge account, he's too tired to enter the subject of his wife's displeasure with him.

If Mary is neglecting her chores, that is a discipline problem. Our conviction that we're overburdened by chores of our own is another problem. If we present them mixed up to her father, he'll simply leave us alone with both of them.

In the business world, men learn to think clearly. They develop quick, accurate judgment of wasteful character traits. They become used to people who can separate facts from their feelings — and, though they are coy admitting it, expect the same competence from us.

So if your man seems bored by your children's problems, check your presentations. In them, you may find the same kind of double talk that has lost Mrs. Price the cooperation of her husband.

Independence Day

Two Teen-agers Admit Derailing Long Island Train

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Two teen-age boys have admitted in Federal Court that they attempted to derail a Long Island Railroad train. They will be sentenced Oct. 13.

The pair are William F. Hannigan, 18, and David A. Allex, 15, both of Queens.

Allex said "I am truly sorry," as the pair appeared before Federal Judge Mortimer W. Byers yesterday in Brooklyn.

Hannigan, who pleaded guilty to a train wreck charge, could be sentenced up to 10 years in prison and a $20,000 fine.

Allex, who was adjudged a juvenile delinquent, could be kept in custody in a juvenile home for as long as 6 years, or until he reached 21.

A train was damaged but not derailed when it struck a steel beam on a track in Queens on the night of Aug. 23.

In court, Allex testified that Hannigan asked him: "Do you want to stop a train?" Allex said he replied: "Yes, but how?"

The boy said Hannigan then led him to a nearby construction project, where they obtained the beam, and they put it on the track.

Heads for Luck

Richmond, Va. (AP)—A workman stepped up just as dignitaries at a hospital cornerstone laying were about to seal a metal box to stow away for posterity. "My I put in my two cents worth," he said. And he did. He dropped in two pennies, soldered back to back so they always came up heads. "For luck," he observed and went about his business.

Plaster Heads

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP)—Paul Brown of Neptune Beach takes a busman's holiday every day. He's a plasterer by trade—and his hobby is working with plaster. He spends much of after work hours casting African masks—putting in plaster what the Africans make of wood. Brown tries to catch in the characteristic head types of different tribes what he thinks may be a spiritual theme such as might be caught in music or painting. He mounts them on expanded metal—a wire mesh—and frames them in shadow boxes.

Combine Meat Balls With Shredded Coconut

MEAT BALLS combined with new shredded coconut is a tasty West Coast treat for family and friends.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Here's a novel combination—meat balls and the new shredded coconut. Mrs. Harry Schrey of Monrovia, Calif., thought it up. She says not only she, her husband and three little boys rate it "super," but her guests do, also.

Meat Balls West Coast
(Makes 4 servings)

Two cups sliced green peppers, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 egg, 1 pound ground beef, ¾ to 1 cup new shredded coconut, ⅔ cup oil, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 small clove garlic, finely minced; 1 cup chicken broth (or 1 chicken bouillon cube dissolved in 1 cup of boiling water), 1 1/3 cups (5-ounce package) packaged precooked rice, ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups boiling water, 2½ tablespoons cornstarch, 1 tablespoon soy sauce, ½ cup vinegar, ½ cup sugar, 1 cup fresh orange sections.

Cook green peppers in small amount of salted water 2 to 3 minutes. Drain and set aside. Mix together flour and ½ teaspoon salt. Pepper and combine with egg to make a batter. Shape ground beef into 16 small balls. Thoroughly coat meat balls with batter, then roll in coconut.

Heat oil and 1 teaspoon of salt in skillet. Add minced garlic. Drop meat balls, one at a time, into hot oil in skillet and brown lightly on all sides. Remove all but 1 tablespoon of the fat. Add 1/3 cup of the chicken broth. Cover skillet tightly.

Simmer over low heat for about 10 minutes. Meanwhile, add packaged precooked rice and ½ teaspoon salt to boiling water in saucepan. Mix just to moisten all rice. Cover and remove from heat.

Let stand 13 minutes. Blend the cornstarch, soy sauce, vinegar and sugar with the remaining 2/3 cup broth. Pour into skillet over meat balls. Add green peppers and orange sections. Stir until the sauce is thickened, about 5 minutes. Arrange rice on platter and surround with meat balls and sauce.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Meat balls West Coast, fluffy rice, French bread, butter or margarine, mixed green salad, lemon juice and oil, fruit bowl, crackers and cheese, coffee, tea milk.

HEALTH FOR ALL

THE BABY SITTER

What do you know about your baby sitter?

You hire someone to come into your house and stay with your children while you take a well-deserved evening out. She plays with your children, gives them their supper, puts them to bed, carries them the glasses of water they demand before settling down. If the baby cries in the night, she picks it up and comforts it. For a few hours she's as close to your children as you normally are.

Of course, you know her. She's that elderly woman from down the block, or from the agency, or the teen-age daughter of your best friend. You know that she's reliable, that your instructions will be followed, that the children like her, that they are safe with her.

But are they safe with her? Are you sure that she doesn't have an infectious disease that might be passed on to your children? Are you as cautious about your baby sitter's health as about her character? Both are of vital importance to your children's welfare.

Of course, if the baby sitter arrived coughing and sneezing you'd send her home, sorry as you might be to miss your fun. But—tuberculosis has no warning symptoms in its early stages. Unless you know that your baby sitter has regular physical exams and a chest X-ray at least once a year, you can't be sure that your children will be safe with her.

Many older women, when asked about their health, will say proudly, "I haven't been to a doctor in years." It's nothing to boast about. Tuberculosis has no respect for age and gray hair. In fact, it is becoming increasingly a disease of older age.

You owe it to your children to inquire into the health of your baby sitter. And if she's offended? Well, they're your children, aren't they?

END "FOOD MONOTONY" DANGER with "Dog-licious" KASCO!

When your dog sniffs his food and turns away—WATCH OUT! "Food Monotony" may be getting him, and that can spell danger! If his appetite isn't satisfied, he's apt to go "food-hunting" in alleys, where poison, injury and disease may lurk.

SO FEED HIM KASCO AND KEEP HIM HOME—SAFE, HAPPY AND SATISFIED.

Kasco's big variety of different flavors—fish, liver, meat and vegetable products, cooked cereals and dried skimmed milk, plus many others, satisfies your dog's appetite . . . gives him pep, vitality, fine appearance and a happy disposition.

HIS EDUCATED NOSE...

Nature gave dogs a sharp sense of smell. For instance, Beagles can follow a rabbit by smell. Dogs use this sense of smell to recognize different "flavors" in their food.

Because Kasco Dog Food . . . a meal type . . . instantly absorbs the water you add, it quickly releases all the natural goodness, the enticing aromas your dog recognizes and likes so well. It becomes a tasty mixture of hamburger-like consistency.

Gravel-like or baked and pelleted types can't absorb water—can't release the natural flavors and aromas—the way Kasco meal does. Instead, they tend to become sticky, gummy masses . . . the kind of a food your dog soon becomes tired of. That's when you want to change to Kasco Dog Food and avoid the danger of "food monotony."

"FOOD MONOTONY" MAY BE THE BIGGEST COMPLAINT YOUR DOG HAS! Gravel-like, pelleted or baked dog foods—with their monotonous flavor—simply cannot give your dog the flavor variety he craves. Let your dog get a whiff of the natural goodness he'll find ONLY in Kasco and he'll dive into his bowl of Kasco meal as though it's the first real meal he's ever had!

Feed Kasco Dog Food—for natural variety your dog loves!

Nation's Stores Are Watched More Closely Than Stock Market

Consumers Are Answer To Economy

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Without minimizing the role of the stock market many businessmen hold that what happens in the next few weeks in the nation's stores will be more important to the economy than the daily ups and downs in stock prices.

Merchants have been getting a larger share of the public's money this year than last. They expect this yen to buy will continue into the Christmas season. They look for the biggest yule trade ever.

Some, however, warn that the public sometimes reacts to the psychology built up in the stock market. This could cause some people to reverse this year's habits and to start saving more and to start buying less and borrowing less.

HOW IMPORTANT this buying psychology is can be seen in the report of the Commerce Department that at the present stage of the economy an advance of only two per cent in consumer buying adds five billion dollars to total demand for goods and services in the United States.

This year the public as a whole has been saving only six cents of each dollar left over after taxes, and spending 94 cents of it. In the first half of 1954 the public was salting away eight cents of each dollar and spending 92 cents of it.

That two cents looks little until you apply it to the total personal income after taxes. Then add in the fact that the total of personal income has risen sharply this year, due to higher hourly wage scales and to longer work weeks.

THE TOTAL which consumers have been spending for new merchandise and services this year is thus boosted to an annual rate of 248 billion dollars.

The buying splurge is credited with having bolstered industrial production. This in turn has meant higher employment and incomes. The public's buying mood makes business men boost their inventories and causes industrialists to plan for new plants and to buy new equipment.

BUYING DROPPED off very little during the summer. It revived with cool weather and retail sales in September have been substantially ahead of last year.

Auto dealers report the best sales for any September as they rush to clear out 1955 models to make room for the new ones now starting to roll off production lines.

AUTO MAKERS say their plans for high production in the weeks just ahead and for huge plant expansion in the months and years ahead haven't been changed by President Eisenhower's illness.

Like most economists they stress the fundamental soundness of the nation's business health. And they see no reason why the average man should change his buying habits at this time.

Steel mills, hard pushed to fill new orders, are scheduling an operating rate this week of 96 per cent of rated capacity. This time last year they were operating at 70 per cent of capacity. And it was smaller then.

ALTHOUGH Americans are saving fewer pennies out of each dollar this year than last, the total of these pennies mounts up in the banks, and the total of savings continues to grow.

As one example, the National Assn. of Mutual Savings Banks says its 527 members report deposits rose by 122 million dollars in August and now stand at a new record of 27½ billion.

Market Break Hits Speculators

Harry C. France, Author of Investors' Forum column, writes the following on the current market break:

The market break following the announcement of President Eisenhower's illness is of more concern to speculators than to investors. Speculators buy the capital gains, investors for income.

As in times past, one event usually brings in more emotional selling than it should.

IT IS DOUBTFUL if the fundamental basis of America's present prosperity will be greatly changed by the President's illness. For investors to sell sound securities at this time is ill-advised, in my opinion.

Speculators, on the other hand, should govern their actions by the circumstances in which they find themselves. With margins at 70 per cent, a few calls for more money will go out. However, many speculators with large profits will cash some of them in.

It is a sort of bromide to say a buyer of stocks should sell when the market is high and buy when the market is low. The public usually does the reverse.

BUT IF I WERE an investor looking for sound securities, I would be inclined during the present selling period to buy stocks on the scale down.

I would rather buy good stocks now than sell them. If unsound business conditions should unhappily arise from this event, the long term implications would be inflationary and as a result, the dollar would suffer.

Family Price

Albuquerque, N. M. (AP)—One of New Mexico's top ringmen got trapped in his own business recently. Parley Jensen, New Mexico Stockman Magazine editor and a recognized ring expert at cattle auctions, took the wife to a furniture auction. He lost out on his first bid and told the Mrs. he would go no higher on the next item than $25. The bidding shot quickly to $20. It kept rising. Jensen finally got the furniture for $24. He discovered later he had been bidding against his wife who figured he had stopped at $20 and decided on her own to go higher.

Move Over!

Spring Valley, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. J. C. Mounts headed by bus for Fort Worth, Tex. to care for her daughter who had just had an operation. As she reached for her suitcase upon arriving in Texas, Mrs. Mounts fell from the upper deck of the bus, broke her leg. A half hour later she was in the hospital room with her daughter.

Jones Dairy in Modern Plant

Conducted Milk Business Here For 30 Years

A new year and a new Kingston enterprise were born on the morning of January 1, 1926 when Addison Jones, local dairy operator, delivered his first quart of milk. That was the inception of Jones Dairy, which today and every morning processes 4,000 quarts of milk for Jones Dairy customers and other milk dealers in Kingston, the Town of Ulster and the village of Port Ewen.

Nearing 30 years in the dairy business, Mr. Jones will open a completely new, modern dairy plant at 95 Cornell street within the next month. Between keeping those milk bottles quiet at the dawn hours, sponsoring seven bowling teams, a City League baseball team and serving as campaign director of the March of Dimes, he is a busy man.

THE PRESENT dairy was purchased from the operators of the Port Ewen Dairy. It was located at its present site, 23 Shufeldt street, where he has operated since 1926. At that time, the dairy had two routes which covered Kingston and Port Ewen with a distribution of 600 quarts daily. Equipment included a pasteurizing machine, one of two in the city that time.

The payroll included two employes. Two delivery trucks delivered dairy products. The growth of the dairy at 23 Shufeldt street has been marked by three physical additions to the plant, where ten employes now process milk for four retail routes, and one wholesale delivery route which includes distribution to schools, stores and merchandising establishments.

THE NEW JONES Dairy, located on a 160 by 120 lot, at the corner of Cornell street and Bruyn avenue, will contain a dairy store with a general line of dairy products such as milk, butter, cheese, ice cream, etc. It includes three pasteurizers, a Pure-Pak machine, which packages milk in paper containers, and a homogenized processing machine, all of which will make the dairy one of the most modern in the Hudson Valley.

Five trucks will deliver Jones Dairy milk from this establishment. All of the mlik, as Mr. Jones explains, is purchased from local producers.

Born in Chichester, Mr. Jones entered the dairy business after being employed as a foreman by the New York Telephone Company. He worked as a telephone man for 12 years. But the dairy business was always his ambition. For as a youngster, he delivered milk for Shultis' Farm in Phonenicia while attending school.

AN AVID baseball fan, Mr. Jones has been associated with bowling and baseball in this city over a long period of years as a sponsor and promoter. He was actively associated with organized baseball in this city and is still active as a bowler. A lifelong member of the Kingston Bowling Association, he is also a member of the board of the New York State Bowling Association.

If he had to make a choice between bowling and baseball he would choose the Brooklyn Dodgers. Mr. Jones has a hunch this is their year in the World Series.

Nation's Stores Are Watched More Closely Than Stock Market

Consumers Are Answer To Economy

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Without minimizing the role of the stock market many businessmen hold that what happens in the next few weeks in the nation's stores will be more important to the economy than the daily ups and downs in stock prices.

Merchants have been getting a larger share of the public's money this year than last. They expect this yen to buy will continue into the Christmas season. They look for the biggest yule trade ever.

Some, however, warn that the public sometimes reacts to the psychology built up in the stock market. This could cause some people to reverse this year's habits and to start saving more and to start buying less and borrowing less.

HOW IMPORTANT this buying psychology is can be seen in the report of the Commerce Department that at the present stage of the economy an advance of only two per cent in consumer buying adds five billion dollars to total demand for goods and services in the United States.

This year the public as a whole has been saving only six cents of each dollar left over after taxes, and spending 94 cents of it. In the first half of 1954 the public was salting away eight cents of each dollar and spending 92 cents of it.

That two cents looks little until you apply it to the total personal income after taxes. Then add in the fact that the total of personal income has risen sharply this year, due to higher hourly wage scales and to longer work weeks.

THE TOTAL which consumers have been spending for new merchandise and services this year is thus boosted to an annual rate of 248 billion dollars.

The buying splurge is credited with having bolstered industrial production. This in turn has meant higher employment and incomes. The public's buying mood makes business men boost their inventories and causes industrialists to plan for new plants and to buy new equipment.

BUYING DROPPED off very little during the summer. It revived with cool weather and retail sales in September have been substantially ahead of last year.

Auto dealers report the best sales for any September as they rush to clear out 1955 models to make room for the new ones now starting to roll off production lines.

AUTO MAKERS say their plans for high production in the weeks just ahead and for huge plant expansion in the months and years ahead haven't been changed by President Eisenhower's illness.

Like most economists they stress the fundamental soundness of the nation's business health. And they see no reason why the average man should change his buying habits at this time.

Steel mills, hard pushed to fill new orders, are scheduling an operating rate this week of 96 per cent of rated capacity. This time last year they were operating at 70 per cent of capacity. And it was smaller then.

ALTHOUGH Americans are saving fewer pennies out of each dollar this year than last, the total of these pennies mounts up in the banks, and the total of savings continues to grow.

As one example, the National Assn. of Mutual Savings Banks says its 527 members report deposits rose by 122 million dollars in August and now stand at a new record of 27½ billion.

Market Break Hits Speculators

Harry C. France, Author of Investors' Forum column, writes the following on the current market break:

The market break following the announcement of President Eisenhower's illness is of more concern to speculators than to investors. Speculators buy the capital gains, investors for income.

As in times past, one event usually brings in more emotional selling than it should.

IT IS DOUBTFUL if the fundamental basis of America's present prosperity will be greatly changed by the President's illness. For investors to sell sound securities at this time is ill-advised, in my opinion.

Speculators, on the other hand, should govern their actions by the circumstances in which they find themselves. With margins at 70 per cent, a few calls for more money will go out. However, many speculators with large profits will cash some of them in.

It is a sort of bromide to say a buyer of stocks should sell when the market is high and buy when the market is low. The public usually does the reverse.

BUT IF I WERE an investor looking for sound securities, I would be inclined during the present selling period to buy stocks on the scale down.

I would rather buy good stocks now than sell them. If unsound business conditions should unhappily arise from this event, the long term implications would be inflationary and as a result, the dollar would suffer.

Albuquerque, N. M. (AP)—One of New Mexico's top ringmen got trapped in his own business recently. Parley Jensen, New Mexico Stockman Magazine editor and a recognized ring expert at cattle auctions, took the wife to a furniture auction. He lost out on his first bid and told the Mrs. he would go no higher on the next item than $25. The bidding shot quickly to $20. It kept rising. Jensen finally got the furniture for $24. He discovered later he had been bidding against his wife who figured he had stopped at $20 and decided on her own to go higher.

Conducted Milk Business Here For 30 Years

A new year and a new Kingston enterprise were born on the morning of January 1, 1926 when Addison Jones, local dairy operator, delivered his first quart of milk. That was the inception of Jones Dairy, which today and every morning processes 4,000 quarts of milk for Jones Dairy customers and other milk dealers in Kingston, the Town of Ulster and the village of Port Ewen.

Nearing 30 years in the dairy business, Mr. Jones will open a completely new, modern dairy plant at 95 Cornell street within the next month. Between keeping those milk bottles quiet at the dawn hours, sponsoring seven bowling teams, a City League baseball team and serving as campaign director of the March of Dimes, he is a busy man.

THE PRESENT dairy was purchased from the operators of the Port Ewen Dairy. It was located at its present site, 23 Shufeldt street, where he has operated since 1926. At that time, the dairy had two routes which covered Kingston and Port Ewen with a distribution of 600 quarts daily. Equipment included a pasteurizing machine, one of two in the city that time.

The payroll included two employes. Two delivery trucks delivered dairy products. The growth of the dairy at 23 Shufeldt street has been marked by three physical additions to the plant, where ten employes now process milk for four retail routes, and one wholesale delivery route which includes distribution to schools, stores and merchandising establishments.

THE NEW JONES Dairy, located on a 160 by 120 lot, at the corner of Cornell street and Bruyn avenue, will contain a dairy store with a general line of dairy products such as milk, butter, cheese, ice cream, etc. It includes three pasteurizers, a Pure-Pak machine, which packages milk in paper containers, and a homogenized processing machine, all of which will make the dairy one of the most modern in the Hudson Valley.

Five trucks will deliver Jones Dairy milk from this establishment. All of the mlik, as Mr. Jones explains, is purchased from local producers.

Born in Chichester, Mr. Jones entered the dairy business after being employed as a foreman by the New York Telephone Company. He worked as a telephone man for 12 years. But the dairy business was always his ambition. For as a youngster, he delivered milk for Shultis' Farm in Phonenicia while attending school.

AN AVID baseball fan, Mr. Jones has been associated with bowling and baseball in this city over a long period of years as a sponsor and promoter. He was actively associated with organized baseball in this city and is still active as a bowler. A lifelong member of the Kingston Bowling Association, he is also a member of the board of the New York State Bowling Association.

If he had to make a choice between bowling and baseball he would choose the Brooklyn Dodgers. Mr. Jones has a hunch this is their year in the World Series.

Mr. Jones is married and the father of four children, two girls and two sons, Robert being associated with him in the operation of the dairy.

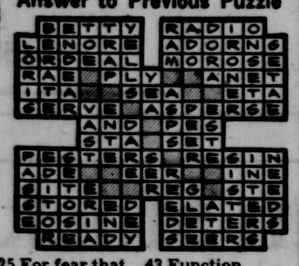
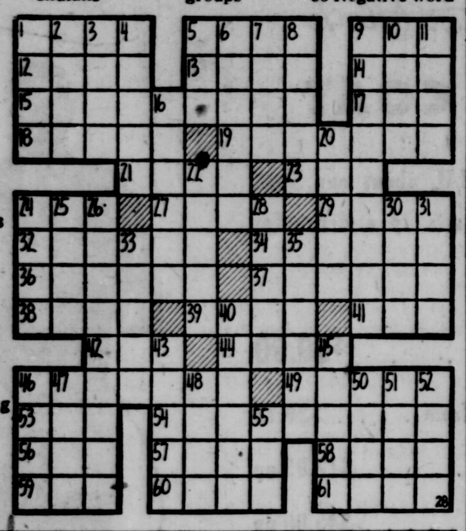
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

If President Ike is reelected and lives out his second term, he will then be a little over 70 years old. He has said correctly that we have never had a President in office that old. The oldest President at the time of his inauguration was William Henry Harrison, then 63, who died one month later, from pneumonia,—not because of age.

Mr. Hutton

But that was in 1841. Men live years longer than they did a century ago. In 1850 the average life expectancy was 38 years; it is now about 68, a gain of 30 years.

In 1860, Abraham Lincoln, in farewell to his friends at Springfield before leaving for Washington, spoke of his life up to that time and said: "Now I am an old man." He was then 52!

We consider that middle age now. It is true that the great gain in life expectancy has been made in the conquest of the diseases of childhood; but men in their 60's and 70's are continually looking forward to more years of useful life, and particularly to much better health and vigor than pa and grandpa had at the same age. Better nutrition, sanitation, medical and dental care—less hard, back-breaking work. Life expectancy has gone up 20 years since as recently as 1900.

Let's eliminate age comparisons, and remember it's best NOT to swap horses when crossing the stream.

No Meteor

Portsmouth, Va. (AP) — Just after W. C. Vaughan walked around the counter in his market what sounded like a pistol shot caused him to duck. An 18-inch piece of metal had crashed into the glass of the counter over which he had been leaning. An insurance agent called in thought it part of an aerial from a plane. It crashed through a two-inch asphalt roof before striking the glass in the counter. "I don't know what made me move," Vaughan said, "but I'm glad I did."

Two Bare Ordeal With Sharks Prior To Pacific Rescue

Honolulu, Sept. 28 (AP)—Two fliers snatched from the jaws of attacking sharks in a dramatic Pacific rescue arrive today aboard the rescue ship Steel Advocate for a joyous reunion with their wives.

The two are the only survivors of a Flying Tiger Line cargo plane that ditched at sea Friday night while carrying military supplies to Wake Island. Three of the five-man crew perished, one from shark bites.

ONE OF THE survivors, copilot Robert C. Hightower of Vallejo, Calif., was bitten on the foot as he was pulled from the water.

He and his companion, Capt. Anthony Machado of Hollywood, Calif., the pilot, told of their ordeal yesterday in a radio-telephone interview with The Associated Press.

Machado said he survived for 40 hours without a life jacket.

"I kept going by hanging on to one of the guys, then the other."

THE BATTLE with the sharks began almost immediately after the big four-motor plane went down, carrying navigator Dominick Ventresca of Sepulveda, Calif., who was pinned inside the wreckage.

Another navigator, Richard C. Olsen died from shark bites only a few hours before his two companions were picked up by the freighter Sunday. Hightower said he was bitten 15 to 20 times and Machado said he bore the marks of several brushes with sharks.

"We lost count of the sharks but there were hundreds," Machado said. "We tried to keep watch but we fell asleep. The only way we kept from getting bitten worse was that they nudged us first before taking a bite. That way we woke up and scared them off."

MACHADO SAID copilot Warren F. Gin of Los Angeles died from swallowing salt water.

"He didn't want us to touch him," Machado said. "He slipped off his life jacket and went under. I dove down and got him once and we held him up until almost daylight. He died and I took his life jacket. That was about 40 hours after we went down."

THE TWO SURVIVORS said they struck out in the direction of Wake, some 1,000 miles away, in the hope of making it to the shipping lanes. A short time later they were spotted by the Steel Advocate.

The wives of the two men arrived in Honolulu last night.

Mrs. Machado told newsmen: "We're naturally very happy that our men were spared. We feel very grateful. We're sorry it couldn't have been all of them. They were close friends of ours."

Letters Bring Romance

Orange, Va. (AP) — John W. Thompson knew Carol Reynolds but they had never had a date. When Airman First Class Thompson became a prisoner of the Red Chinese, though, Carol wrote him a letter. Then more letters were exchanged. A month after Thompson, American airman released by the Reds, was welcomed home here there were wedding bells for Carol and John.

MONORAIL BEING INTRODUCED TO U.S.—Jerrie Dell Davis, 9, uses a bottle of milk to "launch" a model of a monorail car planned for Houston, Tex. Designed for mass transportation, the car will run suspended from a single rail 20 feet above the ground, carrying 51 passengers at an average speed of 60 m.p.h. Track will be supported by a system of slender towers. An 830-foot test line, first such line in the United States, is being built in Houston by Monorail, Inc., to demonstrate the idea, which is supposed to cope successfully with heavy metropolitan traffic. Wuppertal, Germany, has had a monorail system in operation for over 50 years. It has been used there by 850 million persons without a single fatality, according to Monorail. The company estimates cost of the transportation system will be $500,000 a mile, which compares with the four to six-million-dollar cost for each mile of a freeway highway.

Air Competition At Half-Way Point

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Strategic Air Command's fourth reconnaissance and navigation competition has reached the half-way mark with the 55th Wing from Forbes Air Force Base, Topeka, Kan., leading in points.

Fifteen crews from three SAC bases—Forbes, Lockbourne at Columbus, and Little Rock in Arkansas — are photographing six American cities in RB47 jet bombers. The best pictures and navigator's logs give the most points.

The 26th Wing from Lockbourne is second in the combined photo and navigation phase. The 90th Wing from Forbes is third.

The 55th Wing from Forbes leads in navigation points alone, with the 26th Wing second, and the 90th Wing third. In photographic points, the 26th Wing leads and the 55th is second.

The second half of the competition begins early tomorrow when five wings again will appear over Little Rock (between 4:30 and 6 a. m.); St. Louis (5:30-6:30 a. m.); Des Moines (6:30-7:30 a. m.); Madison, Wis. Answer to Previous Puzzle

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

If President Ike is reelected and lives out his second term, he will then be a little over 70 years old. He has said correctly that we have never had a President in office that old. The oldest President at the time of his inauguration was William Henry Harrison, then 63, who died one month later, from pneumonia,—not because of age.

Mr. Hutton

But that was in 1841. Men live years longer than they did a century ago. In 1850 the average life expectancy was 38 years; it is now about 68, a gain of 30 years.

In 1860, Abraham Lincoln, in farewell to his friends at Springfield before leaving for Washington, spoke of his life up to that time and said: "Now I am an old man." He was then 52!

We consider that middle age now. It is true that the great gain in life expectancy has been made in the conquest of the diseases of childhood; but men in their 60's and 70's are continually looking forward to more years of useful life, and particularly to much better health and vigor than pa and grandpa had at the same age. Better nutrition, sanitation, medical and dental care—less hard, back-breaking work. Life expectancy has gone up 20 years since as recently as 1900.

Let's eliminate age comparisons, and remember it's best NOT to swap horses when crossing the stream.

No Meteor

Portsmouth, Va. (AP) — Just after W. C. Vaughan walked around the counter in his market what sounded like a pistol shot caused him to duck. An 18-inch piece of metal had crashed into the glass of the counter over which he had been leaning. An insurance agent called in thought it part of an aerial from a plane. It crashed through a two-inch asphalt roof before striking the glass in the counter. "I don't know what made me move," Vaughan said, "but I'm glad I did."

A record 95,844,449 tons of iron ore was shipped down the Great Lakes in 1953.

Two Bare Ordeal With Sharks Prior To Pacific Rescue

Honolulu, Sept. 28 (AP)—Two fliers snatched from the jaws of attacking sharks in a dramatic Pacific rescue arrive today aboard the rescue ship Steel Advocate for a joyous reunion with their wives.

The two are the only survivors of a Flying Tiger Line cargo plane that ditched at sea Friday night while carrying military supplies to Wake Island. Three of the five-man crew perished, one from shark bites.

ONE OF THE survivors, copilot Robert C. Hightower of Vallejo, Calif., was bitten on the foot as he was pulled from the water.

He and his companion, Capt. Anthony Machado of Hollywood, Calif., the pilot, told of their ordeal yesterday in a radio-telephone interview with The Associated Press.

Machado said he survived for 40 hours without a life jacket.

"I kept going by hanging on to one of the guys, then the other."

THE BATTLE with the sharks began almost immediately after the big four-motor plane went down, carrying navigator Dominick Ventresca of Sepulveda, Calif., who was pinned inside the wreckage.

Another navigator, Richard C. Olsen died from shark bites only a few hours before his two companions were picked up by the freighter Sunday. Hightower said he was bitten 15 to 20 times and Machado said he bore the marks of several brushes with sharks.

"We lost count of the sharks but there were hundreds," Machado said. "We tried to keep watch but we fell asleep. The only way we kept from getting bitten worse was that they nudged us first before taking a bite. That way we woke up and scared them off."

MACHADO SAID copilot Warren F. Gin of Los Angeles died from swallowing salt water.

"He didn't want us to touch him," Machado said. "He slipped off his life jacket and went under. I dove down and got him once and we held him up until almost daylight. He died and I took his life jacket. That was about 40 hours after we went down."

THE TWO SURVIVORS said they struck out in the direction of Wake, some 1,000 miles away, in the hope of making it to the shipping lanes. A short time later they were spotted by the Steel Advocate.

The wives of the two men arrived in Honolulu last night.

Mrs. Machado told newsmen: "We're naturally very happy that our men were spared. We feel very grateful. We're sorry it couldn't have been all of them. They were close friends of ours."

Letters Bring Romance

Orange, Va. (AP) — John W. Thompson knew Carol Reynolds but they had never had a date. When Airman First Class Thompson became a prisoner of the Red Chinese, though, Carol wrote him a letter. Then more letters were exchanged. A month after Thompson, American airman released by the Reds, was welcomed home here there were wedding bells for Carol and John.

MONORAIL BEING INTRODUCED TO U.S.—Jerrie Dell Davis, 9, uses a bottle of milk to "launch" a model of a monorail car planned for Houston, Tex. Designed for mass transportation, the car will run suspended from a single rail 20 feet above the ground, carrying 51 passengers at an average speed of 60 m.p.h. Track will be supported by a system of slender towers. An 830-foot test line, first such line in the United States, is being built in Houston by Monorail, Inc., to demonstrate the idea, which is supposed to cope successfully with heavy metropolitan traffic. Wuppertal, Germany, has had a monorail system in operation for over 50 years. It has been used there by 850 million persons without a single fatality, according to Monorail. The company estimates cost of the transportation system will be $500,000 a mile, which compares with the four to six-million-dollar cost for each mile of a freeway highway.

Two Men Facing Kidnap Charge May Get Bail

Greenwood, Miss., Sept. 28 (AP)—Two white men found innocent of murdering a 14-year-old Chicago Negro boy waited in jail today for temporary freedom which may come Friday at a court hearing on their request for bond.

Roy Bryant, 24, and his 36-year-old half-brother, John William Milam, face a kidnaping charge in the pre-dawn abduction and disappearance of Emmett Louis Till.

County Judge Charles Pollard said he would set bond for the two accused men after a preliminary hearing Friday.

Their case will be presented to the Leflore county grand jury which begins its fall session Nov. 7. If the grand jury does not indict them on the kidnaping charge, they will be free.

IN THE MEANTIME they remain behind bars in the Leflore county jail about 35 miles from the little town of Sumner where a shirt-sleeved jury took 67 minutes Friday to find them innocent of murder.

A kidnaping indictment could place them under the shadow of a death penalty again.

The grand jury must decide, if it indicts, whether it will indict under a statute carrying a possible death penalty or under a statute carrying a maximum 10-year prison term.

Two Leflore county officers testified at the murder trial that Bryant and Milam admitted rousing the Chicago boy from bed and taking him away. The officers quoted the men as saying they released Till unharmed when they found he was not the Negro who made off-color remarks to Mrs. Bryant.

TWO WHITE MEN jerked him from the cottonfield shack of his uncle, sharecropper Mose Wright, in Leflore county on Aug. 28. A body identified as Till's was found Aug. 31 in the Tallahatchie river in adjoining Tallahatchie county.

Fearing for his life, Wright left Mississippi after the trial and went to Chicago to visit Mrs. Mamie Bradley, Till's widowed mother.

At Chicago, Wright said he did not know if he would take a job offered him at Middle Island, N. Y.

"My people don't want me to go," said the 64-year-old man. "They think I'm too old to take the job."

The small, slim Negro farmer was the only witness to the alleged kidnaping produced by the state during the murder trial.

Dist. Atty. Stanny Sanders, who will prosecute the kidnaping charge if it comes to trial, said he assumes Wright would return to testify if needed.

G. C. Frederick, owner of the plantation where Wright grew cotton on a half share basis, said the Negro moved out with his family and personal belongings.

The end of Mississippi's most sensational trial dropped the little town of Sumner back into its drowsy routine. Farmers returned to the ripened cotton crop.

But the trial will provide courthouse talk and gossip for years.

TENSION MOUNTS ON CYPRUS—Anti-British sentiment on the strategically important island of Cyprus in the Mediterranean has grown so tense that Great Britain has dispatched new bodies of troops to quell frequent violent demonstrations. Some of them are pictured above, standing off a mob of Cypriots in Nicosia, the capital city. Some four fifths of the island's 500,000 people are of Greek origin and 95 per cent of them favor discarding 77-year British rule for union with Greece.

Two Men Facing Kidnap Charge May Get Bail

Greenwood, Miss., Sept. 28 (AP)—Two white men found innocent of murdering a 14-year-old Chicago Negro boy waited in jail today for temporary freedom which may come Friday at a court hearing on their request for bond.

Roy Bryant, 24, and his 36-year-old half-brother, John William Milam, face a kidnaping charge in the pre-dawn abduction and disappearance of Emmett Louis Till.

County Judge Charles Pollard said he would set bond for the two accused men after a preliminary hearing Friday.

Their case will be presented to the Leflore county grand jury which begins its fall session Nov. 7. If the grand jury does not indict them on the kidnaping charge, they will be free.

IN THE MEANTIME they remain behind bars in the Leflore county jail about 35 miles from the little town of Sumner where a shirt-sleeved jury took 67 minutes Friday to find them innocent of murder.

A kidnaping indictment could place them under the shadow of a death penalty again.

The grand jury must decide, if it indicts, whether it will indict under a statute carrying a possible death penalty or under a statute carrying a maximum 10-year prison term.

Two Leflore county officers testified at the murder trial that Bryant and Milam admitted rousing the Chicago boy from bed and taking him away. The officers quoted the men as saying they released Till unharmed when they found he was not the Negro who made off-color remarks to Mrs. Bryant.

TWO WHITE MEN jerked him from the cottonfield shack of his uncle, sharecropper Mose Wright, in Leflore county on Aug. 28. A body identified as Till's was found Aug. 31 in the Tallahatchie river in adjoining Tallahatchie county.

Fearing for his life, Wright left Mississippi after the trial and went to Chicago to visit Mrs. Mamie Bradley, Till's widowed mother.

At Chicago, Wright said he did not know if he would take a job offered him at Middle Island, N. Y.

"My people don't want me to go," said the 64-year-old man. "They think I'm too old to take the job."

The small, slim Negro farmer was the only witness to the alleged kidnaping produced by the state during the murder trial.

Dist. Atty. Stanny Sanders, who will prosecute the kidnaping charge if it comes to trial, said he assumes Wright would return to testify if needed.

G. C. Frederick, owner of the plantation where Wright grew cotton on a half share basis, said the Negro moved out with his family and personal belongings.

The end of Mississippi's most sensational trial dropped the little town of Sumner back into its drowsy routine. Farmers returned to the ripened cotton crop.

But the trial will provide courthouse talk and gossip for years.

TENSION MOUNTS ON CYPRUS—Anti-British sentiment on the strategically important island of Cyprus in the Mediterranean has grown so tense that Great Britain has dispatched new bodies of troops to quell frequent violent demonstrations. Some of them are pictured above, standing off a mob of Cypriots in Nicosia, the capital city. Some four fifths of the island's 500,000 people are of Greek origin and 95 per cent of them favor discarding 77-year British rule for union with Greece.

USE RETURN ADDRESS

"We have recently moved to a city far removed from most of our relatives and friends and very few of them know our new address. We are expecting a baby soon and intend to send out birth announcements. It was my plan to include a return address on these envelopes but my husband has turned 'thumbs down' on this as he thinks a return address indicates that we expect presents and the address is to let them know where to send them. Will you please give me your opinion."

I see no reason for keeping your address a secret. Friends or relatives may want very much to send you something, or at least a message, and it leaves them helpless. There is certainly no obligation upon the receipt of a birth announcement.

Going Down the Receiving Line

Dear Mrs. Post: Before going down a receiving line is it necessary to remove one's gloves? Also, what does one do and say? I was under the impression that you introduced yourself to the first person in line and that person passed your name to the next person and so on down the line. Do you say "How do you do" to each person, and also do you shake hands with each one?"

Answer: You keep your gloves on and if there is any doubt about their knowing who you are, you tell your name as you shake hands.

Hostess Shakes Hands

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently a young woman (about 15 years my junior) came to my house and I shook hands with her. I was told later that I being the older person was wrong to make the first advance, and furthermore that it is not proper for women to shake hands. What is your opinion?

Answer: A hostess always shakes hands with every guest that comes into her house. It would be the extreme of rudeness not to.

Where do the bride and groom stand in the receiving line? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Questions on wedding procedure, the receiving line and other details are answered in leaflet E-2. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. USE RETURN ADDRESS

"We have recently moved to a city far removed from most of our relatives and friends and very few of them know our new address. We are expecting a baby soon and intend to send out birth announcements. It was my plan to include a return address on these envelopes but my husband has turned 'thumbs down' on this as he thinks a return address indicates that we expect presents and the address is to let them know where to send them. Will you please give me your opinion."

I see no reason for keeping your address a secret. Friends or relatives may want very much to send you something, or at least a message, and it leaves them helpless. There is certainly no obligation upon the receipt of a birth announcement.

Going Down the Receiving Line

Dear Mrs. Post: Before going down a receiving line is it necessary to remove one's gloves? Also, what does one do and say? I was under the impression that you introduced yourself to the first person in line and that person passed your name to the next person and so on down the line. Do you say "How do you do" to each person, and also do you shake hands with each one?"

Answer: You keep your gloves on and if there is any doubt about their knowing who you are, you tell your name as you shake hands.

Hostess Shakes Hands

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently a young woman (about 15 years my junior) came to my house and I shook hands with her. I was told later that I being the older person was wrong to make the first advance, and furthermore that it is not proper for women to shake hands. What is your opinion?

Answer: A hostess always shakes hands with every guest that comes into her house. It would be the extreme of rudeness not to.

Where do the bride and groom stand in the receiving line? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Questions on wedding procedure, the receiving line and other details are answered in leaflet E-2. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Hawk Migration Seen By Burroughs Society

A field trip of the John Burroughs Natural History Society took sixteen members and guests to the East Lookout on the Minnewaska Trail to watch the migrating hawks on their journey south.

The party climbed the mountain just south of the road where a steep slope faces north and commands a wide view. From here one can watch the birds as they soar along on ascending thermal currents that sweep up the slope of the Shawangunk ridge and and sustain the birds as effortlessly as they do the gliders of aviation enthusiasts at Elmira.

At first, visibility was reduced to zero by fog, but those who had patience enough to endure, saw the mists lift and watched over 200 hawks go sailing by. They spiralled upward on convection currents in thrilling crowds, wings outspread, tails fanned out to steer, ever upward until they caught a favoring wind on which they would sail along southward on motionless wings.

These hawks were mostly broadwinged of which 185 were counted. A few birds of other species came by, Ospreys, Kestrels, perigrine falcons, a marsh hawk and a few red-tailed hawks. The Shawangunk range is the same which, in Pennsylvania, is called the Kittatinny, where is located the famous Hawk Mountain Sanctuary. At this point on weekends in September and October hundreds of bird watchers gather on a north-facing ledge and see the annual spectacle of thousands of hawks migrating south. Dr. Maurice Broun, curator of the sanctuary, and his helpers tabulate the migration and conduct a continuous study of ornithology there as well as educating an ever increasingly intelligent public in the value of these predatory birds, whose food, contrary to popular belief, consists mainly of rodents and insects with only two or three species preying on young chickens and other birds.

Hawk Mountain Sanctuary was established to combat the indiscriminate shooting of all species of hawks by an uninformed public. In our area this cruel sport has, fortunately, never been so popular.

Among the watchers at the East Lookout on South Trap Mountain were: Dr. Heinz Meng, leader and noted hawk specialist from New Paltz College; Dr. Robert Pyle of the same faculty and president of the society; and his son, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hayes of Kingston; Dr. A. M. Cragin; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lethbridge; Rodney Lethbridge and their guest, Dr. Max Reich; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dunbar; Daniel Smiley Jr., and son and Ed. Tracey of the Rockland County Bird Club.

Commencement Held By Kingston Hospital For Nurse Graduates

Commencement exercises for the Kingston Hospital School of Nursing were held Thursday, Sept. 22. Dr. Hollis Ingraham, Deputy Commissioner of the State Health Department, Albany, was the guest speaker. Special awards for outstanding work were presented to Edna Iola Baldo, Marilyn Frerking, Nancy Lee Gray and Eleanor Canzoneri.

Dr. Ingraham chose as his theme two words, "Opportunity and Responsibility." He gave a short history of the progress in medicine showing the marked decrease in communicable diseases both in numbers of cases and in the severity of the disease. Dr. Ingraham told the class that their nursing responsibility would be quite different than that of nurses 50 or even 10 years ago. Because of the changes in the nursing care as well as the type of disease and patients, their techniques must be changing to meet the demands. Dr. Ingraham also stated that it is a nurse's opportunity and responsibility to serve in Civil Defense as well as in the health programs of her community. As individuals they should stand ready to assist in disaster if it comes, either in disease, war or results of the natural elements.

Miss Marilyn Frerking was the class valedictorian and in her address to the graduates she briefly sketched the progress the class had made in their three years. She emphasized the fact that they had developed from "carefree school girls" to mature, responsible citizens with preparation to take their place in the world as professional nurses on the medical team in caring for others.

The Rev. Dean Dykstra of the Fair Street Reformed Church gave the invocation and benediction. Cornelius Freer, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Ivan Freer, sang for the occasion.

Woman Gives Up

husband asked where the baby was. She told him it was sick but that she could get him in a couple of days.

When "papa" Benedicto began passing out cigars, she went to San Francisco, looked over the Mt. Zion Hospital nursery and dashed away with the Marcus baby. She said she chose that particular one because Marcus was her husband's first name.

Mrs. Benedicto drove immediately back to Stockton with the baby and kept him in her three-room apartment—while possibly the greatest manhunt in the history of the San Francisco bay area was getting underway.

Then mental anguish set in. She said she loved the baby and wanted to keep him. But all the time her radio and television sets were blaring pleas from the grief-stricken parents for the return of their child.

To calm her nerves, she went to a boxing match last night, taking the baby along. A suspicious sheriff's deputy queried her about the infant. She produced a birth certificate from St. Francis Hospital in Lynwood, near Los Angeles. Mrs. Benedicto said the certificate originally was issued for her sister's child, now aged 4, but hadn't been filled out completely. So she inserted the name of the child she kidnapped.

The deputy released her but still was not satisfied. He called the Lynwood Hospital and was told no such child had been born there.

But in the meantime, Mrs. Benedicto had telephoned Dr. Marcus. Before Marcus and his wife arrived, she delivered the baby to the Rev. McCoy. FBI agents, tipped off by San Francisco police, were waiting there and arrested her.

The Marcus baby was stolen when a nurse in charge left the hospital nursery for a few minutes.

Student Nurse Lettie Clement, 21, said she saw a buxom blonde woman at the viewing window. Asked for her pass, the woman said she had already turned it in to another nurse.

The Marcus baby's crib was nearest the nursery door.

Nursing Supervisor Eleanor Lorenz saw a woman of the same general description walking from the hospital with a baby in her arms.

Dr. Marcus, a member of the Mt. Zion staff, agreed with police that the kidnaper must have had a mother complex.

"We have no enemies and certainly we're poor prospects for ransom," Dr. Marcus said.

Mrs. Marcus was kept under sedatives five days. She refused to eat, was fed intravenously, and said little except "all I want is my baby."

Mrs. Marcus had a tragic past. Both her parents and her younger brother died in Hitler's gas chamber. She was smuggled into Holland when she was 13. She met Dr. Marcus in Philadelphia while he was interning there.

Mrs. Marcus improved Saturday when her other two children, Susan, 2, and Richard, 3, were taken to her bedside. She was taken to her San Francisco home Monday.

Police had conducted possibly the most intense search in the history of San Francisco trying to find the child quickly. Doctors feared for his health. He had been circumsized only three hours before being taken, and he was accustomed to breast-feeding.

A formula was issued by the hospital, published in newspapers and broadcast on radio and TV in the hope it would reach the kidnaper. Mr. Marcus made a dramatic personal appeal by radio, urging the child's return and promising he would not prosecute the kidnaper.

MORE THAN 600 policemen combed a 30-block area around the hospital, questioning residents house by house.

For a time the search centered at San Jose, 50 miles south of San Francisco after a woman who answered the description of the buxom blonde asked to heat milk for her crying baby. Later a baby blanket was found there.

On Thursday a baby was abandoned in a church in Atlantic City, N. J. but Dr. Marcus after studying an Associated Press wirephoto said it was not his child.

The search moved east again on Monday when a man reported seeing a buxom blonde in a car with a California license plate near Waverly, N. Y. The license plate holder was marked San Jose, he said.

The State Racing Commission yesterday approved the application of the GYNA to acquire the assets of Belmont, Aqueduct, Jamaica and Saratoga and granted the organization a franchise to conduct pari-mutuel betting.

Saratoga, first opened in 1864, has operated in August with the New York city flat tracks shut down.

In recent years there has been criticism from many sources over the continued operations at the ancient Spa while the metropolitan area is shut down. One of the main objections voiced by the critics is that the easily accessible New Jersey tracks have been taking the patronage that would go to New York with a resultant loss in taxes to New York state.

THE LATEST telephone, Mr. Davenport said, is so sensitive that a voice can be heard clearly as much as 10 feet from the receiver. It comes in color combinations and the bell can be regulated.

The latest experimentation has produced a system which will ultimately make it possible to dial a number anywhere in the United States, Mr. Davenport said. The machine will also record the date, length of conversation, number called, cost (with tax figured in), etc.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED that the new television set presented by the club to the YWCA would be dedicated at 7:30 p. m. today.

Dr. Herbert Derman, chairman of the club blood bank, reported that response had not been "exactly overwhelming." He explained that membership in the bank covered the individual, his wife, children to 18 and parents of himself and wife.

It was also announced that Ladies' Night and District Governor's Night would be celebrated at the SRS Club, Cottekill, at 7 p. m. Wednesday, Oct. 19, with a dinner served family style.

month are to complete vaccination of those children in Grades 1 through 4 who have already received at least one dose of vaccine. Children in those grades who have received no vaccine will be eligible at a later date when the current program has been completed.

Children in Grades 1 through 4 eligible for the vaccine are of two classifications: Children who have already received one shot this year but who did not receive a second shot due to their absence during the summer months or in some cases due to a shortage of vaccine, and those children who received the vaccine in 1954 and who are now due for a booster shot.

Parents of children concerned will be notified by school authorities as schedules are arranged.

Dr. Hargrave said a program still in the planning stage, has been envisaged recently by Governor Harriman which would include all those not vaccinated to date in the age group from one to 19 years.

Baptism Planned

A baptismal service will be held at St. Mark's AME Church Sunday morning for adults and infants. Special music has been arranged by the Misses Edna and Dorothy Marbel. All parents are urged to bring their infants to this service which will take place immediately following the sermon. The public is invited. A tea will be given at the parsonage Sunday from 3 to 5 p. m. by the Women's Missionary Society. Mrs. Rebecca Hardy is chairman.

Newspapers Told Advertising Rates Should Be Higher

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Newspaper publishers generally undervalue the advertising space they sell and in many cases should boost rates, a meeting of newspaper finance officers has been told.

A. V. Miller, treasurer of the New York Herald Tribune, said Monday:

"IT IS MY considered judgment that publishers generally are underrating the value of the advertising vehicle they are making available to adviertisers. I hope a trend toward revaluing will develop with a resulting increase in advertising rates in many instances."

However, he added, there is "limit in many cases" on how high rates can go, and he urged a watchful eye for wasteful production practices.

"A DECREASE in advertising volume of...even 5 per cent would develop very serious problems for many in the newspaper business," he declared.

Miller spoke at the eighth annual meeting of the Institute of Newspaper Controllers and Finance Officers.

Herbert G. Wyman, vice president and advertising director of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, predicted that newspaper advertising would reach record levels this year, topping 1954 by 11 per cent. Next year, he said, it may go another 7 per cent higher.

Wyman, a former president of the Newspaper Advertising Executive's Assn., said he based his predictions on such considerations as the record rate of retail sales, production levels and people having "more money to spend."

Even though newspaper advertising will get a boost from the "battle of the brands," he said "newspapers must be prepared to campaign more virorously for their share of the total expenditure for advertising, which today totals 8 billion dollars, but which will be up 10 per cent by the end of 1956."

Deliberate Misspelling

Greenville, S. C. (AP) — Leon Campell has the distinction of being one of the few people who has his name intentionally misspelled in a telephone directory. Campell's name frequently is confused with the more common one of Campell. So, in the Greenville telephone directory he has his residence and real estate office listed under the correct spelling of his name, but for persons not familiar with it he also has an office listing under Campbell, Leon.

All School Board Members in State Set for Meeting

Financial problems of the school districts of New York state will be explained in detail at a state-wide meeting of school board members and school officials called by the New York State School Boards Association for January 1956, according to an announcement by Phillip C. Wolz, president of the association.

THIS MEETING IS the result of action taken at a meeting of the association's executive committee at Syracuse on Aug. 13 at which time it was considered desirable to plan a state-wide meeting as soon as practicable after the report of the New York State Commission on Educational Finances was made public. Because of the deep implications of the commission's report, plans for this meeting have been under discussion by the directors of the association since last June.

REPRESENTATIVES from boards of education in cities, villages and supervisory districts, including school boards in central, union free and common school districts, will attend the meeting.

Kingston Football Team Faces Tough Port Jervis Friday Night

First DUSO Duel of '55 Slated at P-J Gridiron

Kingston High School begins its quest of DUSO League football laurels Friday night, traveling to Port Jervis for a meeting with the strong P-J eleven.

The game is scheduled to begin under the lights at Glennette Field at 8 o'clock.

The Kingston-Port duel is the only 11-man game scheduled Friday. Five contests are listed Saturday.

Among them is another big DUSO clash, Poughkeepsie at Newburgh. Middletown, the other DUSO entry, visits Tappan Zee of Piermont.

Saugerties travels to Tannersville. Highland risks its 15-game unbeaten skein at Nyack while New Paltz, surprised by Onteora, journeys to Pine Plains. Onteora is idle this weekend.

SIX-MAN GAMES scheduled Friday are Marlboro at Maybrook and Chester at Kerhonkson.

Kingston is expected to have its hands full with Port Jervis, the "dark horse" in the 1955 DUSO race.

..Port Jervis' offense was bogged down in a heavy rain last Friday while beating Nyack, 13-6. The Porters relied mainly on the running of 205-pound fullback Vince "Barrel" Pagana. But with clear weather and a dry field, quarterback Dick Pencek's passing arm should get a workout.

Pencek's chief target is expected to be end Bill Decker.

"We think we'll have a tough time," KHS coach Bill Burke said this morning. "This Pagano is a big threat. He runs hard but he's not fast. He's also a very good linebacker."

Burke contemplated no changes in the starting lineup. It'll be the same as that which whipped Christian Brothers Academy of Albany 26-7 in the Maroons' opener last Friday night.

THE KHS LINE surprised one and all in its first test under fire. Although composed of only two returning starters, the Maroon forward wall got tougher as the game progressed. It was superior against a bigger foe. Port Jervis' line is reportedly almost as big and even more experienced.

Kingston will start with Al Long and Marv Engle at ends, Gene Nagele and Marv Schaub at tackles, Alo Saluste and George Stephano at guards and Pete Blanschan at center. In backfield, it'll be Dick Richards at quarter, Ronnie Ashdown and Jim Jackson at halfs and Neil Keyser at full. Andy Lee, Bob Manello and Bob Smith will also see plenty of action.

Poughkeepsie showed its muscles Monday by clipping a good Beacon team, 20-6. Charley Johnson made a spectacular return to DUSO football, and is probably the circuit's best back.

JOHNSON isn't the only good back the Bridge City team possesses. Fullback Ernie Stoetzner and halfback George Boyer are better-than-average runners. And with last year's quarterback George Phillips now eligible to play, Sam Kalloch's club will have a passing attack.

Poughkeepsie's line looked surprisingly good, despite a subpar performance from giant end Monty Stickles. The left side, led by tackle Buzzy Van Vlack, was impregnable.

The Poughkeepsians are expected to be too much for a green Newburgh eleven which has Paul Benosky at fullback and little else in the way of an attack. This will be NFA's first game.

SAUGERTIES, looking much stronger than it did a year ago, seeks its second victory at Tannersville. Coach Bill Straub's Sawyers stopped Pine Plains 13-2 in their first start.

Roosevelt almost upset the Highland applecart last Saturday. Frank Hamblet's lads will have to improve greatly to get past a good Nyack team.

Highland's attack was hampered by wet weather, so it's difficult to tell whether the Blue and Gold possesses the same scoring punch as it did a year ago.

New Paltz and Pine Plains duel in the "battle of the beatens." The Huguenots were thumped 41-24 by Onteora on Monday.

Ulster Park Trounces Wimpys in Y Opener

Scheffel's 20 Spark 60-38 Win

Ulster Park's Longhorns rolled to an easy 60-38 conquest of Wimpy's in the "A" division opener of the YMCA Autumn Basketball League last night.

In a "B" division duel, the Yellow Jackets held off a last-quarter surge by the Ramblers to win 47-45.

LED BY FORMER Kingston High School and North Carolina State star Ronnie Scheffel, the Longhorns surged away from Wimpy's in the second period, taking a 28-12 halftime lead.

Wimpy's kept pace in the last half, however, to avoid a complete rout.

Scheffel tallied 20 points, high for both teams. Mol Leonard had 14 and George Holstein 10. Beaky Smith led the losers with 15.

THE RAMBLERS lost the game by being outscored 9-22 in the second period. They came back, however, and almost won it in the final eight minutes with Charley Marable and Al Short leading the drive.

John Burris bombed 19 points for the Jackets and Don Davis chipped in with 16. Short tallied 12 and Marable 11 for the Ramblers. Burris' outside shots were deadly for the Jackets. Don Davis was sharp off the boards and Bucky Miller played a fine floor game.

Fraternal League Names Co-Champions

Today's scheduled playoff game between Vols and Kiwanis of the Fraternal Youth League has been cancelled and the teams have been declared co-champions for 1955.

Efforts to play the game last Sunday were balked by the unplayable condition of the field.

FYL officials also pointed out that several players on both teams are involved in high school football practice. The lateness of the season and cold nights were other factors in cancelling plans for the playoff.

Schenectady Golfers Share Pro-Member Lead

Two Schenectady tandems, Armand Farina-Nick Delefano and Jim Murray-Bob Love, posted best ball 65s to share first place in the Pro-Member tournament sponsored by the Northeastern PGA Monday at Western Turnpike.

Chuck Wilson of Berkshire Hills shot a 3-under-par 69 to lead the pro division. Armand Farina had a 70 and his brother, Guy, of Caroga Lake, posted 72.

TIED AT 73 were Jim Murray of Schenectady; Scotty Robertson, Onteora; and Dick Stennard of Amsterdam.

Alex Gerlak of Twaalfskill and J. Carson Hutchins of Woodstock tied shot 77.

The PGA's annual Pro-Pro tournament will be held Monday, Oct. 17, at Van Schaick Country Club, Cohoes. The annual meeting and election of officers is also scheduled that day. Defending pro-pro champions are Steve Savel and Bob Smith.

Lane Goes to Cardinals; Walker on Way Out

New York, Sept. 28 (AP) — Frank Lane is in as general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and Harry Walker is out as field manager of the Redbirds.

Eddie Stanky, who Walker succeeded as St. Louis manager last May, may be back in baseball as manager of he Minneapolis Millers, farm club of the New York Giants in the American Association.

These choice items were learned last night as the baseball folks gathered at World Series headquarters on the eve of the opening game at Yankee Stadium.

AT LEAST one proposed deal fell through. Paul Richards' plan to step down as maanger of the Baltimore Orioles and name George Kell of the Chicago White Sox as his successor was vetoed by the Baltimore board of directors. The board insisted that Richards live up to his three-year contract as field and general manager.

Lane, who resigned as White Sox general manager last week, already has conferred with Dick Meyer, executive vice-president of the Cardinals. They were to meet again today or tomorrow when an official announcement will be made. Lane's salary is to be $50,000 a year for three years with the understanding that he is to have a free hand in running the club.

The informant said that Lane already has a successor to Walker in mind but would not identify him other than to say that he is "class guy."

STANKY WAS offered the Minneapolis managerial job during a conference with Giant officials. Still hopeful of landing a major league berth, the former infield star with the Boston Braves, Brooklyn Dodgers and Giants, has taken it under consideration.

The Pittsburgh picture is still scrambled. There were rumors late last night of a meeting between John Galbreath and Tom Johnson, president and vice-president of the Pirates, to decide the fate of general manager Branch Rickey. This could not be verified. The Pirates last Saturday dropped Fred Haney as manager.

"We think we'll have a tough time," KHS coach Bill Burke said this morning. "This Pagano is a big threat. He runs hard but he's not fast. He's also a very good linebacker."

Burke contemplated no changes in the starting lineup. It'll be the same as that which whipped Christian Brothers Academy of Albany 26-7 in the Maroons' opener last Friday night.

THE KHS LINE surprised one and all in its first test under fire. Although composed of only two returning starters, the Maroon forward wall got tougher as the game progressed. It was superior against a bigger foe. Port Jervis' line is reportedly almost as big and even more experienced.

Kingston will start with Al Long and Marv Engle at ends, Gene Nagele and Marv Schaub at tackles, Alo Saluste and George Stephano at guards and Pete Blanschan at center. In backfield, it'll be Dick Richards at quarter, Ronnie Ashdown and Jim Jackson at halfs and Neil Keyser at full. Andy Lee, Bob Manello and Bob Smith will also see plenty of action.

Poughkeepsie showed its muscles Monday by clipping a good Beacon team, 20-6. Charley Johnson made a spectacular return to DUSO football, and is probably the circuit's best back.

JOHNSON isn't the only good back the Bridge City team possesses. Fullback Ernie Stoetzner and halfback George Boyer are better-than-average runners. And with last year's quarterback George Phillips now eligible to play, Sam Kalloch's club will have a passing attack.

Poughkeepsie's line looked surprisingly good, despite a subpar performance from giant end Monty Stickles. The left side, led by tackle Buzzy Van Vlack, was impregnable.

The Poughkeepsians are expected to be too much for a green Newburgh eleven which has Paul Benosky at fullback and little else in the way of an attack. This will be NFA's first game.

Middletown was beaten 18-13 in its opener against Haverstraw. The Middies will face a team which played a 0-0 tie with Arlington last weekend.

SAUGERTIES, looking much stronger than it did a year ago, seeks its second victory at Tannersville. Coach Bill Straub's Sawyers stopped Pine Plains 13-2 in their first start.

Roosevelt almost upset the Highland applecart last Saturday. Frank Hamblet's lads will have to improve greatly to get past a good Nyack team.

Highland's attack was hampered by wet weather, so it's difficult to tell whether the Blue and Gold possesses the same scoring punch as it did a year ago.

The big Highland defensive line was shoved around by a smaller Roosevelt contingent on many occasions.

Ulster Park Trounces Wimpys in Y Opener

Scheffel's 20 Spark 60-38 Win

Ulster Park's Longhorns rolled to an easy 60-38 conquest of Wimpy's in the "A" division opener of the YMCA Autumn Basketball League last night.

In a "B" division duel, the Yellow Jackets held off a last-quarter surge by the Ramblers to win 47-45.

LED BY FORMER Kingston High School and North Carolina State star Ronnie Scheffel, the Longhorns surged away from Wimpy's in the second period, taking a 28-12 halftime lead.

Wimpy's kept pace in the last half, however, to avoid a complete rout.

Scheffel tallied 20 points, high for both teams. Mol Leonard had 14 and George Holstein 10. Beaky Smith led the losers with 15.

THE RAMBLERS lost the game by being outscored 9-22 in the second period. They came back, however, and almost won it in the final eight minutes with Charley Marable and Al Short leading the drive.

John Burris bombed 19 points for the Jackets and Don Davis chipped in with 16. Short tallied 12 and Marable 11 for the Ramblers. Burris' outside shots were deadly for the Jackets. Don Davis was sharp off the boards and Bucky Miller played a fine floor game.

Fraternal League Names Co-Champions

Today's scheduled playoff game between Vols and Kiwanis of the Fraternal Youth League has been cancelled and the teams have been declared co-champions for 1955.

Efforts to play the game last Sunday were balked by the unplayable condition of the field.

FYL officials also pointed out that several players on both teams are involved in high school football practice. The lateness of the season and cold nights were other factors in cancelling plans for the playoff.

Lane Goes to Cardinals; Walker on Way Out

New York, Sept. 28 (AP) — Frank Lane is in as general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and Harry Walker is out as field manager of the Redbirds.

Eddie Stanky, who Walker succeeded as St. Louis manager last May, may be back in baseball as manager of he Minneapolis Millers, farm club of the New York Giants in the American Association.

These choice items were learned last night as the baseball folks gathered at World Series headquarters on the eve of the opening game at Yankee Stadium.

AT LEAST one proposed deal fell through. Paul Richards' plan to step down as maanger of the Baltimore Orioles and name George Kell of the Chicago White Sox as his successor was vetoed by the Baltimore board of directors. The board insisted that Richards live up to his three-year contract as field and general manager.

Lane, who resigned as White Sox general manager last week, already has conferred with Dick Meyer, executive vice-president of the Cardinals. They were to meet again today or tomorrow when an official announcement will be made. Lane's salary is to be $50,000 a year for three years with the understanding that he is to have a free hand in running the club.

The informant said that Lane already has a successor to Walker in mind but would not identify him other than to say that he is "class guy."

STANKY WAS offered the Minneapolis managerial job during a conference with Giant officials. Still hopeful of landing a major league berth, the former infield star with the Boston Braves, Brooklyn Dodgers and Giants, has taken it under consideration.

The Pittsburgh picture is still scrambled. There were rumors late last night of a meeting between John Galbreath and Tom Johnson, president and vice-president of the Pirates, to decide the fate of general manager Branch Rickey. This could not be verified. The Pirates last Saturday dropped Fred Haney as manager.

Ford, Newcombe Open Another Subway Series

Mantle Still Question Mark

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Two contrasting, consecutive streaks were on the line today as baseball's 52nd World Series was unfurled at Yankee Stadium with the New York Yankees seeking their 17th world championship and the Brooklyn Dodgers their first.

Despite rain in the early morning hours, a near-capacity crowd of 67,000 was expected to be on hand for the opener.

The weather bureau forecast that the rain would end an hour or so before game time.

Big Don Newcombe, a 20-game winning righthander, was expected to be on the mound for Brooklyn. He was to be opposed by Whitey Ford, a compact little lefthander, whose 18 victories helped Manager Casey Stengel win his sixth American League flag in seven years.

THE GAME, to be viewed and heard on television and radio, was slated to start at 1 p. m. (EDT).

Walter Alston, going into his first World Series in his second year at the Brooklyn helm, was confident the Dodgers would capture their first world title after seven failures in as many attempts since they won their first pennant in 1916. In their last five failures, it was the Yankees who turned them back.

Despite Brooklyn's optimism, the betting boys were stringing along with the Yankees, who have won 16 world championships in 20 attempts since 1921, including their last seven in a row. The odds-makers have installed the American League champions as 13-10 favorites to win the series and 6-5 to take the first game. This, despite the continued doubt that Mickey Mantle, the Yankees' top hitter, would be able to play only part of the series because of a torn muscle in his right thigh.

MANTLE WORKED out along with his Yankee mates at Ebbets Field yesterday but he couldn't run without pain.

"I'm not hopeful of playing—at least not in the first two games at the stadium," he said dejectedly. "It doesn't affect my hitting but I know I can't run on it."

Mickey's reduction to the status of pinch hitter would deprive the Yankees of their leading hitter (.306) and the league's leading home run hitter (37). Stengel, who said he would not make up his mind about Mantle until game time, indicated he would use Bob Cerv in Mantle's spot in center field and play the left-handed hitting Irv Noren in left against righthanders. Against a lefthander, he will use Elston Howard in left in place of Noren.

Stengel was set in all other positions including shortstop where he finally decided on Phil Rizzuto, the grand little veteran of eight World Series. Alston had no reservations about his lineup. He stuck to the same one he announced Sunday.

THE BROOKS had seven righthanded hitters to fire at Ford who, in his only previous World Series start against the Dodgers, was kayoed early. In fact, there isn't a pitcher on the Yankee staff who owns a World Series triumph over Brooklyn. The three big Dodger killers—Allie Reynolds, Vic Raschi and Eddie Lopat—are all gone. On the other hand, Carl Erskine has beaten the Yankees twice and Billy Loes once in World Series competition.

The main Dodger concern is Duke Snider who represents their main lefthanded strength. The star center fielder swatted 42 home runs during the regular season but not one since Labor Day.

Moore to Meet Randy Turpin

London, Sept. 28 (AP)—Archie Moore, whose bid for the heavyweight title was thwarted last week by champion Rocky Marciano, agreed today to defend his world lightheavyweight title against Randolph Turpin in London on Jan. 10, 1956.

Promoter Jack Solomons said he arranged the bout in transatlantic telephone negotiations with Charlie Johnston, Moore's manager.

Minneapolis Squares Little World Series

Minneapolis, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Minneapolis Millers, saved from elimination by the home run power that bullied the American Assn., carry the Little World Series into a decisive seventh game tonight against Rochester's remarkable Red Wings.

The Millers stayed alive last night when George Wilson, up to then the goat of the series, clubbed his second homer of the game in the 10th inning for a 4-3 victory.

WILSON'S TWO homers and a second inning single were his first hits of the series, his first roundtripper, a blooper into the right field screen 295 feet away, tied the score at 3-3 in the eighth.

Al Worthington, surrendering only one hit in three innings of relief, recorded his third victory of the playoff. Reliever Tony Jacobs was the victim of Wilson's winning blow.

The game virtually exhausted Miller Manager Billy Rigney's supply of front line pitchers. His choice tonight lies between Joe Margoneri, troubled most of the season by a sore arm, and Floyd Melliere.

Rochester Manager Dixie Walker is expected to start Duke Markel, a two-time loser.

Series Weather Fair and Mild

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Fair and mild weather was predicted today for the opening game of the 1955 World Series between the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rain, which pelted the city during the night and during the early morning hours, will end during the morning and the overcast will lift by noon, the Weather Bureau predicted.

The temperature will be in the upper 70s—a comfortable day for the thousands in the stands at Yankee Stadium.

Kapreilian Top Shooter on 516 In National

Harry Kapreilian put together games of 194, 124 and 198 for the pace-setting series of 516 in the Federation National bowling loop.

Runnerup Ed Kittle fired a 491, Richard Little 407, William Robertson 445, William Davis 455, Darrel Meyer 439, Louis Meyer 424, Ralph Bauer 406.

DOUG HARVEY tossed 474, Ferd Short 461, Al Heins' 440, Adam Thiel 488, Larry Skura 484, Charlie Rider 423, William Radcliff 442, Ed Luedtke 440, Charlie Whitaker 456.

Team results:

First Dutch No. 1 (0); Lions No. 2 (3); Trinity Lutheran No. 3 (2), First Presbyterian 1; First Baptist No. 1 (1); Trinity Lutheran No. 2 (2); Comforter No. 3 (2), Fair Street No. 2 (1).

This and Data On the Series

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—They talk about "cold" clubs going into the World Series. . . . This Brooklyn team probably is one of the coldest on record. Duke Snider and Roy Campanella, the Brooks' two long-ball hitters, are freezing. . . . The Duke of Flatbush hasn't hit a homer since Labor Day and Campanella hasn't hit one since late in August. . . . Today's starter, Don Newcombe, won only two of his 20 victories through August and September, Carl Erskine hasn't thrown a good curve since June and Johnny Podres has been knocked out of the box 12 straight times!

CLEM LABINE, the solid man of the Dodger hurling corps, still shakes his head at the thought of Billy Martin's series-winning hit in the '53 World Series. "He hit the ball on the ground, which was my intention," said Labine and it was just plain luck that no one could field it. . . . Five feet on either side and it would have been a double play."

* * *

TED WILLIAMS picks the Yankees to win the series because of their bench, while Chuck Dressen, Walt Alston's predecessor as Brooklyn manager, likes the Yanks on superior power. . . . The player's shares probably will be less this year than in '54. . . . The Yankee Stadium can cram close to 70,000, but if the Brooks tried to get more than 35,000 in Ebbets Field, they'd be hanging from the rafters. . . . Still, the winner's share should hit about $10,000.

JACKIE. ROBINSON,. Brook third. baseman,. has. lost. 10 pounds in a little over a week. . . . Incidentally, this will be the fourth position he has played in series competition. He already has played first base, second base and left field in previous series. . . .

* * *

ALSTON'S FINAL before-the-battle statement: "Listening to the way the boys talk, it is evident they are confident about this thing. . . . That makes me confident, too."

Fullmer Pick Over Boyd

Chicago, Sept. 28 (AP)—Gene Fullmer, a 23-year-old from West Jordan, Utah, was a solid favorite to knock off Chicago's Bobby Boyd in a 10-round bout of middleweights at the Stadium tonight.

Boyd, 20 a 2½-1 underdog, goes into the nationally televised battle (ABC, 9 p. m. EST) with 34 victories, 6 losses and 2 draws. Twenty of his triumphs were by knockouts. Fullmer has lost only one of 33 fights and has scored 19 knockouts.

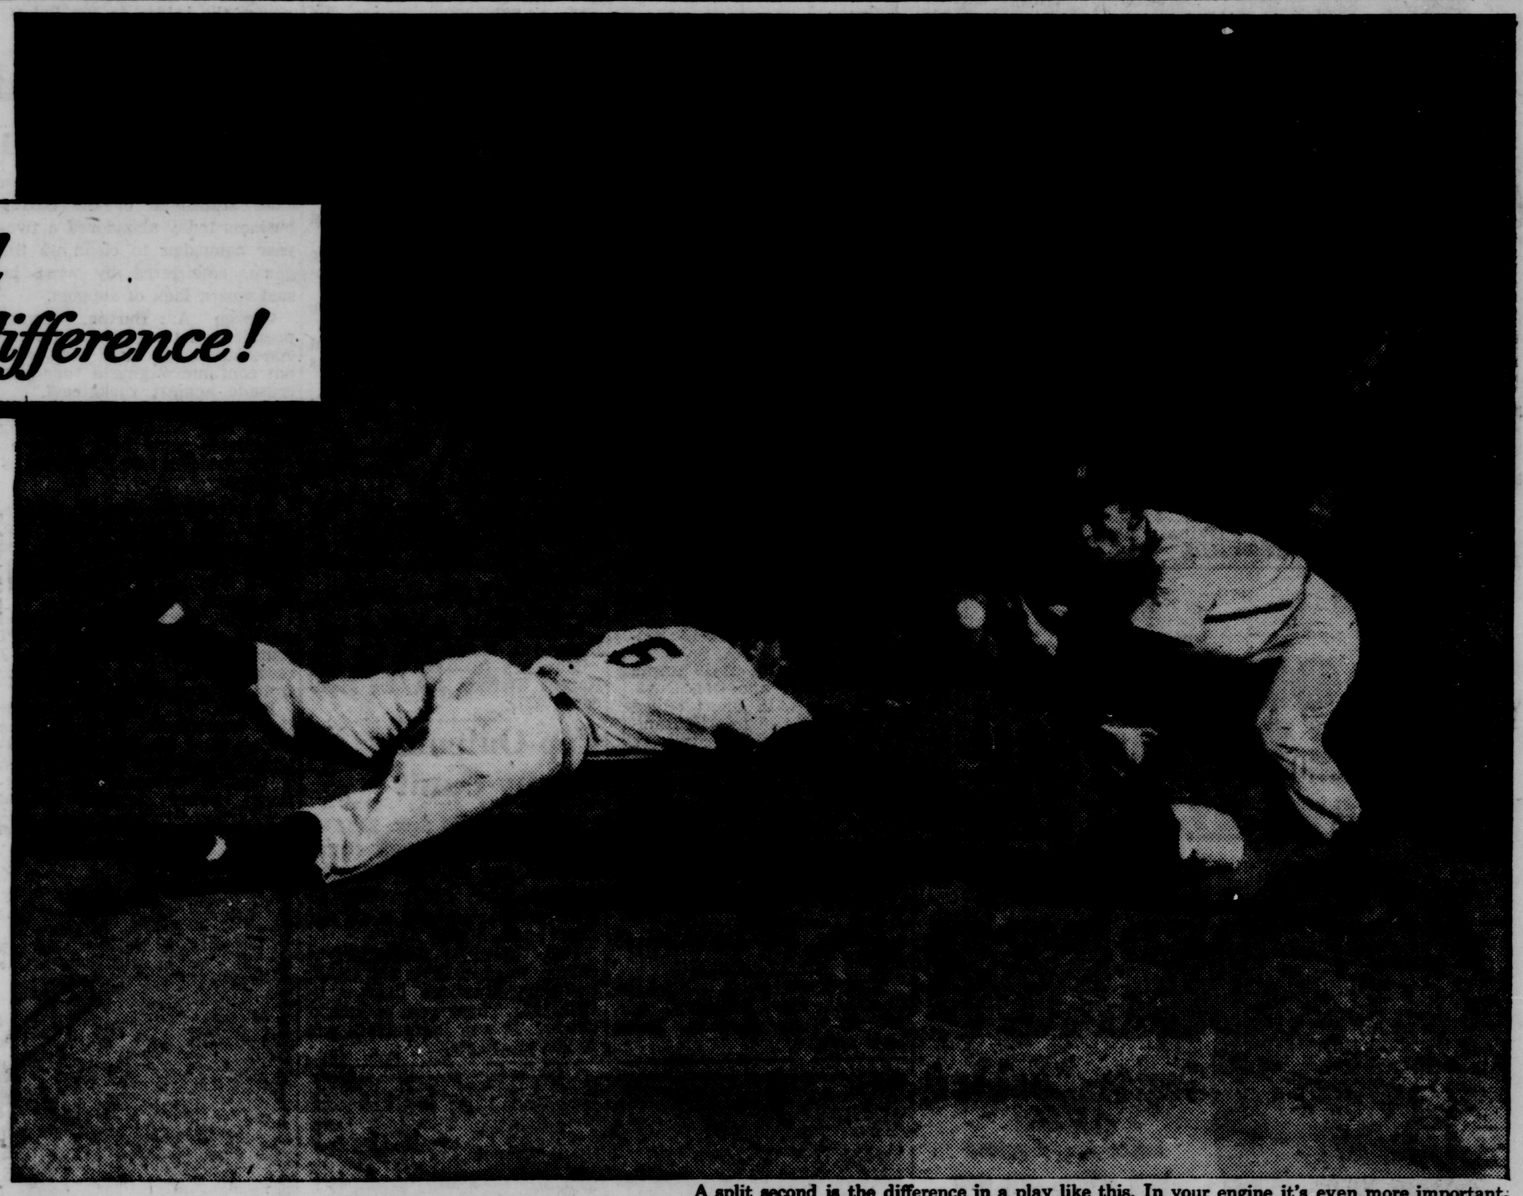
A Split second is the big difference!



A split second is the difference in a play like this. In your engine it's even more important. Unless your engine fires on the right 1/100 of a second, power works against you, not for you.

TCP is the Big Difference between Highest Octane Gasolines— gives you split-second "GO"

Today's high compression engines are fantastic performers. A touch of your toe gets response in a split second.

But deposits that form in your car's engine during daily, short-trip driving soon take the edge off this fine response.

In a combustion chamber, for example, these deposits fire the gasoline a split second before the piston reaches firing position. When this happens, you don't get a full-power stroke. On spark plugs, they cause short circuits. Your engine "misses"—more power loss! And, high octane gasoline alone can't solve the problem.

It takes both top octane and TCP*.

TCP, a specially developed Shell additive blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, overcomes the deposits as they form. Because TCP stops pre-firing and spark plug "miss," it gives high octane split-second response.

See your Shell Dealer. Get Shell Premium with TCP. It's the most powerful gasoline your car can use!

Only Shell Premium Gasoline has both TCP and Top Octane!

Minneapolis Squares Little World Series

Minneapolis, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Minneapolis Millers, saved from elimination by the home run power that bullied the American Assn., carry the Little World Series into a decisive seventh game tonight against Rochester's remarkable Red Wings.

The Millers stayed alive last night when George Wilson, up to then the goat of the series, clubbed his second homer of the game in the 10th inning for a 4-3 victory.

WILSON'S TWO homers and a second inning single were his first hits of the series, his first roundtripper, a blooper into the right field screen 295 feet away, tied the score at 3-3 in the eighth.

Al Worthington, surrendering only one hit in three innings of relief, recorded his third victory of the playoff. Reliever Tony Jacobs was the victim of Wilson's winning blow.

The game virtually exhausted Miller Manager Billy Rigney's supply of front line pitchers. His choice tonight lies between Joe Margoneri, troubled most of the season by a sore arm, and Floyd Melliere.

Rochester Manager Dixie Walker is expected to start Duke Markel, a two-time loser.

Series Weather Fair and Mild

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Fair and mild weather was predicted today for the opening game of the 1955 World Series between the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rain, which pelted the city during the night and during the early morning hours, will end during the morning and the overcast will lift by noon, the Weather Bureau predicted.

The temperature will be in the upper 70s—a comfortable day for the thousands in the stands at Yankee Stadium.

Kapreilian Top Shooter on 516 In National

This and Data On the Series

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—They talk about "cold" clubs going into the World Series. . . . This Brooklyn team probably is one of the coldest on record. Duke Snider and Roy Campanella, the Brooks' two long-ball hitters, are freezing. . . . The Duke of Flatbush hasn't hit a homer since Labor Day and Campanella hasn't hit one since late in August. . . . Today's starter, Don Newcombe, won only two of his 20 victories through August and September, Carl Erskine hasn't thrown a good curve since June and Johnny Podres has been knocked out of the box 12 straight times!

CLEM LABINE, the solid man of the Dodger hurling corps, still shakes his head at the thought of Billy Martin's series-winning hit in the '53 World Series. "He hit the ball on the ground, which was my intention," said Labine and it was just plain luck that no one could field it. . . . Five feet on either side and it would have been a double play."

TED WILLIAMS picks the Yankees to win the series because of their bench, while Chuck Dressen, Walt Alston's predecessor as Brooklyn manager, likes the Yanks on superior power. . . . The player's shares probably will be less this year than in '54. . . . The Yankee Stadium can cram close to 70,000, but if the Brooks tried to get more than 35,000 in Ebbets Field, they'd be hanging from the rafters. . . . Still, the winner's share should hit about $10,000.

JACKIE. ROBINSON,. Brook third. baseman,. has. lost. 10 pounds in a little over a week. . . . Incidentally, this will be the fourth position he has played in series competition. He already has played first base, second base and left field in previous series. . . .

ALSTON'S FINAL before-the-battle statement: "Listening to the way the boys talk, it is evident they are confident about this thing. . . . That makes me confident, too."

Fullmer Pick Over Boyd

Chicago, Sept. 28 (AP)—Gene Fullmer, a 23-year-old from West Jordan, Utah, was a solid favorite to knock off Chicago's Bobby Boyd in a 10-round bout of middleweights at the Stadium tonight.

Boyd, 20 a 2½-1 underdog, goes into the nationally televised battle (ABC, 9 p. m. EST) with 34 victories, 6 losses and 2 draws. Twenty of his triumphs were by knockouts. Fullmer has lost only one of 33 fights and has scored 19 knockouts.

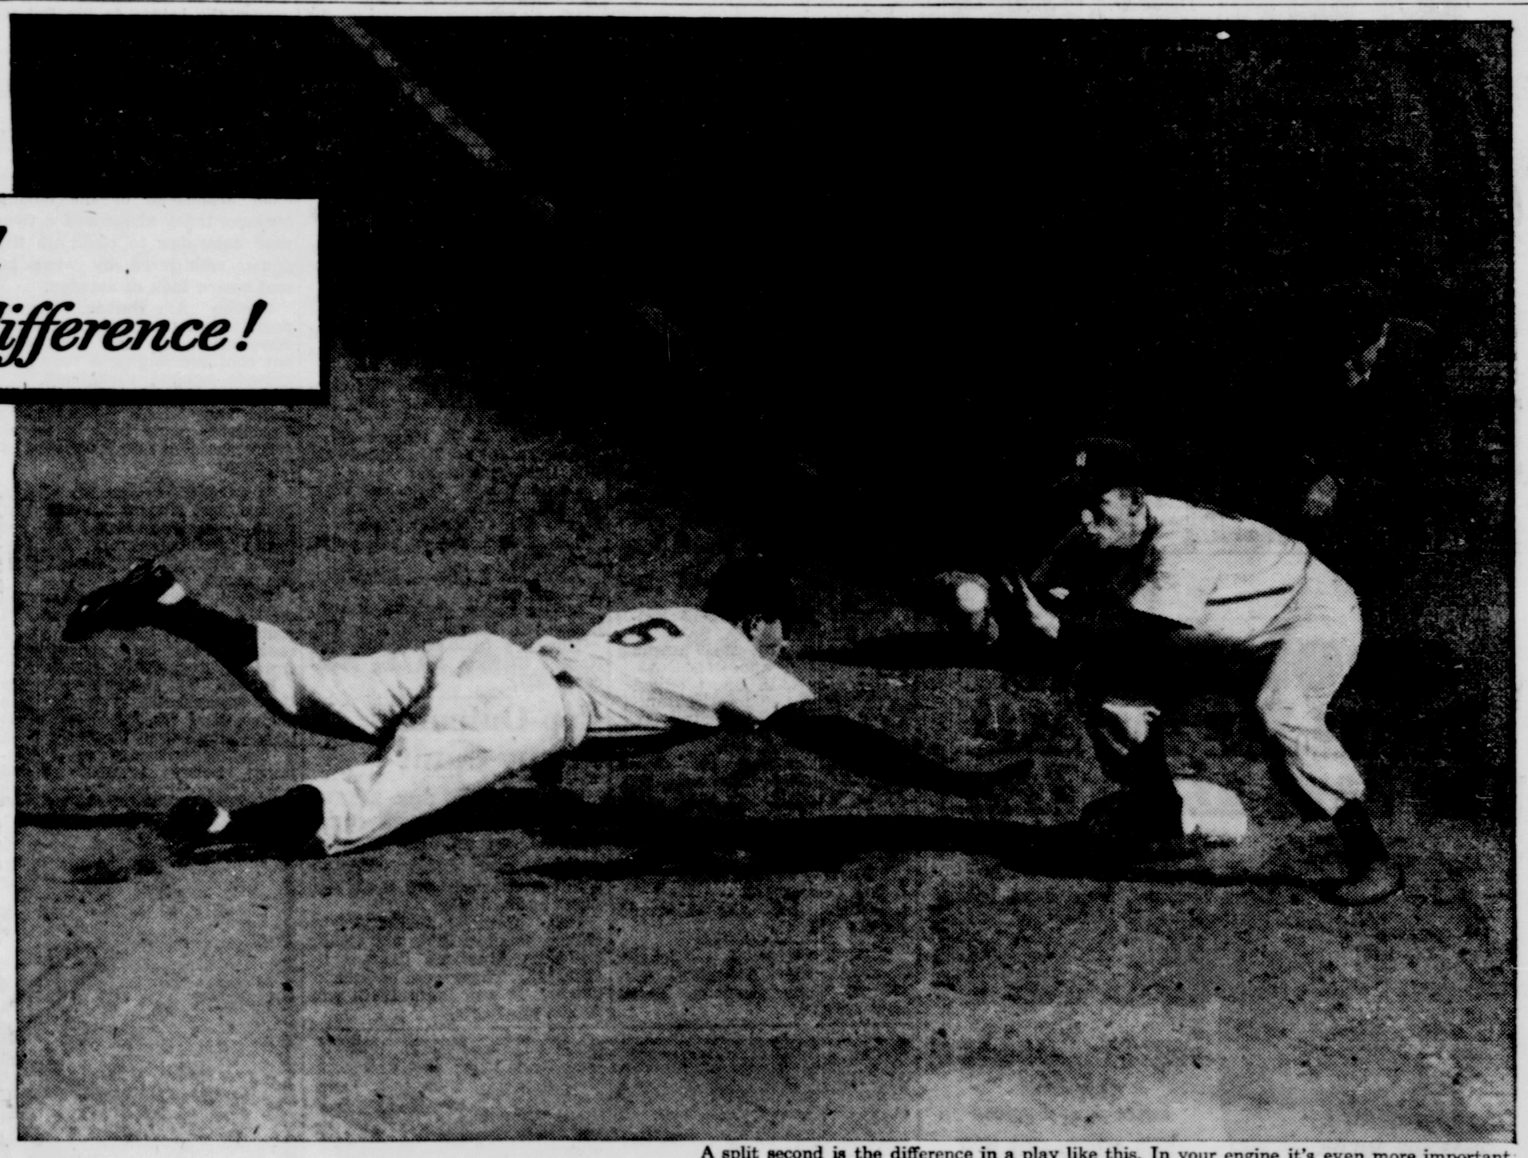
A Split second is the big difference!



A split second is the difference in a play like this. In your engine it's even more important. Unless your engine fires on the right 1/100 of a second, power works against you, not for you.

TCP is the Big Difference between Highest Octane Gasolines—gives you split-second "GO"

Today's high compression engines are fantastic performers. A touch of your toe gets response in a split second.

But deposits that form in your car's engine during daily, short-trip driving soon take the edge off this fine response.

In a combustion chamber, for example, these deposits fire the gasoline a split second before the piston reaches firing position. When this happens, you don't get a full-power stroke. On spark plugs, they cause short circuits. Your engine "misses"—more power loss! And, high octane gasoline alone can't solve the problem.

It takes both top octane and TCP*.

TCP, a specially developed Shell additive blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, overcomes the deposits as they form. Because TCP stops pre-firing and spark plug "miss," it gives high octane split-second response.

See your Shell Dealer. Get Shell Premium with TCP. It's the most powerful gasoline your car can use!

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

Only Shell Premium Gasoline has both TCP and Top Octane!

Durocher Signs $50,000 Pact With NBC's TV

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Television, long accused of stealing baseball's cash customers, now has lured away Leo Durocher.

The Lip revealed yesterday just why he had turned in his uniform as manager of the New York Giants, erstwhile world champions. It's TV—and a $50,000 a year job with the National Broadcasting Co.

Durocher, "terribly excited and elated," will take over his new duties in Hollywood upon returning to his California home after the World Series.

Robert W. Sarnoff, executive vice president of NBC, explained that Durocher would deal primarily with "talent relations," but also would be put into service as a sports commentator and a guest star on other productions.

The one-year contract with NBC, "the first I've ever signed outside baseball," calls for approximately the same base salary Leo drew from the Giants.

Storm warnings went up around the DUSO football conference Monday. The year's layoff didn't hurt Charlie Johnson a bit.

The sensational Poughkeepsie High school halfback was dazzling against Beacon in his return to the Blues lineup after missing the 1954 campaign because of injuries.

Which settles the question of who should be favorite for the 1955 gonfalon. Poughkeepsie, mister, nobody else, although everybody in the DUSO is trying to translate Kingston's clobbering of CBA into the DUSO pennant.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

New York State Conservation Council stages its annual convention Oct. 5-6-7-8 at Poughkeepsie. High on the agenda will be an effort to marshal the state's sportsmen against Amendment No. 7, the highly controversial Panther Dam project, on the November ballot. Sportsmen are protesting an attempt by power interests to take over a large area of good fishing and hunting territory.

The Council's bulletin carried a lead editorial in the September issue exhorting the member clubs around the state to accept their responsibility in the matter of fostering an intelligent understanding by the general public on conservation matters.

The Council holds that the Panther Dam amendment would not have appeared on the ballot if the general public were aware of the implications involved. The Black River Regulating Board would have hesitated even to promote such an amendment because it would have been doomed in the Legislature. "It is this lack of knowledge by the general public that has put our back to the wall in this fight."

"At the present time," the bulletin goes on, "the sportsmen and conservation minded people comprise less than ten per cent of the adult population. This is a mighty small minority when it is up against the job of convincing a majority of voters to believe in our cause."

• Of Men and Mice:

Bob Giallombardo, star hurler of the Brooklyn Dodger Rookies who made an appearance at Deitz Stadium against the FYL Stars this summer, has been signed to a Dodger contract and will be one of the batting practice pitchers for the World Series. Kingstonians saw Giallombardo as a substitute first sacker, but A. B. "Turk" Karam was emphatic in rating Giallombardo the best prospect on the squad . . . Moose Lodge fetes the Small Fry tournament personnel at the lodge rooms Thursday night . . . William "Chief" Mueller, one of most colorful baseball and bowling figures in Hudson valley history, is fighting for his life in a Poughkeepsie hospital . . . Newest guessing game in the Foxhall avenue sector: Who is Phil Corrado going to root for now that Durocher has departed from the Giants? Phil transferred his allegiance from the Dodgers to the Giants when The Dandy Little Manager moved across the bridge to the Polo Grounds. Intimates expect Phil to line up with Branch Rickey.

Barton Abandons Campaign To Clean Up Boxing Mess

Minneapolis, Sept. 28 (AP)—An elder statesman of the boxing business today abandoned a two-year campaign to clean up the game, embittered by what he said was a lack of support.

George A. Barton, former president of the National Boxing Association, declared he could not continue waging a "one-man crusade against racketeers."

Barton's decision to withdraw from the NBA's investigating committee came in a letter to NBA president Lou Radzienba of Chicago.

"I DO NOT believe my efforts, honest and sincere as they are, have been appreciated by the entire membership of the National Boxing Association," Barton wrote.

"During the two years I served on the committee," he said, "I found it to be a one-man job. I received no help whatsoever from my committee members."

Barton, 70, sports writer for the Minneapolis Tribune and chairman of the Minnesota Athletic Commission, long has been a leading advocate of a get-tough policy toward alleged racketeering elements in boxing.

Radzienda said he was "sorry that George quit. He had done a good job. However, the work of the committee will continue. The committee will be reorganized and I will appoint a chairman."

High Gun Goes To Stud After Earning $486Gs

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—High Gun's racing days are over. The King Ranch colt, who last Saturday whipped the likes of Jet Action and Nashua, was retired to stud unexpectedly yesterday.

Owner Robert J. Kleberg made the decision after conferring with trainer Max Hirsch.

It originally had been planned to call it quits for the brown 4-year-old colt after the Jockey Club Gold Cup at Belmont. But Hirsch had noticed High Gun had been showing signs of ankle trouble and "we just don't want to take any chances."

THE RETIREMENT came on the heels of one of High Gun's most exciting victories, splashing under the wire to nip Jet Action by a head and Nashua by a length and a half in the $106,700 Sysonby.

It was High Gun's third major stakes sweep of the year. Earlier he took the Metropolitan at Belmont with 130 pounds and the Brooklyn at Aqueduct with 132.

Last year, when he was voted the threee-year-old champion, High Gun won the Belmont Stakes, Peter Pan, Sysonby, Manhattan, Dwyer and Jockey Club Gold Cup while earning $314,550. All told, he's returned $486,025 for King Ranch's $10,200 outlay in the Keeneland yearling sales.

Colt Brings $10,000

Camden, N. J., Sept. 28 (AP)—J. J. Colando, Yardley, Pa., paid $10,000 for a chestnut colt by Olympia out of Sheboygan last night at the annual Garden State race track yearling sales. W. Ellis Johnson, owner of the Bluestone Farm, Paoli, Pa., paid $5,000 for a bay colt by Bernborough out of Delicaucus. All told, 69 head were sold for $113,400 on the second night of the three day show.

Storm warnings went up around the DUSO football conference Monday. The year's layoff didn't hurt Charlie Johnson a bit.

The sensational Poughkeepsie High school halfback was dazzling against Beacon in his return to the Blues lineup after missing the 1954 campaign because of injuries.

Which settles the question of who should be favorite for the 1955 gonfalon. Poughkeepsie, mister, nobody else, although everybody in the DUSO is trying to translate Kingston's clobbering of CBA into the DUSO pennant.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

New York State Conservation Council stages its annual convention Oct. 5-6-7-8 at Poughkeepsie. High on the agenda will be an effort to marshal the state's sportsmen against Amendment No. 7, the highly controversial Panther Dam project, on the November ballot. Sportsmen are protesting an attempt by power interests to take over a large area of good fishing and hunting territory.

The Council's bulletin carried a lead editorial in the September issue exhorting the member clubs around the state to accept their responsibility in the matter of fostering an intelligent understanding by the general public on conservation matters.

The Council holds that the Panther Dam amendment would not have appeared on the ballot if the general public were aware of the implications involved. The Black River Regulating Board would have hesitated even to promote such an amendment because it would have been doomed in the Legislature. "It is this lack of knowledge by the general public that has put our back to the wall in this fight."

"At the present time," the bulletin goes on, "the sportsmen and conservation minded people comprise less than ten per cent of the adult population. This is a mighty small minority when it is up against the job of convincing a majority of voters to believe in our cause."

• Of Men and Mice:

Bob Giallombardo, star hurler of the Brooklyn Dodger Rookies who made an appearance at Deitz Stadium against the FYL Stars this summer, has been signed to a Dodger contract and will be one of the batting practice pitchers for the World Series. Kingstonians saw Giallombardo as a substitute first sacker, but A. B. "Turk" Karam was emphatic in rating Giallombardo the best prospect on the squad . . . Moose Lodge fetes the Small Fry tournament personnel at the lodge rooms Thursday night . . . William "Chief" Mueller, one of most colorful baseball and bowling figures in Hudson valley history, is fighting for his life in a Poughkeepsie hospital . . . Newest guessing game in the Foxhall avenue sector: Who is Phil Corrado going to root for now that Durocher has departed from the Giants? Phil transferred his allegiance from the Dodgers to the Giants when The Dandy Little Manager moved across the bridge to the Polo Grounds. Intimates expect Phil to line up with Branch Rickey.

Barton Abandons Campaign To Clean Up Boxing Mess

Minneapolis, Sept. 28 (AP)—An elder statesman of the boxing business today abandoned a two-year campaign to clean up the game, embittered by what he said was a lack of support.

George A. Barton, former president of the National Boxing Association, declared he could not continue waging a "one-man crusade against racketeers."

Barton's decision to withdraw from the NBA's investigating committee came in a letter to NBA president Lou Radzienba of Chicago.

"I DO NOT believe my efforts, honest and sincere as they are, have been appreciated by the entire membership of the National Boxing Association," Barton wrote.

"During the two years I served on the committee," he said, "I found it to be a one-man job. I received no help whatsoever from my committee members."

Barton, 70, sports writer for the Minneapolis Tribune and chairman of the Minnesota Athletic Commission, long has been a leading advocate of a get-tough policy toward alleged racketeering elements in boxing.

Radzienda said he was "sorry that George quit. He had done a good job. However, the work of the committee will continue. The committee will be reorganized and I will appoint a chairman."

High Gun Goes To Stud After Earning $486Gs

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—High Gun's racing days are over. The King Ranch colt, who last Saturday whipped the likes of Jet Action and Nashua, was retired to stud unexpectedly yesterday.

Owner Robert J. Kleberg made the decision after conferring with trainer Max Hirsch.

It originally had been planned to call it quits for the brown 4-year-old colt after the Jockey Club Gold Cup at Belmont. But Hirsch had noticed High Gun had been showing signs of ankle trouble and "we just don't want to take any chances."

THE RETIREMENT came on the heels of one of High Gun's most exciting victories, splashing under the wire to nip Jet Action by a head and Nashua by a length and a half in the $106,700 Sysonby.

It was High Gun's third major stakes sweep of the year. Earlier he took the Metropolitan at Belmont with 130 pounds and the Brooklyn at Aqueduct with 132.

Last year, when he was voted the threee-year-old champion, High Gun won the Belmont Stakes, Peter Pan, Sysonby, Manhattan, Dwyer and Jockey Club Gold Cup while earning $314,550. All told, he's returned $486,025 for King Ranch's $10,200 outlay in the Keeneland yearling sales.

Colt Brings $10,000

Camden, N. J., Sept. 28 (AP)—J. J. Colando, Yardley, Pa., paid $10,000 for a chestnut colt by Olympia out of Sheboygan last night at the annual Garden State race track yearling sales. W. Ellis Johnson, owner of the Bluestone Farm, Paoli, Pa., paid $5,000 for a bay colt by Bernborough out of Delicaucus. All told, 69 head were sold for $113,400 on the second night of the three day show.

Miami, Fla., Sept. 28 (AP)—Hurricane Janet rammed the desolate Mexican province of Quintana Roo shortly before midnight last night and a few hours later struck the extreme tip of British Honduras. The hurricane, the tenth and one of the most powerful of the season, slammed ashore with a wallop powered by 115 mile-an-hour winds.

Eisenhower . . .

crisis arises over shifting of his powers to other officials.

A CONTINUING succession of hospital bulletins reporting satisfactory progress "without complications" cheered administration officials and the President, too.

"Get well" messages continued to pour into Fitzsimons Army Hospital from all over the world —one of the latest from Eisenhower's old friend and World War 2 comrade-in-arms, Soviet Marshal Georgi Zhukov.

"Having been on vacation far from Moscow," Russia's defense minister cabled last night, "I have just now learned of your illness and received this news with the deepest feelings of sorrow.

"With all our hearts, my family and I wish you a speedy recovery and long life."

As the President's physicians cautiously continued to report him moving slowly along the recovery road after Saturday's heart attack, the political impact of his illness came in for more attention here.

THE GENERAL feeling ever since Eisenhower was stricken has been that the attack would cause him to decide against running for re-election. The President himself has said the state of his health next year would be a factor in his decision.

When the stunning word came that Eisenhower had suffered a coronary thrombosis, it raised a question, of course, as to whether he would be able to serve out his first term.

Personal friends of the President have a growing conviction, in the light of his medical progress, that he will be able to complete his term expiring in January, 1957. But they also feel he then will retire to the role of "elder statesman."

THEY ARE CONVINCED he will not be pressured into running for a second term. On the basis of doctors' most optimistic forecasts, they hope Eisenhower will be able to resume close to full scale duties in about two months, hold conferences in three to four weeks, and start reading and signing documents after next week.

Baring complications, the view is that he will have no thought of resigning. Friends feel the President will consider it his duty to fill out the term—if he possibly can—to which he was elected in 1952.

Both Atty. Gen. Brownell in Washington and White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty here now say it may not be necessary to delegate any of the President's powers.

THE WHITE HOUSE had felt at first that Eisenhower's illness might require such action, and so asked the Justice Department for a legal opinion on to what extent they could be delegated.

Hagerty said yesterday, however, that nothing has come up since Eisenhower was stricken that has required his personal attention.

Matters like the budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1, and the 1956 legislative and economic programs won't require the President's personal attention before December, Hagerty said.

election and the nomination was seconded by Pratt Boice.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM was shown and there was prolonged applause when Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly was introducted by Senator Wicks and in a brief but most sincere speech, lauded Mayor Stang's accomplishments during his administration as mayor of Kingston.

Kelly said the city of Kingston had had many great Republican mayors but none had been more progressive than Mayor Stang in the administration of city affairs. Kelly said Mayor Stang was a great credit to the city, especially when he was out of town representing the city. When called on to speak for his home town, Mayor Stang had extolled the virtues of Kingston and brought most favorable comment.

Mayor Stang deserves the support of all of the people of Kingston this fall, Kelly said. He pledged his personal support and efforts this fall in election of Mayor Stang to another term.

Kelly said that due to his new position as City Editor of The Freeman he had been unable to seek reelection but would actively support Mayor Stang and John J. Schwenk for alderman-at large, as well as other city and county candidates.

IN ADDITION to Mayor Stang and Mr. Schwenk, the county candidates were also present and were introduced by Senator Wicks. Louis G. Bruhn, candidate for county judge; Howard C. St. John, candidate for district attorney; Albert N. Cook, candidate for county treasurer, were all in attendance and spoke briefly, pledging their support for the election of the entire ticket, both city and county.

County Judge William A. Kelly, recently appointed by Gov. Harriman and seeking return to the office by the voters was introduced and he outlined his activities on the county bench. Judge Kelly stressed the importance of the need for a concerted drive to bring out the vote. He was confident that his conduct in the office of county judge would not only bring credit to the Democratic party but also to the people of the county of Ulster and that this would be realized in his election to that post.

Henry L. Schipp, candidate for county treasurer, said that the burden of honest government rests with the Democratic party. "The present ruling group of our county have shown that they do not deserve to remain in power," said Mr. Schipp.

William A. Kaercher, candidate for district attorney said the demands of the party are such that "we must become a militant fighting organization and go out after the clique that is now ruling our city and county."

The Ulster County Democratic Women's Club annual picnic will be held Sunday, Oct. 2, at Spindler's. All candidates will be presented at that time, said Mrs. Florence Crosby, president.

May Go to Exile Today

Buenos Aires, Sept. 28 (AP)—Authoritative sources said Juan D. Peron, still stuck on a Paraguayan gunboat in the river Plate, probably would receive his long-awaited safe conduct to exile today. The deposed dictator took refuge on the gunboat Paraguay nine days ago. Provisional President Eduadro Lonardi, who led the revolt that ended Peron's 10-year sway as Argentina's strong man, announced after the revolt he would be accorded the traditional Latin-American right of political asylum.

No Recognition

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—The western Big Three in a joint statement said today they do not recognize any East German regime—a move apparently intended to keep Berlin accessible to the West. They said the Soviet Union remains responsible for carrying out obligations previously made with the three powers on the subject of Germany and Berlin.

Demands Wehle Resign

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—Edward A. Hanna of Utica today "demanded" that Louis Wehle, a Democrat, resign as state commissioner of conservation. Hanna, also a Democrat, said in a letter to Wehle which he released here: "An apparent conflict of loyalty and dual interests seems to exist between your official position as commisioner of the Conservation Department and your private position as chairman of the board of directors, and as a main stockholder of the Genesee Brewing Co., as defined by the code of ethics and public officers law of the state."

115 MPH Winds

Miami, Fla., Sept. 28 (AP)—Hurricane Janet rammed the desolate Mexican province of Quintana Roo shortly before midnight last night and a few hours later struck the extreme tip of British Honduras. The hurricane, the tenth and one of the most powerful of the season, slammed ashore with a wallop powered by 115 mile-an-hour winds.

FLOWERS FOR IKE — Sgt. Harry Simmons (right) of Pensecola, Fla., waits for the elevator to deliver flowers he holds to the Presidential suite in Fitzsimons Hospital, Denver. Standing guard is Pfc. John Laetsch of Houston, Tex. (NEA Telephoto).

IKE'S SON WITH NEWSMEN — Maj. John Eisenhower (right) talks with newsmen in the lobby of Fitzsimons Hospital, Denver, after a visit with his father, President Eisenhower. (NEA Telephoto).

crisis arises over shifting of his powers to other officials.

A CONTINUING succession of hospital bulletins reporting satisfactory progress "without complications" cheered administration officials and the President, too.

"Get well" messages continued to pour into Fitzsimons Army Hospital from all over the world—one of the latest from Eisenhower's old friend and World War 2 comrade-in-arms, Soviet Marshal Georgi Zhukov.

"Having been on vacation far from Moscow," Russia's defense minister cabled last night, "I have just now learned of your illness and received this news with the deepest feelings of sorrow.

"With all our hearts, my family and I wish you a speedy recovery and long life."

As the President's physicians cautiously continued to report him moving slowly along the recovery road after Saturday's heart attack, the political impact of his illness came in for more attention here.

THE GENERAL feeling ever since Eisenhower was stricken has been that the attack would cause him to decide against running for re-election. The President himself has said the state of his health next year would be a factor in his decision.

When the stunning word came that Eisenhower had suffered a coronary thrombosis, it raised a question, of course, as to whether he would be able to serve out his first term.

Personal friends of the President have a growing conviction, in the light of his medical progress, that he will be able to complete his term expiring in January, 1957. But they also feel he then will retire to the role of "elder statesman."

THEY ARE CONVINCED he will not be pressured into running for a second term. On the basis of doctors' most optimistic forecasts, they hope Eisenhower will be able to resume close to full scale duties in about two months, hold conferences in three to four weeks, and start reading and signing documents after next week.

Baring complications, the view is that he will have no thought of resigning. Friends feel the President will consider it his duty to fill out the term—if he possibly can—to which he was elected in 1952.

Both Atty. Gen. Brownell in Washington and White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty here now say it may not be necessary to delegate any of the President's powers.

THE WHITE HOUSE had felt at first that Eisenhower's illness might require such action, and so asked the Justice Department for a legal opinion on to what extent they could be delegated.

Hagerty said yesterday, however, that nothing has come up since Eisenhower was stricken that has required his personal attention.

Matters like the budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1, and the 1956 legislative and economic programs won't require the President's personal attention before December, Hagerty said.

GOP Reelects

election and the nomination was seconded by Pratt Boice.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM was shown and there was prolonged applause when Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly was introducted by Senator Wicks and in a brief but most sincere speech, lauded Mayor Stang's accomplishments during his administration as mayor of Kingston.

Kelly said the city of Kingston had had many great Republican mayors but none had been more progressive than Mayor Stang in the administration of city affairs. Kelly said Mayor Stang was a great credit to the city, especially when he was out of town representing the city. When called on to speak for his home town, Mayor Stang had extolled the virtues of Kingston and brought most favorable comment.

Mayor Stang deserves the support of all of the people of Kingston this fall, Kelly said. He pledged his personal support and efforts this fall in election of Mayor Stang to another term.

Kelly said that due to his new position as City Editor of The Freeman he had been unable to seek reelection but would actively support Mayor Stang and John J. Schwenk for alderman-at large, as well as other city and county candidates.

IN ADDITION to Mayor Stang and Mr. Schwenk, the county candidates were also present and were introduced by Senator Wicks, Louis G. Bruhn, candidate for county judge; Howard C. St. John, candidate for district attorney; Albert N. Cook, candidate for county treasurer, were all in attendance and spoke briefly, pledging their support for the election of the entire ticket, both city and county.

Counting on

of the one-party system was affecting the city government and stifling the progressive attitude that a growing city needs."

County Judge William A. Kelly, recently appointed by Gov. Harriman and seeking return to the office by the voters was introduced and he outlined his activities on the county bench. Judge Kelly stressed the importance of the need for a concerted drive to bring out the vote. He was confident that his conduct in the office of county judge would not only bring credit to the Democratic party but also to the people of the county of Ulster and that this would be realized in his election to that post.

Henry L. Schipp, candidate for county treasurer, said that the burden of honest government rests with the Democratic party. "The present ruling group of our county have shown that they do not deserve to remain in power," said Mr. Schipp.

William A. Kaercher, candidate for district attorney said the demands of the party are such that "we must become a militant fighting organization and go out after the clique that is now ruling our city and county."

The Ulster County Democratic Women's Club annual picnic will be held Sunday, Oct. 2, at Spindler's. All candidates will be presented at that time, said Mrs. Florence Crosby, president.

Jaycees to Hold Meeting Tonight

"We hope to have a large turnout of the general public," John G. Doyle, president of the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce, said as he announced final plans for tonight's Jaycee meeting at 8 o'clock in the VFW Home, Delaware avenue.

Primary purpose of the meeting is to present a clear public picture of the purposes, makeup, responsibilities, benefits, and accomplishments of the Kingston Jaycees.

Robert MacKinnon will discuss the benefits that an individual derives from Jaycee membership, and how the Jaycees help the community.

EXPLAINING the highpoints of the organization's constitution and by-laws, and presenting an outline of what the Jaycees expect from their individual members will be Donald Lawson.

An analysis of the structure of the Kingston Jaycee organization will be made by President Doyle.

Accomplishments of the organization will be noted by Victor Barger.

Robert Stedge will clarify the benefits which the local chapter and its individual members derive from the national and state organizations.

May Go to Exile Today

Buenos Aires, Sept. 28 (AP)—Authoritative sources said Juan D. Peron, still stuck on a Paraguayan gunboat in the river Plate, probably would receive his long-awaited safe conduct to exile today. The deposed dictator took refuge on the gunboat Paraguay nine days ago. Provisional President Eduadro Lonardi, who led the revolt that ended Peron's 10-year sway as Argentina's strong man, announced after the revolt he would be accorded the traditional Latin-American right of political asylum.

No Recognition

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—The western Big Three in a joint statement said today they do not recognize any East German regime—a move apparently intended to keep Berlin accessible to the West. They said the Soviet Union remains responsible for carrying out obligations previously made with the three powers on the subject of Germany and Berlin.

Demands Wehle Resign

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—Edward A. Hanna of Utica today "demanded" that Louis Wehle, a Democrat, resign as state commissioner of conservation. Hanna, also a Democrat, said in a letter to Wehle which he released here: "An apparent conflict of loyalty and dual interests seems to exist between your official position as commisioner of the Conservation Department and your private position as chairman of the board of directors, and as a main stockholder of the Genesee Brewing Co., as defined by the code of ethics and public officers law of the state."

Igniters to Meet

The Kingston Igniters will hold their regular weekly meeting at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow at the municipal recreation center, 97 Broadway. More than 40 young men have joined the local organization, which is designed to meet the needs of "hot-rod" enthusiasts.

In 1855, the first year the Sault Ste. Marie canal was open, 1447 tons of iron ore passed through it and the first million-

Mr. Kaplan said he had been much impressed with the fine facilities for public health and safety provided by IBM and had been especially interested in the medical section of the plant, the cafeteria and the modern plant designed for processing of industrial and other wastes.

Mr. Kaplan expressed the appreciation of the board for the time "so generously given" by Mr. Cullen's staff.

SQUASH FROM A WALNUT TREE—It isn't everybody who can boast of picking a large squash from a walnut tree, but William Knudsen, retired mail carrier of Provo, Utah, can. A squash vine 20 feet long has climbed toward the tops of two trees in his garden. Knudsen says it is a "volunteer"—he never intended to plant vines within reach of trees. He measured the vine every day during the hottest growing season and says it grew six inches every day.

Color Tube Produced

Elmira, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—The Westinghouse electronic tube division has produced the first 22-inch, all-glass, rectangular color-television tube built like a black and white picture tube. R. T. Orth, Westinghouse vice president of the division, said yesterday that the tube, with a viewing area of 265 square inches, was an "engineering milestone." He said Westinghouse expected to achieve mass production of the tube some time in 1956.

The amount of $10,000 bills in circulation declined from 60 million dollars in 1940 to 9 million dollars in 1955.

His View on Seaway

Montreal, Sept. 28 (AP)—Milwaukee Port Director Harry C. Brockel says the St. Lawrence Seaway will bring neither utopia to the Great Lakes region nor disaster to the cities of the eastern seaboard. Brockel told the annual conference of the American Society of planning that "all the towns of the Great Lakes will not become seaports overnight." The seaway, he continued, would bring benefits but probably no spectacular, sudden changes following its completion, scheduled for 1959.

India exports about $25,200,000 worth of raw skins, mostly of goats and sheep, annually.

SQUASH FROM A WALNUT TREE—It isn't everybody who can boast of picking a large squash from a walnut tree, but William Knudsen, retired mail carrier of Provo, Utah, can. A squash vine 20 feet long has climbed toward the tops of two trees in his garden. Knudsen says it is a "volunteer"—he never intended to plant vines within reach of trees. He measured the vine every day during the hottest growing season and says it grew six inches every day.

Color Tube Produced

Elmira, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—The Westinghouse electronic tube division has produced the first 22-inch, all-glass, rectangular color-television tube built like a black and white picture tube. R. T. Orth, Westinghouse vice president of the division, said yesterday that the tube, with a viewing area of 265 square inches, was an "engineering milestone." He said Westinghouse expected to achieve mass production of the tube some time in 1956.

The amount of $10,000 bills in circulation declined from 60 million dollars in 1940 to 9 million dollars in 1955.

His View on Seaway

Montreal, Sept. 28 (AP)—Milwaukee Port Director Harry C. Brockel says the St. Lawrence Seaway will bring neither utopia to the Great Lakes region nor disaster to the cities of the eastern seaboard. Brockel told the annual conference of the American Society of planning that "all the towns of the Great Lakes will not become seaports overnight." The seaway, he continued, would bring benefits but probably no spectacular, sudden changes following its completion, scheduled for 1959.

India exports about $25,200,000 worth of raw skins, mostly of goats and sheep, annually.

Moses Ludington Hospital said it was necessary to amputate both of Carol F. Woodard's arms below the elbow. She was found last night along the tracks of a branch line of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad. State troopers said the child's father, Harold W. Curley Defeated At Boston Polls

Boston, Sept. 28 (AP)—Mayor John B. Hynes and State Senator John E. Powers were nominated for mayor of Boston yesterday in a non-partisan preliminary election in which fewer than 38 per cent of the eligible voters participated.

Hynes and Powers defeated the old political warrior James M. Curley and State Supreme Court Clerk Chester A. Dolan.

The election will be Nov. 8.

The vote was: Hynes, 50,934, Powers, 36,417; Curley, 24,185; and Dolan, 18,528.

It was one of the most crushing political blows suffered by the 80-year-old Curley, who has served four terms as mayor as well as governor and congressman.

Freeman to Retire As Newburgh Editor

Newburgh, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—Charles A. S. Freeman today announced his retirement, effective next Saturday, as managing editor of The Newburgh News and the affiliated Beacon News.

Freeman has been with the Gannett group of newspapers for 28 years of his nearly half-century of newspaper work in New York state. He was named to The Newburgh-Beacon post in 1944.

Formerly managing editor of The Olean Herald, Rochester Times-Union and of The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, he is the only executive in the Gannett group to have held five such positions.

Charged With Homicide

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Two men were charged with homicide today in the death of Therman A. Nelson, 50-year-old mathematics teacher found strangled Aug. 14 in his room in the Sloane House YMCA. The prisoners were identified as Charles Walker, 29, a parking lot attendant, of 139 West 111th street, Manhattan, and Stuart Robinson, also 29, a cook, of 85 Leffers Place, Brooklyn. The two were questioned throughout yesterday afternoon and last night at the Manhattan district attorney's office. They were booked by police at 1 a. m. today. Nelson, a bachelor, who lived at 225 Jefferson street, N. W., Washington, D. C., came to New York city to see some plays.

Swimmer Identified

Youngstown, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—The body of Clifford Snowlton of Orillia, Ont., who was drowned trying to swim across Lake Ontario, was identified yesterday by a Niagara county corner. Snowlton's body was found on a beach about four miles east of here Monday.

Heads Drive

L. L. Colbert, president of Chrysler Corporation, who served as 1955 Chairman of the Special Gifts Committee of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, has agreed to continue in the same capacity in 1956, according to Roger W. Straus, board chairman of the American Smelting and Refining Company, who is national co-chairman of the NCCJ and chairman of its finance committee.

Mr. Colbert will lead a country-wide effort to raise funds to help finance the Conference's program for building good will and understanding among Protestants, Catholics and Jews. The drive will be launched simultaneously with the observance of Brotherhood Week, February 19-26, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, of which President Dwight D. Eisenhower serves as honorary chairman.

SAID MR. STRAUS, "Never before has education for brotherhood been more important to every American, not only to create an atmosphere in every community in which an individual can be judged on his merits alone, but to present a solid front against alien forces to whom the concept of common brotherhood under the Fatherhood of God has no meaning. It is significant that a gifted and busy industrialist like Mr. Colbert is again willing to take on the assignment of raising funds to enable the National Conference to do its job even more effectively. Intergroup prejudices and discrimination distort American life in all its aspects. Mr. Colbert knows—as do most leading men of good will in this country—that the funds to be raised among business and industrial organizations represent constructive industrial citizenship. We are grateful for the splendid work Mr. Colbert has already done, and pledge our full support in the 1956 special gifts campaign."

Sailor Is Killed In Thruway Mishap

Selkirk, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—A U. S. Navy man was killed and another was injured early today when a sports car left a straight stretch of the New York State Thruway, skidded 250 feet in a ditch and rolled over.

Ronald Joseph Lucas, 23, driver of the imported convertible was dead. Courtney Thomas Smith, 24, was taken to Albany Hospital, where his condition was reported good. State Police said he was suffering a fractured skull, clavicle, and two ribs.

Both men were stationed at Quonset Point, L. I. Their ranks and home towns were not available here.

State Police said the car was heading north in the rain when the accident happened about 12:30 a. m. near the 136-mile marker on the thruway, about eight miles south of Albany.

Ticonderoga, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—A two-year-old girl, who lost both arms after she was found on a railroad track with them nearly severed, was reported in serious condition today. Moses Ludington Hospital said it was necessary to amputate both of Carol F. Woodard's arms below the elbow. She was found last night along the tracks of a branch line of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad. State troopers said the child's father, Harold W. Woodard, told them she had been put to bed about four hours before she was discovered. The family home is about 25 feet from the tracks.

Curley Defeated At Boston Polls

Boston, Sept. 28 (AP)—Mayor John B. Hynes and State Senator John E. Powers were nominated for mayor of Boston yesterday in a non-partisan preliminary election in which fewer than 38 per cent of the eligible voters participated.

Hynes and Powers defeated the old political warrior James M. Curley and State Supreme Court Clerk Chester A. Dolan.

The election will be Nov. 8.

The vote was: Hynes, 50,934, Powers, 36,417; Curley, 24,185; and Dolan, 18,528.

It was one of the most crushing political blows suffered by the 80-year-old Curley, who has served four terms as mayor as well as governor and congressman.

Freeman to Retire As Newburgh Editor

Newburgh, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—Charles A. S. Freeman today announced his retirement, effective next Saturday, as managing editor of The Newburgh News and the affiliated Beacon News.

Freeman has been with the Gannett group of newspapers for 28 years of his nearly half-century of newspaper work in New York state. He was named to The Newburgh-Beacon post in 1944.

Formerly managing editor of The Olean Herald, Rochester Times-Union and of The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, he is the only executive in the Gannett group to have held five such positions.

Charged With Homicide

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Two men were charged with homicide today in the death of Therman A. Nelson, 50-year-old mathematics teacher found strangled Aug. 14 in his room in the Sloane House YMCA. The prisoners were identified as Charles Walker, 29, a parking lot attendant, of 139 West 111th street, Manhattan, and Stuart Robinson, also 29, a cook, of 85 Leffers Place, Brooklyn. The two were questioned throughout yesterday afternoon and last night at the Manhattan district attorney's office. They were booked by police at 1 a. m. today. Nelson, a bachelor, who lived at 225 Jefferson street, N. W., Washington, D. C., came to New York city to see some plays.

Swimmer Identified

Youngstown, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—The body of Clifford Snowlton of Orillia, Ont., who was drowned trying to swim across Lake Ontario, was identified yesterday by a Niagara county corner. Snowlton's body was found on a beach about four miles east of here Monday.

Heads Drive

L. L. Colbert, president of Chrysler Corporation, who served as 1955 Chairman of the Special Gifts Committee of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, has agreed to continue in the same capacity in 1956, according to Roger W. Straus, board chairman of the American Smelting and Refining Company, who is national co-chairman of the NCCJ and chairman of its finance committee.

Mr. Colbert will lead a country-wide effort to raise funds to help finance the Conference's program for building good will and understanding among Protestants, Catholics and Jews. The drive will be launched simultaneously with the observance of Brotherhood Week, February 19-26, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, of which President Dwight D. Eisenhower serves as honorary chairman.

SAID MR. STRAUS, "Never before has education for brotherhood been more important to every American, not only to create an atmosphere in every community in which an individual can be judged on his merits alone, but to present a solid front against alien forces to whom the concept of common brotherhood under the Fatherhood of God has no meaning. It is significant that a gifted and busy industrialist like Mr. Colbert is again willing to take on the assignment of raising funds to enable the National Conference to do its job even more effectively. Intergroup prejudices and discrimination distort American life in all its aspects. Mr. Colbert knows—as do most leading men of good will in this country—that the funds to be raised among business and industrial organizations represent constructive industrial citizenship. We are grateful for the splendid work Mr. Colbert has already done, and pledge our full support in the 1956 special gifts campaign."

Sailor Is Killed In Thruway Mishap

Selkirk, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—A U. S. Navy man was killed and another was injured early today when a sports car left a straight stretch of the New York State Thruway, skidded 250 feet in a ditch and rolled over.

Ronald Joseph Lucas, 23, driver of the imported convertible was dead. Courtney Thomas Smith, 24, was taken to Albany Hospital, where his condition was reported good. State Police said he was suffering a fractured skull, clavicle, and two ribs.

Both men were stationed at Quonset Point, L. I. Their ranks and home towns were not available here.

State Police said the car was heading north in the rain when the accident happened about 12:30 a. m. near the 136-mile marker on the thruway, about eight miles south of Albany.
